An exhibition of both iconic and lesser-known works from some of the most significant and compelling artists of the last 50 years, the exhibition will trace a number of intertwined narratives in the history of recent art. These narratives include Pop and Conceptual Art, Minimalism, body-oriented performance art, the Pictures Generation, identity politics and psychologically-inflected figurative works. The exhibition's title comes from a 1962 painting by Andy Warhol, a gift from Blake Byrne to The Museum of Contemporary Art, Los Angeles, and the earliest work in the show. Guest curator Joseph R. Wolin utilizes the strengths of Byrne's collection to chart a broad but personal overview of contemporary art, while also providing a window into the collector's personal vision. "Open This End" is organized and sponsored by The Skylark Foundation. Through Aug. 30 - "Colour Correction: British and American Screenprints, 1967-75". Drawn primarily from the Nasher Museum's vast collection of prints, the exhibition examines a moment when artists adopted, and adapted, the screenprint technique during an extremely fertile period of experimentation and productivity in the United States and Great Britain. Coinciding with a confluence of social upheaval, political turmoil and artistic change and exchange, "Colour Correction" illustrates what many art historians consider to be the "golden age" of screenprinting. The exhibition includes more than 100 works by 40 artists—from the playful Pop art of Andy Warhol and Eduardo Paolozzi to the scathing political critiques of May Stevens to the minimalist abstractions and optical exercises in visual perception by artists such as Richard Anuszkiewicz, William T. Williams and Liliane Lijn. Also - Nasher Museum Café and Museum Shop. Admission: Yes, but free to Durham residents, courtesy of "The Herald-Sun" newspaper. "I am still a little girl walking amongst the trees. What has changed, however, are the colors that shift and transform with every piece I complete. The images are never quite the same, nor the music that drives my energy as I work. I run through the thicket of canvas with a brush in one hand and a can of spray paint in the other—splashing and streaking bold, sometimes brash, color combinations. As if in some kind of dream, I will lance and parry, my arms now maple, then oak. I become bright light until the autumnal equinox brings her long shadows and inky washes," says Fletcher. Hours: reg convention hours. Contact: Durham Arts Council at 919/560-2787 or at (www.durhamarts.org).
