1873 Capt. James & Emma Holt White House, 213 South Main Street, 2 1/2 blocks off I85/40, exit#147, Graham. Home of the Alamance County Arts Council. Front Lawn, Through Mar. 20 - "Embracing Peace, Seward Johnson". The six-month installation is a collaboration between Alamance Arts and the Seward Johnson Atelier, a not-for-profit entity that encourages the placement and sharing of public art. "Embracing Peace" captures the jubilation of Americans on V-J Day, August 14, 1945. It honors the memory of the past, reminding us of the sacrifice of a nation, and awakening younger generations to the heroic stories of America's Greatest Generation. This sculpture has been featured in various cities across the United States from Florida to California, as well as in Times Square, NYC, Rome, Italy and Civitavecchia, Italy. A casting of the sculpture has also been on display in Normandy, France and is currently sited at the Bastogne War Museum in Belgium. Sisters Galleries, Feb. 3 - Mar. 14 - "Figurative and Contemporary," features a retrospective of the works of two Alamance County artists, Jim Moon (1928-2019) and Clyde Fowler (1947-2015). A reception will be held on Feb. 7, from 6-8pm. Jim Moon, a native of Graham, is known for his paintings mostly comprised of oil and serigraph. He had his first solo exhibition in 1949 in New York City. Color, composition, and human emotions such as hope can be seen in many of his works. He could evoke creativity through many of his pieces. Clyde Fowler was an abstract artist who created with mixed media on paper. He also designed costumes and scenery for the North Carolina School of the Arts productions. He was known for his ability to share true creativity and

Asheville Art Museum, 2 South Pack Square at Pack Place, Asheville. Through Feb. 3 - "Appalachia Now! An Interdisciplinary Survey of Contemporary Art in Southern Appalachia," is the inaugural exhibition for the reopening of the Museum, marking the end of an expansion process that took more than three years. Featuring works by 50 artists selected from 700. Explore Asheville Exhibition Hall, Feb. 21 - May 4 - "A Telling Instinct: John James Audubon & Contemporary Art," curated by Associate Curator Cindy Buckner, with the assistance of Marilyn Laufer, director emerita of the Jule Collins Smith Museum of Fine Art on the campus of Auburn University. A new exhibition highlighting the works of John James Audubon juxtaposed with the work of 21st-century artists who continue his tradition of animal allegories and metaphors. Ongoing - The Asheville Art Museum, the hub for 20th- and 21st-century American art in Western North Carolina, has re-opened to the public. The $24+ million, state-of-the-art facility encompasses 54,000 square feet and adds 70 percent more Collection gallery space. For the first time in the Museum's history, it has the capacity to host major traveling exhibitions from nationally recognized museums. The expansion increases its physical space and dramatically increases its role as a community center, educational resource, economic engine for WNC, and cultural concierge for the region's residents and visitors. Opening exhibitions include: "Appalachia Now! An Interdisciplinary Survey of Contemporary Art in Southern Appalachia," is the inaugural special exhibition of the newly renovated Museum. Curated by Jason Andrew, the juried exhibition features 50 artists of diverse backgrounds from the Southern Appalachian states of North Carolina, Georgia, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia. The exhibit provides a regional snapshot of the art of our time—a collective survey of contemporary Southern Appalachian culture. "Intersections in American Art," is the largest presentation ever drawn from the Museum's Collection of 5,000+ works and 4,000+ architectural drawings. It celebrates the unique qualities of art from Western North Carolina, placed within the context of art from across the United States. The intersections of regional and national art are highlighted throughout the galleries, as are three specific ways of understanding the works here: Time & Place; Experiments in Materials & Form; and Collaboration & Interdisciplinary Dialogue. Admission: Yes. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm; Fri. till 8pm & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 828/253-3227 or at (www.ashevilleart.org).

Center for Craft, 67 Broadway, Asheville. John Cram Partner Gallery, Through Mar. 29 - "Shapeshifters: Select Works by Joshua Adams and Jiha Moon". The exhibition features over forty works by Joshua Adams (Cherokee, NC) and Jiha Moon (Atlanta, GA). Included in folklore the world over, shapeshifters are beings or spirits that can physically transform into the shape of another. Similarly, masks can be used to transform the wearer, allowing the performer to become someone or something other than themselves. As a decorative and aesthetic form rooted in specific cultural heritages, the mask becomes integral for Adams' and Moon's exploration of personal identity. Adams, an enrolled member of the Eastern Band of the Cherokee Indians and trained woodcarver, often creates masks inspired by traditional Cherokee stories in order to educate viewers about tribal culture. Addressing his own personal experience, Adams observes the complexity of living in the multiple cultural contexts of maintaining Cherokee tradition in the contemporary South. Korean-born artist Moon assembles and paints her work with recognizable imagery, such as fortune cookies, dragons, and emojis juxtaposed with facets of southern culture, such as peaches, face jugs, and the southernism "bless your heart." By playfully combining eastern and western symbols, Moon reflects on the intricacies of identity and nationhood in an increasingly global society. Bresler Family Gallery, Through Feb. 29 - "Craft Futures 2099". To celebrate the Building a Future for Craft campaign and successful renovation of our building, the Center for Craft invited eleven local and national artists to predict what craft will represent in eighty years time. Set in 2099, this exhibition presents multiple visions of the future of craft. Some take the form of discrete objects, while others engage us through their installation. These new works address both long-standing craft concerns, such as aesthetics, community, and tradition as well as relevant social issues, including climate change, social justice, decolonization, and creating meaning in a digital age. Ongoing - Encompassing an additional 7,000 square feet of program space, including expanded galleries, event and meeting spaces, and coworking space serving the creative sector, this one-of-a-kind National Craft Innovation Hub will engage both the national craft community and western North Carolina residents, further establishing the Center for Craft as a thought-leader in what craft means today, as well as how to support emerging voices and makers. Hours: Mon.-Sun., 10am-6pm. Contact: call 828/785-1357 or at (www.centerforcraft.org).
