City of Charleston, SC, Offers Art Exhibition Focused on Preservation

The City of Charleston Office of Cultural Affairs presents Preservation Through Art: Charleston, an exhibition at City Gallery that presents new interpretations by Charleston area artists of 150-year-old etchings of local vistas, on view at City Gallery, from July 19 through Sept. 8, 2024. A reception will be held on July 19, from 5-7pm, and an artist's talk on Aug. 10, beginning at 2pm. Both events are free and open to the public.

around America and paint any scene you found to be inspiring and picturesque; to create tales of adventure along with beautiful visuals to share with a nation recovering from the Civil War. This scenario became a reality in the late 1800s when Appleton Press employed prominent artists and writers to venture across the country in search of amazing natural and historic landmarks. Their stories and artwork resulted in the creation of a comprehensive travelogue publication known as Picturesque America. The artists and writers were captivated by the bountiful beauty they discovered and inadvertently became part of a new movement - one sparking the idea that we should protect these landmarks.

Karyn Healey, "Three Sisters Sewing Together"

Over 150 years later, Preserving A Picturesque America (PAPA), a non-profit organization, endeavors to continue their mission to enlighten and protect these special places through the power of the arts. PAPA collaborates with local artists and historians, environmental, and cultural groups in areas across the country to raise awareness of natural and historic landmarks in need of protection. For Preservation Through Art: Charleston, artists have retraced the footsteps and brushstrokes of celebrated Picturesque America artist Harry Fenn, who visited Charleston in 1870.

For this exhibit, the artists have created new works to portray the original sites as they appear today. This "then and now" demonstrates if we have been good stewards of these natural and historic treasures.

Artists participating in the exhibition include: Elizabeth Hasegawa Agresta, Yoshiko Agresta, Mahoganee Amiger, Chris Bell, Kay Bilisoly, Jennifer Black, Claudia Boyce, Louise Britton, Marcie Cavanagh, Morgan Conklin, James Daniel, Debbie Daniels, Fran Davies, Joyce Erb, Mary Edna Fraser, Jonathan Green, Hannah Hall, Mark Harmon, Giselle Harrington, Karyn Healey, Mary Hoffman, Rebecca Hoyle, Sha Huang, Cynthia Huston, Stephanie Marzella, Rich Nelson, Jacki Newell, Jeanne O'Neal, Richard Oversmith, Kathy Parker, Fallon Pepper, Linda Pepper, Rosie Phillips, Leslie Pratt-Thomas, Sheila Preston-Ford, Ann Reames, Connie Rigdon, Deborah Rosato, Patricia Sabre, Nicole Seitz, Olivia Seitz, Francis Sills, Amelia Spade, Sheryl Stalnaker, Mary Kyle Stuckey, Patricia Sweet, Susan Trott, Barbara Rawson, Scott Varn, and Barbara Yongue.

Henry Fenn, "From the Bay" 1880s, etching, from "Picturesque America"

Mary Edna Fraser, "Charleston Peninsula" oil on canvas

The non-profit organization Preserving A Picturesque America (PAPA) collaborates with artists, writers, historians, environmental organizations, and like-minded individuals to use the power of the arts to protect and preserve natural and historic landmarks across the country. PAPA strives to shift public perspective towards the importance of the natural landscape through art experiences and opportunities to reconnect with nature and use those opportunities to raise funding that will facilitate the protection and preservation of Picturesque America sites across the country.

Founder and Executive Director Scott Varn is an artist and longtime conservationist. While searching for prints depicting his home area of Western North Carolina, he found some classic engravings of the French Broad River at an online estate auction and ordered them. He discovered they were from the publication, Picturesque America. Created by Appleton Press between 1872 and 1874, Picturesque America was a serial released in 48 parts and eventually bound into two large volumes which included over 900 engravings of natural and historic landscapes.

Publishers asked celebrated writers and artists of the time who created "travelogue" style tales describing wondrous places across America. Their work raised public awareness of our country's bountiful beauty and has played an important role in the protection of natural lands and historic places. PAPA aims to follow in the footsteps and brushstrokes of the original writers and artists, to rediscover the same places and document their current state of existence, to bring awareness to others that places important to people from the past should be protected and preserved for those in the future.

City Gallery, located at Joe Riley Waterfront Park, is owned by the City of Charleston and operated by the City of Charleston Office of Cultural Affairs, presenting an annual program of exhibitions and events featuring the finest contemporary art from local, regional, national and international artists, with a focus on the Lowcountry. # Editorial COMMENTARY

by Tom Starland, Editor and Publisher

On Our Cover This Month

On our cover is a work by Patsy Tidwell-Painton, which is part of the exhibition, Ebb and Flow of Life's Journey, on view at the Lowcountry Artists Gallery in Charleston, SC, from July 1 - 31, 2024. A reception will be held on July 5, from 5-8pm. Read the article on Pages 6 & 7.

Patsy Tidwell-Painton represents an institution in Charleston for the visual art community having run and owned Tidwell Art Center and Gallery, located on King Street for many years, supplying the art needs of Charleston's artists. Patsy was an early and often supporter of Charleston Arts and then Carolina Arts. Her store was one of the best distribution sites for our publication when it was printed. I bet she has a lot of stories she could tell about the Charleston visual art community and its artists.

July 1987

It was the month of July 1987 when we published our first issue of Charleston Arts. We waited until after the Spoleto and Piccolo Spoleto Festivals were over to start our journey. Back then, Spoleto was doing major visual art exhibits and it would have been too much to handle in a first issue.

As we enter our 38th year with Carolina Arts, Spoleto doesn't include any visual arts - how things change. Eventually Piccolo Spoleto picked up the staff of offering major exhibits, but then that faded. Now, the City of Charleston's Office of Cultural Affairs can't even let us know what exhibits they might offer by the time our deadlines have passed.

In between, we published Berkeley County Arts, South Carolina Arts and eventually in 1997, we became Carolina Arts. We're now in our 28th year of publishing Carolina Arts. First, as a printed publication and then after 2010, as an online only publication.

Some folks miss the printed version of the publication, some still claim to have seen it recently, but I don't miss the printed version at all. It was mostly in black & white, small in size (never more than 30 pages) and only covered the areas where we received advertising support. It was costly to print, costly to distribute, and was only offered in the areas we covered.

When we stopped printing Carolina Arts I thought it would be the end of our publication. We stopped because of the recession and rising gas prices. But I was wrong, producing an online publication had its benefits. We only had to produce one copy and launch it in cyberspace and anyone, anywhere, could download it for free. We could send out e-mails to followers letting them know a new issue is ready to download. They could send it to folks on their e-mail lists. Social media also offered a way to distribute the publication.

As an online publication, we are in full color, we have unlimited size, and anyone around the world can download a copy - as long as they know about us, and more folks find out about us every month.

I do miss the traveling around the Carolinas, although it was mostly at night to make it easier to distribute, but I did get to see some art galleries and some of the art centers and art museums. Today, most of my time is spent on computers. Most folks communicate with us by e-mail - post cards announcing exhibits is a thing of the past - they're too slow and carry little info compared to what can be sent by e-mail.

So, if you want your exhibit or your gallery's exhibit included in our publication, send us a press release with a few high res images to (info@carolinaarts.com) by the 24th of the month "prior" to the month your exhibit starts. It's that easy. Always has been.

So you're the Marketing Director of a visual arts organization, art museum, arts center, arts council or artist guild and you're wondering why you never see the exhibits presented at your facility included here. Maybe you're the owner of a commercial art gallery and you've never seen your exhibits included with others presented in your area. You might even be an individual artist who is having an exhibit in a non-profit space or commercial space and you don't see your exhibits included. My question to you is - How long will you put up with that before you ask someone, "Why that is the case?" If you're not included - it's your fault. Send your info about exhibits to "Carolina Arts" by e-mail to (info@carolinaarts.com). Our deadline is the 24th of the month, at 5pm "prior" to the month your exhibit starts.

City of North Charleston, SC, Features Works by Kelly Kopacka and Flavia Lovatelli

The City of North Charleston, SC's Cultural Arts Department is pleased to announce that concurrent solo exhibitions of painted illustrations by Kelly Kopacka (Johns Island, SC) and paper and wood sculptures Flavia Lovatelli (Columbia, SC) will be on display at Park Circle Gallery, from July 3 - 27, 2024. The artists will host a free public reception at the gallery on July 5, from 5-7pm. Admission is free.

Charleston, SC-based artist Kelly Kopacka presents Dogville, a joyful collection of mixed media works that imagines the infrastructure of a dog society. The exhibition will include both paintings of dog houses and wall-mounted dioramas created with thrifted and found materials. Kopacka has created everything one might expect to find in a vibrant, dog-led community, including a dog hospital, a dog art gallery, a haunted doghouse, and more. She describes her style as illustrative realism and identifies her influences as "in the vein of Joseph Cornell, with a dash of Louise Nevelson and Robert Rauschenberg, plus a whole lot of Richard Scarry."

Work by Kelly Kopacka

Kopacka holds an MA in Art History from University of Memphis and a BA in Art History from Georgia State University. Although her natural love of visual art led her to these studies, at the time she could not see herself as a "real" artist.

"Pictures speak a thousand words, and artists skillfully wield their tools to articulate them," says Kopacka, "but what if I have nothing terribly important to say? What if I want to create for the sake of creation, for fun, for pleasure?"

Instead, she employed her understanding of visual art elements as a graphic designer for a corporation. When the pandemic hit, the sudden changes to her daily routine made something click. The time and solitude of the early shutdown days allowed her to pick up a paintbrush again and create art playfully and without judgement. Since then, she has followed her natural inclination to create whimsical, humorous art and eventually quit her corporate job to pursue freelance art and design.

Flavia Lovatelli is a sculptor living in Columbia, SC. Her exhibition, A Sculptural Exploration of Coral in Nature, features a collection of paper and wood sculptures that echo the organic shapes of coral. Her artwork is inspired by her lifelong love of the natural world. She has fond childhood memories of snorkeling in the Tyrrhenian, Mediterranean, and Adriatic Seas, and going on hikes with her family. Her relationship with nature heavily influences the materials she is drawn to using in her artwork.

Even as a child, Lovatelli was interested in creating artwork from sustainable materials. She recalls collecting things found on her expeditions and incorporating them into her crafts. As she matured as an artist, the primary material she found herself most attracted to was found paper, books, magazines, writing paper, notebooks, and so on.

"Paper, my chosen material, embodies the paradoxical qualities that we see in nature: its fragility and durability, its strength and delicacy," Lovatelli says. Her process creates sculptures that seem to grow organically, echoing the patterns of spirals and tendrils seen in coral, barnacles, and sea anemones.

Raised in Northern Italy by her Italian father and American mother, Flavia Lovatelli moved to the United States in 1979. She is a self-taught artist who works with sustainable materials. Her work has been displayed in many solo and group exhibitions including (2024) - 135th Anniversary Year of NAWA, Hollis Taggart Gallery, New York; (2023) - 701 CCA South Carolina Biennial, Columbia, SC; (2024-25) Shanghai International Paper Art Biennial, Guangzhou, China; Piccolo Spoleto Juried Art Exhibition, Charleston, SC; and 36th Annual McNeese National Works on Paper, McNeese State University, Lake Charles, LA.

The Park Circle Gallery is located on Jenkins Avenue in North Charleston. Admission is free and free street parking is available on Jenkins Avenue in front of the gallery, as well as on the adjacent streets and in parking lots close by.

For further information check our SC Institutional Gallery listings, call the gallery at 843/637-3565 or e-mail to (culturalarts@northcharleston.org). # Lowcountry Artists Gallery in Charleston, SC, Features Works by Patsy Tidwell-Painton

The Lowcountry Artists Gallery in Charleston, SC, will present Ebb and Flow of Life's Journey, featuring works by Patsy Tidwell-Painton, on view from July 1 - 31, 2024. A reception will be held on July 5, from 5-8pm.

Says the artist, "From early childhood I wanted to create with my hands and the desire has continued through my life. I am now at the age of 83 and wake up at 5am in the morning ready to start another day of painting or making handmade books. I have always said "Life Is A Puzzle" ...you're the master to learn what is your Puzzle's meaning. I live every day with gratitude for the knowledge I have been given by the hundreds of instructors that I have been exposed to. All I want to do at this point of my life is to share with others the joy that from my heart through my hands and thank God every day for this gift. Please come and enjoy the show..."

Throughout the years, Tidwell-Painton has shown her work in the Mary Martin Gallery, Lowcountry Artists Gallery in Charleston and in many other galleries, libraries and museums in South Carolina, WellFleet, MA, Orleans, MA, Sotheby's Gallery in Orleans, MA, The Creative Art Center in Chatham, MA, and the Cultural Center of Cape Cod in South Yarmouth, MA.

Tidwell-Painton adds, "I taught Neographic Art at the Lowcountry Artist Gallery once a month last year to over 200 students as a community service... It was free and I received so much joy being able to share with other people in the community - Fathers, Daughters, Mothers, Children, Retirees and people from all walks of life.

Tidwell-Painton offered the following about her painting Islands In The Stream, "This piece began with several under paintings until the surface was speaking well and deserved a neurographic drawing... Following the drawing, each color, each

Charleston Crafts Co-op in Charleston, SC, Offers Group Exhibition

The Charleston Crafts Co-op in Charleston, SC, will present Garden Party!, featuring works by gallery members, on view in the Charleston Crafts Gallery, from July 1 - 31, 2024. A reception will be held on July 5, from 5-8pm.

This month, Charleston Crafts Gallery is celebrating the First Anniversary of the move to 140 East Bay Street. The Gallery reopened in the new location on July 1, 2023, and July is a time of celebration and gratitude.

Charleston Crafts Gallery is hosting a group show featuring 10 of the gallery's artists. What should guests wear? LuAnn Rosenzweig and Gini Steele have you covered. LuAnn's one-of-a-kind jackets and vests are festive and perfect for a special event. Her Poppy Jacket is especially colorful, or a small Garden party purse might be appropriate. Gini creates shawls and scarves, and for this event, she has some special hand knit scarves with hand felted flower adornment. Just the thing.

Work by Lynn Gettlefinger

Susan Livingston have hand crafted unique table linens for the event. Nancy's hand-woven Placemats and Napkins set a lovely table for an outdoor feast, while Susan's hand-dyed vintage linens are stunning. Napkin Rings crafted from leather by Courtney Powers, or origami paper Napkin rings by Regina Semko complete the tablescape.

Need mood lighting? Stacy Green has created garden themed lights with fused glass to set the stage. What can be used to serve the food for the picnic? Anne John's

Hand-crafted ceramic bowls are ready. Complete the surroundings with a lovely floral wall quilt created by Lynn Gettlefinger. Is the garden party taking place in the tropics? It sure looks like it! Yard birds have joined the garden party and are ready to play. These chickens are sure to bring a smile with their bright colors and humorous expressions. Each one is hand built by Marty Biernbaum from stoneware clay, suitable for indoor or outdoor use to brighten up your garden.

In addition to the members in the spotlight group show, the work of all the Gallery's members is also on display and available for purchase, including jewelry, wood puzzles, encaustic paintings, mixed media collages, fiber art, apparel and accessories, as well as functional and decorative objects in wood, ceramic and glass.

Charleston's destination for Fine Craft since 1989, the gallery is located on East Bay Street, in the heart of the French Quarter, on "Gallery Row". The gallery is staffed by its friendly and knowledgeable member-artisans. Charleston Crafts Cooperative Gallery is a dynamic community of more than two dozen jury-selected artisans, all from South Carolina, making this the city's only exclusively local craft gallery.

into the depths of his subconscious, where dreams intertwine with reality. His process begins with a drawing that evolves into a vibrant canvas, filled with bold colors that echo the intensity of his dreams. This exhibit showcases the personal and intimate nature of his self-expression, allowing viewers to glimpse into his innermost thoughts and feelings.

Collichio's passion for art was ignited at a very young age. He recalls being deeply inspired by his art teacher, Mr. Eades, who introduced him to the works of Salvatore Dali and Picasso during a sabbatical in Spain. This influence is evident in Collichio's bold, dreamlike, and sometimes irrational paintings, which he describes as liberating.

Work by Anthony Collichio

What Dreams Are Made Of... is a testament to the originality and uniqueness of Collichio's work, born from his vivid dreams and nightmares. His creative process is akin to assembling a puzzle, meticulously piecing together sketches to form a cohesive whole on canvas. In addition to his striking paintings, Collichio's talents extend to sculpting, primarily in wood and bronze.

Now retired and residing in the "Low-country," Collichio finds joy in an active arts community that fuels his passion. The upcoming exhibit at the SOBA Gallery promises to be an unforgettable experience, highlighting the depth and vibrancy of his work.

SOBA is the heart of the flourishing art hub in Old Town Bluffton's historic district at the corner of Church and Calhoun streets. As a non-profit art organization, SOBA offers regular art classes, featured artist shows, exhibitions, scholarships, outreach programs and more. The gallery is located on Church Street.

A Harriet Tubman Monument Has Been Installed at Tabernacle Baptist Church in Beaufort, SC

The Tabernacle Baptist Church has installed a Harriet Tubman Monument, created by sculptor Ed Dwight, located on the church grounds at 901 Craven Street in Beaufort, SC.

Harriet Tubman Monument, celebrating the Combahee River Raid, by Ed Dwight - Front

"This has been a long time coming. I still remember telling the church on Sunday morning in June 2016, which was around the anniversary of the Combahee River Raid, that we were going to build a monument for Harriet Tubman," said Kenneth F. Hodges, pastor of Tabernacle Baptist Church. "Our church is no stranger to preserving history, as our members got together and drafted a resolution thanking Abraham Lincoln for freeing us after the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation Jan. 1, 1863; that document is a part of the Abraham Lincoln papers. We also undertook the monument to Robert Smalls, and now we are preserving the history of Harriet Tubman right here in Beaufort."

Sculptor Ed Dwight's 14-foot-tall bronze sculpture will sit on church's grounds, where it is believed to be the church where Mrs. Tubman made a speech after the Combahee River Raid where contraband known as enslaved African men were inspired to become members of the colored regiment. The church raised nearly $1,000,000 to complete the project, as they received donations from the faith community, individuals, and businesses. The project took 8 years to complete.

Pastor Hodges continued, "It took five years to raise the funds and three years to complete the sculpture. It was a hard sell because most people never heard the story of Harriet Tubman being in Beaufort. Everywhere we went, we told the story over-and-over again about her presence here and finally historians started to tell the story."

The monument commemorates the time Mrs. Tubman spent in Beaufort, SC, which is often left out of her story. History states Mrs. Tubman lived in Beaufort for approximately two years arriving in Spring 1862 based on orders from Massachusetts Gov. John Andrews, who thought she could be used as a spy, as she was a member of the New England Freedmen's Aid Society, an organization whose mission was to provide teachers and other aid for "the industrial, social, intellectual, moral, and religious improvement" of freedmen.

While in Beaufort, SC, she aided freed women teaching them how to run businesses such as selling food and doing the laundry of the Union soldiers, all while Mrs. Tubman held jobs as a nurse, scout, and cook. Her role in the Combahee River Raid in June 1863, under Col. James Montgomery, for which she freed 756 enslaved Africans is most notable.

A sculpture depicting Harriet Tubman's heroic ventures will sit next to the 156 year old church on Craven Street in downtown Beaufort. Tabernacle Baptist is also the burial place of Robert Smalls, who was born a slave in Beaufort and became a Civil War hero and Congressman. A bust of Small is also on the church grounds.

Craven Street is steep in history. The old Beaufort Arsenal home of the Chamber of commerce's visitor's center and the Beaufort history Museum is a block east of the church. ## Art League of Hilton Head on Hilton Head Island, SC, Features Works by Samantha Claar

Work by Samantha Claar

The Art League of Hilton Head on Hilton Head Island, SC, will present Painting the Stories: Glimpses of Gullah by Samantha Claar, on view in the Art League Gallery, from July 23 through Aug. 23, 2024. A reception will be held on July 24, from 5-7pm. Claar will also host a Gallery Walk on July 25, at 11am, where she will discuss her work, influences, and processes. The exhibit, reception and gallery walk are free and open to the public.

The boldly colored paintings, often painted on recycled or salvaged materials, are inspired by Claar's dreams or "nighttime roamings." "They visited and demanded that I paint what they were showing me...We argued about this for a long time because I had never painted a human figure...but they were very sure. That is how my love for the Gullah-Geechee and their unique culture was born."

Work by Samantha Claar

Claar is a self-taught artist who began painting in her 40s. She joined the art scene on Tybee Island in the 1990s, where she opened a gallery with a friend. Once she began dreaming of the Gullah-Geechee and their stories, she educated herself about the people and their history so she could better "paint the stories" and, in turn, educate the people who visited her gallery and had a desire to know more. In 2012, she opened Fine Folk Galleries, the first Gullah art market in Savannah's City Market.

Claar celebrates the Southern lifestyle that can be traced back to Gullah contributions. The cities were built with their labor, their foods, their knowledge of the sea and tide, of fishing methods and sustainable use of land and sea. "Trace our 'Southern roots' and there you find the G-G as the root system that made it all possible," she says.

"I want you to take this with you: Wow! I never realized, assimilated, or understood just how much my life was impacted by the introduction of the Gullah-Geechee and the rich, vibrant culture that they crafted in the midst of unspeakable conditions...While looking at my work: I want you to experience the joy of being a fellow human with these remarkable people."

Art League of Hilton Head on Hilton Head Island, SC, Features Fundraiser for Turtles

The Art League of Hilton Head on Hilton Head Island, SC, will present Halfway Home, a sea turtle art exhibit at Art League Academy, from July 23 - 30, 2024, to support Sea Turtle Patrol HHI. A reception will be held on July 30, from 5-7pm. Art League will donate 20% of artwork sales to Sea Turtle Patrol HHI.

Two Hilton Head Island 501(c)(3) non-profits, Art League of Hilton Head and Sea Turtle Patrol HHI, are again joining forces to raise funds for our island's sea turtles. Sea Turtle Patrol Hilton Head Island provides monitoring, support, and awareness of sea turtle nesting to promote the continued existence of this endangered species. A special week-long exhibit featuring sea turtle-themed artwork created by artists of our community will be held at Art League Academy.

"We named the exhibit Halfway Home because we'll be right at the halfway point of the sea turtle season," says Kristen McIntosh, Executive Director of Art League of Hilton Head. "Our artists have created some beautiful pieces for sale, and we're thrilled to be able to help such a worthy cause."

Art League Academy is offering sea turtle-themed art classes, with 20% of the proceeds also going to Sea Turtle Patrol HHI. The classes are Washi Tape Sea Turtles taught by Joan Moreau McKeever on July 23; Mosaic Turtles with Ryan McGovern and Mixed Media Sea Turtles with Debi West on July 27; and Baby Sea Turtles in Stained Glass with Cynthia Buckley on July 28. Participants can sign up on Art League's website at (artleaguehhi.org).

Coastal Discovery Museum on Hilton Head Island, SC, Offers Art Quilt Exhibit

The Coastal Discovery Museum at historic Honey Horn, on Hilton Head Island, SC, is pleased to announce the opening of a new exhibit by the Art Quilters of the Lowcountry, titled Imagine, on view in the Main Gallery, from July 16 through Oct. 6, 2024. A reception will be held on July 18, from 5-7pm.

Imagine is an immersive art exhibit that explores the power of imagination. The award-winning fiber artists and art quilters fuse fabric and thread to delve into the transformative and introspective nature of imagining one's own world. By fostering a space for creativity and self-reflection, Imagine aims to inspire attendees to reimagine the world around them.

Work by Jody Wigton

"We are delighted to once again showcase the works of these talented artists and invite everyone to experience this unique art form," said Elizabeth Greenberg, Director of Exhibitions, at the Coastal Discovery Museum.

The public is also invited to participate in gallery talks by the artists, at 10am, on the following Thursdays in July and August:

7/25 - Ron Hodge, beading
8/01 - Peg Weschke, painting on fabric
8/08 - Jody Wigton, open weaving in art quilts

Work by Ron Hodge

8/15 - Donna Stankiewicz, ink, intense blocks and pencils

8/22 - Ro Morrissey, seascape stripes

Art Quilters of the Lowcountry is a cooperative of five fiber artists who reside in the Lowcountry, between Savannah, Georgia and Charleston, South Carolina. Our goals are to exhibit and sell our fiber art at local galleries and public exhibition venues and facilitate education and collaboration.

The Coastal Discovery Museum, a Smithsonian Affiliate, is an educational and cultural organization whose mission is to provide experiences that inspire people to care for the Lowcountry. Founded in 1985, and located on Hilton Head's historic Honey Horn grounds, the Museum offers exhibitions, programs, lectures, hands-on workshops and events, covering Lowcountry history, culture, art and the environment.

Inside The Artist's Studio

Editor's Note: A few years ago we offered a look into a few artist's studios. It was interesting, but we got busy and I didn't have time to keep up with that feature. This month, Murray Sease of La Petite Gallerie in Bluffton, SC, sent us an article about one of her fellow gallery artists. And she plans to visit several more during 2024. La Petite Gallerie is located on Calhoun Street, Bluffton, SC, 29910. For more info visit (lapetitegallerie.com).

Studio Visit: An Artist's Eden

The next artist studio visit in this series takes me past green pastures and sandy paddocks with lovely homes for horses and their owners. It is in the equestrian side of the Rose Hill community in Bluffton, and indeed an artist's paradise with peaceful scenery in every direction. There are expansive views of the Colleton River and wooded views of its estuaries tucked in here and there. The home studio I'm visiting today is on a quiet cul-de-sac with a long driveway. The artist I am visiting takes full advantage of her location, regularly painting the gorgeous marsh views behind her house.

There is an abundance of wildlife – deer and long legged wading birds visit often – providing even more inspiration for this talented person.

The artist is Lauren Arsenault, known for her colorful and impressionistic paintings in acrylic and watercolor. The local people, landscape, flora and fauna, marsh, ocean, and historic architecture are her subjects. Her loose and free brushstrokes are the goal of many aspiring painters which is fantastic because Lauren loves to teach! She offers art lessons in the garden at La Petite Gallerie or in her students' homes or studio spaces. In fact the whole lowcountry is really Lauren's studio – she is an avid plein air painter enjoying the great outdoors as her muse.

When I arrived at Lauren's home studio, I was greeted enthusiastically by Milo the Boykin Spaniel. He is a delightful bundle of wagging, wiggling happiness. After lots of Milo pats, walking through the welcoming entry is almost like entering an elegant but friendly art gallery. The walls are filled with art with deep meaning for Lauren – some gifts from her parents, some work

by her daughters, but most collected more recently from local artists that she admires. There is a nude by Doug Corkern which she treasures. Stunning black and white photography and drawings related to our local fishing and oystering culture are in her dining room. It opens to her kitchen with a wonderful black and white mosaic fish over the doorway leading to the mudroom and back door. Paintings by artists she knows fit perfectly in spaces elsewhere throughout the house, and found objects and sculptures grace tables and outside walls.

Opening from the entry and dining room, the first studio space I see is in a corner of the huge windowed wall of the living room overlooking the backyard. Twice a day at high tide the creek comes right up to the lawn edge just a few feet from the decks.

The views are stunning and ever-changing with the tides and seasons. Lauren has an easel and a huge drafting desk here with brushes and paper at the ready for water-color painting.

The other side of the entry opens to the main studio exclusively devoted to creating art. Facing a wooded view through windows, two large easels have works in progress on them. One is a lovely floral mixed media and the other a wading bird showing Lauren's energetic brush strokes in acrylic. It features one of her typical color schemes in subtle blues and grays. A cozy desk area in one corner is where the business side of art is done. Shelves and a tall rack hold canvases, frames, and art supplies of all sorts. Opening a closet door reveals huge canvases and a large portrait in progress. It's a bit abstract and just waiting for a little incentive to finish it up.

Milo accompanies us throughout the tour. He is enormously attached to Lauren and knows her painting habits well. When it's time to take a walk he knows to lie between her and her easel making it impossible to continue her work until they have that break.

One more location that Lauren considers her studio space is Memory Matters, a local memory care center providing programs, support, and services for caregivers and individuals living with Alzheimer's or other forms of dementia. She and other volunteers lead art classes which encourage socialization, stimulation, and fun for those experiencing memory loss. Lauren's face lights up as she tells me about the students there and how rewarding it is to volunteer. It is yet another way that she shares her love of art!

Lauren Arsenault is one of six artists/owners of the cooperative La Petite Gallerie in Old Town Bluffton. She generally works there on Saturdays when she welcomes visitors with a smile and is ready to help them choose the perfect piece/s for their own homes. Please visit soon to see Lauren's art in person!

Tiger Strikes Asteroid in Greenville, SC, Offers a Group Exhibition

Tiger Strikes Asteroid in Greenville, SC, is presenting Intersectional Voices.

Intersectional Voices: Reflective Experiences of the American South, featuring works by Katrina Andry, Kephira Davis and Clare Hu, on view through July 20, 2024.

The exhibit explores the evidence of lived experiences within each artist's work as they challenge the viewer's understanding and examination of material, technique and imagery. Katrina Andry, Kephira Davis and Clare Hu's work all hold space in the past, present and future that allows focus within the work's edges, broadening viewer's ideas and understanding of cultural complexities.

The fleeting moments captured from photographs to self-portraits and use of ubiquitous materials, all highlight experiences that weave these works together. As many of us have shared moments of connectivity we rarely have the privilege to see an artist's dissection, analysis and recreation of their personal story.

Tiger Strikes Asteroid Greenville (TSA GVL) was founded in 2019 and is the newest part of the Tiger Strikes Asteroid (TSA) network of artist-run spaces and joins locations in Philadelphia, New York, Los Angeles, and Chicago. TSA GVL will specifically focus on connecting the art communities in Greenville and the greater Southeast to the global art world. TSA was founded in 2009 in Philadelphia, is a 501c3 non-profit organization, and is a 2021 recipient of a grant from the Warhol Foundation.

Joseph Bradley Opens Spoonbill Gallery in West Greenville, SC

Joseph Bradley, a nationally recognized artist known for his captivating, nature-inspired art, has launched his latest venture, Spoonbill Gallery, in the heart of Greenville, South Carolina's Art District. This new hub is situated adjacent to Bradley's personal studio and gallery, Joseph Bradley Studio.

The gallery's name, Spoonbill, embodies Southern charm, beauty, and a bit of quirk. Just as a spoonbill gracefully wades through the water, Greenville's newest art gallery elegantly explores a myriad of mediums, themes, and emotions. Visitors can anticipate being transported into a realm of creativity, where each piece weaves its distinct narrative. The energy and vibrancy experienced in the space is authentic, contagious, and intentionally welcoming.

The gallery's collection features a variety of national artists complemented by a showcase of rising talents. Spoonbill tions, Art & Light transitioned into the fine art gallery it is today in the historic home on Aiken Street, by focusing on local artists and eventually expanding to represent the work of regional, national and international artists. Now in its eighteenth year, Art & Light is an established gallery and an important hub in Greenville's arts community, representing over 50 artists, from emerging to established, in a space that is uniquely southern and inviting.

Woodbine Studio in Greenville, SC, Features Works by Abhay Bharadwaj

Woodbine Studio in Greenville, SC, will present Real & Imagined, featuring an intriguing, imaginative, and beautifully skillful exhibition of photographic works by Abhay Bharadwaj, on view from July 6 through Aug. 3, 2024. A reception will be held on July 6, from 6-9pm.

Bharadwaj offered the following statement, "I approach photography with an open mind, where my subconscious leads me to action. I attempt to capture the emotion of the moment. Making art in stimulating surroundings in my formative years has been a strong influence in my life. My goal with photography is to record my experiences as I walk through life. I am attracted to various shapes, forms, light, shadows and color. If I can evoke the same emotion in those viewing my photography that I experienced, it's a win."

"Born in India and having grown up in a modern city, I am certain that was a significant influence in my formative years," adds Bharadwaj. "I loved painting and drawing when I was growing up and even won several awards for it. The positive experience of art in those stimulating surroundings has stayed with me. Art has been a subconscious presence throughout my life."

"I attempt to capture the emotions in my photography and hope my audience can experience the same as they view my work."

Woodbine Studio is located in the Meyer

This Year's Juror

C. Allen Coleman

Artist, educator, critic, curator, consultant

Artist, educator, advisor, curator, administrator, and collector are all words that can be used to describe Allen Coleman. Coleman, who is an artist and the principal consultant for Al's Fine Art & Musings, is a seasoned creative professional with a diverse background and experience in business and the arts. With graduate and post-graduate degrees from Appalachian State University and New York University, Coleman, a native of Easley, SC, has served in positions ranging from high school art instructor to university adjunct instructor. He was the director of the 80 Washington Square East Galleries, and an associate at the André Emmerich Gallery in New York, NY.

Before his professional retirement, he was the 20-year director of the Pickens County Museum of Art & History as well as the Hagood Mill Historic Site & Folklife Center. In addition to the curation of more than seventy exhibitions, Coleman has administered approximately two hundred exhibitions and has been involved in the mounting of over four hundred exhibitions, performances, and presentations. In addition to the above ventures Coleman still pursues his first passion as an artist, a painter of his own quixotic interpretations.

Artists Collective | Spartanburg, SC, Offers Works by Glenda Guion

Artists Collective | Spartanburg, SC, will present Archetypes: Hand Built Clay, featuring works by Glenda Guion, on view in the Solomon Gallery, from July 2 through Aug. 24, 2024. A reception will be held on July 18, until 8pm, during Spartanburg ArtWalk and an artist's talk will be offered at 6pm, as part of Spartanburg ArtWalk on Aug. 15, till 8pm.

Glenda Guion says the artwork in her upcoming exhibition is intended to reflect the world around her in her life right now.

"I have been hand building with red earthenware clay for over 40 years. For the past 11 years, I have been living on two acres of land that includes 16 magnolia trees, pines, seed pods, blueberry bushes, gravel paths, owls and the occasional snake," Guion says. "I am currently making work that attempts to reflect where I am in the world, influenced by the beauty found in my own backyard."

Guion's inspiration for the exhibit was using paper patterns to create sculptural forms, vases and patterns, influenced by archetypes and the cut outs of the artist Matisse. Visitors will see a variety of hand-built clay sculptures, tiles and vases. "I hope that people make connections between modern abstract forms and universal archetypes," she says.

Through her art, Guion says she hopes "to communicate that which surrounds me, both physically and mystically - from earth, gardens and manmade forms to archetypal symbols and theories."

Many of the over 65 new pieces in the upcoming exhibition are inspired by mandorlas, Italian for almond, she adds. "The form refers to a shape used in religious art as the large oval that contains the representation of a single sacred figure. It is the shape created by overlapping two circles and is seen in spiritual terms as the overlap between heaven and earth, or dark and light. It is the space that contains the conflict of opposites."

"The abstract figures in my work are represented as shadows," Guion continues. "They are at times the sculptural form itself, and at other times the portal where the figure has been transformed within the mandorla. For years I have been interested in psychoanalyst Carl Jung's notion of the 'Shadow.' He describes the shadow as the place between the conscience and subconscious, or good and evil. Jung also believed that for humans 'the shadow is the seat of creativity.'"

The art in the exhibition will be available for purchase, with prices ranging from $55 to $800.

Guion, a native of Nashville, earned her BFA in clay from Middle Tennessee State University and her MFA from Clemson University. She taught clay at the Fine Arts Center Magnet School for the Arts in Greenville for 25 years and served as the art department chair for 13 years. She was also the chairperson for the Open Studios event in Greenville for four years and is currently co-chair of the Open Doors Studio Tour Spartanburg.

Her work has been widely exhibited both regionally and nationally, receiving 13 first-place juried exhibition awards along with 15 solo exhibitions. Two reproductions of Guion's clay sculpture are included in the book "Handbuilt Ceramics" by Kathy Triplett, and three works are published in "500 Teapots," (Lark Books). In 2004 she published an article titled "Making an Ocean of Clay" in Pottery Making Illustrated Magazine, a publication of The American Ceramic Society (July/August issue). Her clay sculptures are included in public collections such as the South Carolina State Art Collection, the Pickens County Museum, Columbia College, Clemson University, Sumter County Museum of Art and Middle Tennessee State University.

Artist Collective | Spartanburg, SC, Features Works by Joe Hiltabidel

Artist Collective | Spartanburg, SC, will present Evolve, featuring photographs by Joe Hiltabidel, on view in Gallery II, from July 2 - 27, 2024. A reception will be held on July 18, until 8pm, during Spartanburg ArtWalk.

The photographs in Upstate artist Joe Hiltabidel's upcoming exhibition began with a dream about cereal, but also represent his personal evolution in life.

"This entire body of work began with a single dream about cereal," Hiltabidel says. "When I woke up, I told my wife, Shelly, I was going to try to recreate what I saw in the dream and that became my photograph 'Evolve.' Each subsequent piece in this exhibit was directly inspired by the true love story I share with my wife, favorite childhood memories or the positive side of humanity left in the world."

The exhibit represents Hiltabidel's "personal evolution in life, in my artwork, in the art world and in my relationships," he says. "From the experience of past relationships to living in complete fulfillment; from never creating artwork to traveling as a creative artist, selling my artwork to thousands of people; also the literal lifecycle from the way youthful love can transform a person, to the love that comes back through the act of caregiving as we age."

"Each piece in the collection reflects a stage of my evolution, blending whimsy and reality to create a narrative that is both deeply personal and universally relatable."

Work by Joe Hiltabidel, "May the Fork Be With You".

Most of the photographs feature heart-shaped cereal interacting with Hiltabidel's hand-built miniatures, "telling a story of growth, resilience and the transformative power of love," he says. "Part of the exhibit compares my first whimsical piece against my most recent one."

Hiltabidel hopes visitors to "'feel' more than 'see'" when they enter the exhibit, and he wants their first reaction to be "happiness and joy. Also, I hope they feel a spark to create something or to evolve a part of their own life."

"I want people to find what makes them happy and chase it until the very end," he adds. "You have one life, and it is too fleeting to settle for unhappiness."

Hiltabidel says he previously photographed "traditional landscapes," focusing on mountains and waterfalls. After his cereal dream and creating the first photo inspired by it, "I had so much fun creating the piece and seeing people's reaction to it that I abandoned my interest in landscape photography to pursue a style of photography that makes me happy instead of trying to create artwork for others. Chasing this path gave me personal joy and I quickly realized this unusual body of work resonates with others who shared my style of imagination or who appreciated a 'less is more' approach to photography. What started as a dream involving cereal has evolved into the entire whimsical body of work you see here today.

"I consider some of these pieces to be the 'ultimate conversation starters,'" he adds. His works include props he builds, often using common household items such as matchsticks, pieces of jewelry or fiber to build miniatures and create staged scenes in a cube flooded with light.

Hiltabidel, a native of northeast Ohio, has lived in the Upstate for 30 years. At age 36, he began attending Furman University, graduating in 2015 after eight years of night school. A course there taught by photographer Bryan Hiott led to his love of photography and the purchase of his first camera. Later, after seeing another former professor at an event selling her jewelry, he was inspired to begin selling his photos; he and Shelly have attended more than 100 art events in 10 states since the first in 2016, selling thousands of his photos.

Orangeburg County Fine Arts Center in Orangeburg, SC, Features Works by Dianne MunKittrick

The Orangeburg County Fine Arts Center in Orangeburg, SC, will present Nature In Oil And Paper, featuring works by Dianne MunKittrick, on view in the Lusty Gallery, from July 10 through Sept. 25, 2024. A reception will be held on July 10, from 6-8pm.

The exhibition is a collection of the newest works showing Dianne MunKittrick's evolving and intimate relationship with her woodland environment. Her representational works in oil, as in Across The Blushing Marsh, capture setting and mood. A celestial moment is a shared reflection through the harmony and relationship of colors.

By MunKittrick's years of observing the intricacies ever present and in animation in nature's compositions, her sceneries have evolved into abstract interpretation, where colors and form venerate the creativity of flora and fauna. Butterbutt, a solitary and seemingly reflective Yellow-rump Warbler, shares a reverence for what it witnesses with the artist.

tion of relief sculpture, an artform dating back some 20 thousand years. Creating the impression of feathers was an intricate, lengthy and experimental process, which resulted in marvelous two-dimensional works.

MunKittrick begins what she calls "a real interesting process of cutting and shaping," which at first begins by forming one half of a whole sculpture. "I start by making the general form of the animal with paper and then it's a layering process of adding the feathers," MunKittrick explains. "When I look where I need to start adding, I think what is the undermost layer? So, for a bird, I look at how the feathers are laying on top of each other and I search for the feather that is the undermost. And that's the first to go on so that I can start laying other feathers on top of that so that it looks like it's natural and real."

To create the "natural and real" effect in these new works, MunKittrick uses a variety of special papers. "I use archival paper. The paper should be pH neutral and lignin free. I mostly use Arches 90-pound hot press paper. I use Mulberry paper for its fibrous and soft look and Lineco acid-free tissue paper." The results are sculptural life-like interpretations in relief against backgrounds in shades of gray and white. Com-

Mike Brown Contemporary in Columbia, SC, Announces Artist in Residence Tonya Gregg

Mike Brown Contemporary in partnership with One Columbia SC, is pleased to announce Tonya Gregg will serve as the second MBC Artist In Residence, through July 11, 2024. With generous support from One Columbia SC, Gregg will occupy the Mike Brown Contemporary gallery on Lincoln Street. The gallery will accept studio visits with the artist by appointment by e-mailing (Tonya@mikebrowncontemporary.com).

Tonya Gregg was born and raised in South Carolina. She received a BFA from the Maryland Institute College of Art in 1997. It was at MICA that Gregg began her career as a painter and became the first full-time art student to be featured in New American Paintings. Gregg worked at the Baltimore Museum of Art for a year before moving to Chicago to pursue a Master of Fine Arts in painting from the University of Chicago from 1998 to 2000. She has worked in various art programs and taught college for several years.

Gregg has exhibited in the US, Germany, Nicaragua, England and Canada. Her solo exhibitions include Columbia College, Gallery 1448, the Lawndale Art Center and Ithaca College. She has been an artist in residence at the Millay Colony in Austerlitz, New York, Red Gate in Beijing, China, the Banff Centre in Alberta, Canada, and the Wollmagazin in Kaiserslautern, Germany. Gregg's narrative paintings explore overlapping ideas about class, consumption, popular culture and ancient mythologies.

that weave in and out of my work include women's ideals of beauty and various social perceptions of public versus private spaces, popular culture, ancient mythology and fantasy."

"My canvases feature women dressed in carefully coordinated fashions lounging in alluring and iconic poses while presenting themselves in a manner that is hyper aware of the gaze of the world that is focused upon them. They are often surrounded by objects of desire that display their eclectic tastes and interests. These women are on a personal quest to find a balance in life between sensual pleasures and intellectual and spiritual pursuits. Wide-eyed cherub-like fairies with Afro hair float through the scenes seeking to capture the attention of the women and the viewer. They serve as celestial messengers, and at times, impish pests with an omniscient view of the women's situations as well as a pragmatic plan aimed at reinforcing the subject's authenticity," adds Gregg.

"The cherubs' wisdom suggests finding a version of the good life that can both integrate and transcend the material trappings. The colors, shapes and patterns of these objects of desire unify the compositions while forwarding the narratives."

"I paint on linen because of its symbolic and historical associations with Egyptian royalty attire, as well as its connection with Dutch masters' painting surfaces. The muted warm gray of the linen surface allows the saturated colors of the women's bodies, fashions and accoutrements to express the vibrancy of their many-sided worlds. Ultimately, the elements are integrated and contrasted with one another to allow complex and often oppositional ideas about the characters and the environments they inhabit," says Gregg.

tles will be sold via silent auction on Sept. 2nd at the Chapin Labor Day Festival. The public will be able to bid on the turtles even if not present. A portion of the proceeds from the sale of each turtle will be given to the artist and the remaining portion used to produce future community art projects planned by the League.

This project, combined with the 2024 Chapin Labor Day Festival, highlights how a vibrant community utilizes public events and public art to increase the quality of life for the entire citizenry. CCAL will have a booth with additional information and fun activities in downtown Chapin during the Labor Day Festival on Sept. 2. Members of the public are invited to participate in the project through:

- Completing the community Scavenger

Hunt featuring the turtles (successful participants will be eligible for a prize drawing).

- Voting for a People's Choice winner.
- Purchasing one of the turtles by bidding in the silent auction.

Generous grant funding from the Central Carolina Community Foundation and the South Carolina Arts Commission helped to make this project possible. The project also could not have been undertaken without the outstanding support of the local business community.

prizes to be used for winners of the Scavenger Hunt drawing. We see this project as a prime opportunity to promote the partnership between local business and the arts in our community while providing positive public exposure for Chapin. We invite you to join CCAL members and others from the community in supporting the growth of the visual arts in the Lake Murray region.

Crooked Creek Art League (CCAL) is located in Chapin, SC. Its more than 150 members, from Chapin and the surrounding communities, include painters of all mediums, photographers, sculptors and mixed media artists. All are welcome. CCAL is chartered as a charitable organization under Section 501(c)(3) of federal tax law. As a dynamic non-profit organization, CCAL depends on its members, business partners and donors to help it continue to grow the visual arts in our area in many varied ways. The league provides on-location art exhibits at local businesses, associate juror training and workshops. It also hosts one of the largest juried art shows in the midlands

The Arts Council of York County in Rock Hill, SC, is presenting the 35th Annual Juried Competition Exhibition, juried by Wofford College's Rebecca Forstater, on view in the Dalton Gallery at the Center for the Arts, through Aug. 24, 2024. A reception and awards ceremony will be held on Aug. 8, from 5:30-7:30pm.

Each year, the Annual Juried Competition is open internationally to artists 18 and older. Only original work, created in the last two (2) years, and not previously shown at the Center for the Arts, Dalton Gallery is accepted. All forms of media are eligible, including video.

This year, there were 204 entries by 84 artists from 30 cities and 4 states. Of those entries, juror Rebecca Forstater selected 35 works by 29 artists from 16 cities and 4 states to be displayed in the 35th Annual Juried Competition Exhibition.

Exhibiting artists include: Dylan Bannister, Sean Breitreutz, Trish Boyles, Kat Chudy, Chloe Compton, Nicole Driscoll, Amanda Foshag, Maddie Foss, Brittany Freeman, Brandi Voight Fox, Emily Furr, Piper Grant, Naomi Hayes, Michael Henry, Diane Holman, Alexis Howard, Flavia Lovatelli, Hans Petersen, Heather V. McLeod, Adrian Rhodes, Katherine Rumminger, Caroline Rust, J. Michael Simpson, Jessie Avant Smith, Melanie Stillwalt, Denise Torrance, Aubrey Walden, Joana Wardell, and Joyce Wynes.

Rebecca Forstater (she/they) is a South Carolina-based interdisciplinary artist who considers the production of current histories in digital landscapes through digital sculpture and video performances. Her work focuses on the shaping of collective memory through pop culture, memes, and AI bots that circulate the internet. Forstater received her MFA from Syracuse University and her BFA from James Madison University. Their work has been exhibited internationally and

Hickory Museum of Art in Hickory, NC, Features Works by Michael C. Thorpe

The Hickory Museum of Art in Hickory, NC, is presenting Michael C. Thorpe: NO EXPECTATIONS, on view in the Museum's Coe Gallery, through Nov. 10, 2024.

The Hickory Museum of Art's newest exhibition features work by college basketball MVP turned textile artist Michael C Thorpe. Quilting is a skill passed on intergenerationally by the matriarchs of Thorpe's family who were part of the quilting community in New England. He tells stories about his world expressed in quilts of colorful fabric, meandering stitching and printed canvas, and playful pencil and stitched drawings. Thorpe's subsequent discovery of the Gee's Bend community of women quilters in Alabama offered the artist deeper personal meaning in his chosen medium and a connection to his heritage.

The exhibition will explore the interconnectedness of Thorpe's passions - the creative process and basketball. "What happens in basketball is so parallel to what happens in art.... because you have to work so hard when nobody's watching, just for that chance to get that moment to shine - that one shot, that one show", said Michael C. Thorpe.

The Museum is collaborating with local school systems to turn education inside out by directly connecting local students with a world of opportunities. Kindergarten through High School field trip tours will focus on standards in the visual arts in global, historical, societal, and cultural contexts, along with interdisciplinary connections and life applications. The creative process will be taught as the necessary tool for pursuing one's dreams in addition to the soft and workforce-ready skills needed for success.

"Fishing" by Michael C. Thorpe

A series of events will surround and enhance the exhibit experience.

Southern Highland Craft Guild in Asheville, NC, Open New Focus Gallery Exhibition

The Southern Highland Craft Guild in Asheville, NC, is presenting Hand Over Matter, its second member-focused exhibition of the year, on view in the Focus Gallery of the Folk Art Center, located just off the Blue Ridge Parkway, through Aug. 19, 2024.

Hand Over Matter, features both traditional and contemporary craft by five members of the Guild. The colorful glass pieces on display are by Billy Berstein, the clay sculptures by Robert Milnes, marbled silk by Pam Granger Gale, polymer clay jewelry by Tamela Wells, and wood-carved sculptures by Christine Smith.

Works by Billy Berstein

Robert Milnes speaks on his work in the show, "The first four of the pieces are from a series that I did last year based on a book that was very important to me when I was struggling over those young person questions of what do I know, how do I know it, what will I do with my life, etc. I still ask those questions regularly. The book that helped me at the time was 'Tractatus Logico-Philosophicus,' by Ludwig Wittgenstein, one of the most important Western philosophers in the first half of the twentieth century. I say that it was his writings that enabled me to be an artist. The four sculptures include propositions from the book, starting with 'The world is all that is the case' and ending with 'What we cannot speak about we must pass over in silence.' I'm a material-based sculptor with an ongoing list of questions about objects, ideas, and expressions."

The Southern Highland Craft Guild is a non-profit, educational organization established in 1930 to cultivate the crafts and makers of the Southern Highlands for the purpose of shared resources, education, marketing and conservation. The Southern Highland Craft Guild is an authorized concessioner of the National Park Service, Department of the Interior. The Folk Art Center is located at Milepost 382 of the Blue Ridge Parkway, just north of the Highway 70 entrance in east Asheville, NC.

77th Summer Edition Craft Fair of the Southern Highlands Crafts Guild Takes Place in Asheville, NC - July 18 - 21, 2024

For four days each July and October, Harrah's Cherokee Center in Asheville, NC, comes to life with functional and decorative crafts made in the Southern Highland region. Over one hundred artists, makers, and craftspeople will fill the two-level building to sell their works of pottery, sculpture, furniture, tapestry, apparel, mixed media, jewelry, and more. The event takes place from July 18 through 21, 2024, Thur.-Sun., from 10am-5pm. Admission: Adults $12, children under 12 free.

Unlike other fairs, the Craft Fair of the Southern Highlands is an experience, a place to show off the talent and innovation of regional makers. It is diverse: crafts rooted in Appalachian traditions are featured alongside contemporary works. Walking through the Craft Fair, visitors witness the evolution of American craft objects, learning how traditional processes can capture the modern world through the artist's medium. The focus of the fairs is on the process of craft, often lost in a highly mechanized and digital world; the work of the hand-iron is hammered to become a fireplace tool, and splints of white oak are harvested to become a basket. This theme is reflected throughout the fair with live interactive demonstrations where visitors can learn processes from highly-trained craftspeople. Over the weekend, regional musicians perform on the downstairs stage. Visitors to the fair will have the opportunity to win a piece of fine craft from one of the exhibitors by entering to win the raffle; all proceeds go towards the Southern Highland

Crafts Fair of the Southern Highlands

Craft Guild's educational mission.

Since 1948, the Craft Fair of the Southern Highlands has showcased work by members of the Southern Highland Craft Guild, (SHCG) a non-profit organization dedicated to keeping crafts alive and relevant in modern times. Having been accepted into the Guild through a rigorous jury process, the artists at the fair represent the finest in the Appalachian region. Membership to the SHCG is open to craftspeople, makers, and artists living in the mountain counties of nine states from Maryland to Alabama. To apply online and learn more, visit (craftguild.org/join). E-mail (mentoring@craftguild.org) to register for a Mentoring Workshop to prepare for the jury process. For the first time in the history of the SHCG, applicants can purchase a booth to sell and have their work juried at the fair.

Asheville, NC, nestled in the Blue Ridge Mountains, provides the perfect setting for the Craft Fair. Long known as an arts and crafts destination, Asheville offers architectural charm, eclectic restaurants, and a wide

Pink Dog Creative in Asheville, NC, Features Works by Lou Ella Tucker

Pink Dog Creative in Asheville, NC, will present Story / Place, featuring works by Lou Ella Tucker, on view in the Pink Dog Gallery, from July 19 through Sept. 22, 2024. A reception will be held on July 20, from 5-8pm.

As a professional interior designer for 35 years, Lou Ella Tucker interacted intimately with the nuances of spaces. Her curiosity of how spaces influence us and how we influence them, has led her to record their unique stories of humanity around the world. By layering images into 3-dimensional structures through folding, weaving and/or sewing, new perspectives emerge.

Asheville's Gallery of the Mountains Celebrates 40 Years! This July

Asheville, NC's Gallery of the Mountains is celebrating 40 years! They will mark this milestone anniversary by hosting a customer appreciation weekend on July 27 and 28, 2024, from 10am to 5pm, where guests can enjoy local artist demonstrations, complimentary wine (while supplies last), and pick up unique gallery items at a 10% discount.

Founded in 1984 by Jim and Jane LaFerla, Gallery of the Mountains is more than just a gallery. It's a testament to the artistic spirit of the Southern Appalachian region. After the LaFerlas' retirement in 2004, the gallery's ownership was passed on to Asheville natives Barbara Blomberg, Marilyn Blomberg Patton, and S.M. "Buddy" Patton. Today, their family continues the tradition of supporting local artists and connecting people to the region's rich craft heritage.

Paintings by Bryan Koontz

The gallery is nestled within the Omni Grove Park Inn, a hotel that boasts the largest public collection of American Arts & Crafts style furnishings in the world. Opened in 1913, the hotel was built by the legendary E.W. Grove and is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. It has become a present-day mecca for Arts & Crafts enthusiasts who travel from across the country to attend the National Arts & Crafts Conference hosted there annually.

For four decades, Gallery of the Mountains has celebrated Appalachia's inherent artistic talent. It's an ideal destination for tourists looking for special gifts and souvenirs, but it also appeals greatly to locals looking to pay homage to their hometown. The gallery currently represents around 70 artists and craftspeople and showcases a wide range of work, including artisan-made jewelry, ceramic tableware, baskets, blown glass, handwoven scarves, and much more. All of the gallery's handmade collections are responsibly made in small American studios, minimizing their environmental footprint and providing customers with a sense of satisfaction and pride in their purchases.

Works by Blackberry Creek Pottery

Bryan Koontz, a local artist tracing his ancestry to Western North Carolina in the late 1700s, will be one of the artists demonstrating during the gallery's anniversary celebration weekend. His deep appreciation for mountain culture, heritage, and scenery is evident in his paintings, which often begin en plein air and are finished in the studio. Beyond his fine art paintings, Koontz's portfolio includes pen and ink drawings for the Mast General Store and book illustrations for Nadia Dean. Notably, he was chosen to design the Biltmore Estate's Christmas wine labels in 2018 and did the recent artwork for the Biltmore Masterpiece Collection White and Rosé Wines.

Another demonstrating artist will be Kathleen Doyle. She and her husband, Tom Reardon, are known for their unique artisan jewelry that marries gold, sterling, mixed metals, and gemstones. Their "Pisgah View" mountain rings are a highly favored item among customers.

Gallery of the Mountains believes that the future is local, and by supporting American makers, we are investing money back into the communities where we live. The gallery is grateful for all the wonderful artists they have represented over the years and for the continued support of the Asheville community.

NC Pottery Center in Seagrove, NC, Offers Two New Exhibitions

The North Carolina Pottery Center in Seagrove, NC, is presenting two new exhibitions including: SOMETHING'S AFOOT, featuring footed pottery pieces, on view in the Center's Main Gallery, through Dec. 15, 2024 and HUMBLE COMPONENTS, an exhibit illustrating the simple components which go into the creation of pottery works, on view in the Center's Back Gallery, through Dec. 15, 2024.

Footed pottery pieces, sometimes even having literal feet, have a rich history dating back thousands of years and have been found at archaeological sites in ancient Mesopotamia, Egypt, Greece, Rome, China, Mesoamerica, and Medieval & Renaissance Europe, as well as other places. Adding feet or stands to pottery pieces emerged over time for various reasons, including increased functionality, cultural and religious symbology, ceremonial purposes, and enhanced aesthetics. Today, footed pottery continues to be crafted by artisans worldwide, both as functional objects and works of art.

Ceramic ladies heels by Laura Perry of Asheville, NC.

Our Something's Afoot show will feature footed pieces by fourteen of our state's wonderful potters! For this show, "footed" means having two or more points of contact with the ground.

The exhibition HUMBLE COMPONENTS, shows that when you break it down (not literally!), pottery, the product of a craft that likely originated independently in multiple regions around the world thousands of years ago and continues to be practiced in North Carolina today, is really just composed of humble components - clay and various minerals and elements.

In our Humble Components show, you'll see old and contemporary pieces representing various North Carolina traditions and techniques: Native American pit-fired, slip-decorated redware, salt-glazed, alkaline-glazed, wood ash-glazed, Chinese blue, crystalline, and chrome red, next to samples of the humble components from which some of those pieces were made.

The North Carolina Pottery Center is a dynamic and engaging place where people of all backgrounds, ages, and interests discover the beauty and the stories behind North Carolina's world-class clay culture.

We are the first stop for visitors arriving in Seagrove and a place to which people will return to learn about North Carolina pottery. Visitors enjoy the beauty of our campus and are delighted by our interior spaces. We provide them with information about ceramic artists in the local area and throughout the state, and we are a gateway through which visitors enhance their appreciation of North Carolina's clay culture.

We tell these stories through excellent exhibitions and visual and participatory multimedia, as well as by providing experiential and educational opportunities. Our research and documentation focus on the concepts and themes necessary to support our exhibitions and programming, deepening our understanding of our state's clay culture.

We are conscientious advocates for North Carolina's potters and North Carolina pottery.

In 1963, a group of friends and acquaintances gathered around a kitchen table to discuss their love of crafts. From that first conversation came Piedmont Craftsmen - a guild of crafts artists and crafts collectors whose devotion to the handmade object and ties to the heritage of craft work in the region have spanned several generations. At its beginning, Piedmont Craftsmen created the guidelines for a juried exhibiting membership, educated the public to fine crafts

Florence County Museum in Florence, SC. Offers Exhibition Celebrating Ten Years in Its Current Location

A new exhibition titled Recollect is now on view in the Florence County Museum's Education Gallery in Florence, SC, and will be on display through Dec. 12, 2024.

Celebrating 10 years in its current location and almost 100 years as an institution, Recollect describes the history of the museum. The exhibition takes a closer look at its earliest acquisitions and asks the viewer to consider how the museum has changed over time.

Historical objects and images chronicle the past, present and future of the museum's work, including the role of museum founder Jane Beverly Evans and her vision.

View of the "Recollect" exhibition

Through her travels, Evans met Kenneth Chapman, one of the first employees of the Museum of New Mexico. The catalyst of the Florence County Museum's formation as an institution was the purchase of a Southwestern Pottery Collection under Chapman's care. On display are color reproductions of Chapman's Pueblo Indian Pottery illustrations and select pieces from the initial purchase by Evans. Viewers are invited to consider their meaning and significance. A magnetic wall featuring pottery sherds is available for younger viewers to explore.

An exhibition take-home booklet describing Southwestern pottery forms, related vocabulary and reflective questions is available at no cost. Gallery narratives are available in English audio and Spanish text on the museum website.

Programming related to this exhibition includes Summer Camps, Fall Family Days and a museum anniversary weekend Oct. 11-12, 2024.

This exhibition is supported by SC Humanities. The mission of SC Humanities is to enrich the cultural and intellectual lives of all South Carolinians. Established in 1973, this 501(c)3 organization is governed by a volunteer Board of Directors comprised of community leaders from throughout the state. It presents and supports literary initiatives, lectures, exhibits, festivals, publications, oral history projects, videos, and other humanities-based experiences that directly or indirectly reach more than 250,000 citizens annually. South Carolina Humanities receives funding from the National Endowment for the Humanities as well as corporate, foundation and individual donors. # Francis Marion University in Florence, SC, Features Works by Jessica Willis

Francis Marion University in Florence, SC, is presenting Written in Moments by Jessica Willis, on view in the Kassab Gallery, at the Hyman Fine Arts Center, through Aug. 10, 2024.

This show focuses on how the stories we hold within ourselves from childhood and into adulthood affect the choices we make and how we choose to tell the narrative of our own story. It explores the idea that every epic tale is written in a series of tiny moments that are hard to discern in real time but become clear in hindsight. The images are shadowy and playful and are pulled from both folk and fairy tale origins on the outer perimeter of the gallery, and from personal experience in the center space.

Work by Jessica Willis

"We learn the value and process of narrative from the stories around us, often starting with fairy tales and epic quests. When applying the art of storytelling to our own lives we find that the epic is made up of a thousand tiny moments. Moments where we find meaning, or where meaning finds us," says Willis.

Willis is an SC born and based artist who works across disciplines and mediums but is always interested in one thing. The story, and how it's told.

Burroughs - Chapin Art Museum in Myrtle Beach, SC, Offers Exhibition Focused on Money

The Franklin G. Burroughs-Simeon B. Chapin Art Museum in Myrtle Beach, SC, is presenting Cultural Currency: Contemporary Art from the Riemer Collection, featuring works by 38 artists exploring the many aspects and conceptions of money, on view through Sept. 22, 2024.

Depending on one's perspective, money is either the thing that makes the world go 'round, or the root of all evil. It can bring power, status, security, comfort or misery - or something completely different. In a new exhibition 38 artists explore the many aspects and conceptions of money by fashioning actual items of currency into 65 works of art - some whimsical, some cynical, all thought-provoking.

The constant exchange of money for goods and services is an essential part of life, whether for luxury purchases like entertainment and travel or for essential items like food and shelter. Yet while we all are intimately aware of the exchange value of money, we rarely think about the actual, physical forms of currency. Here, the artists make use of globally sourced paper and coin currency combined with mixed media to create intricate, often exquisite, and visually arresting works of art that offer new and unexpected impressions of this medium of exchange.

Marcella Lassen, "Wall Street Burger", 2020, mixed media, 9 x 13.5 x 14.5 inches, photo by Shaun Roberts.

The collection is the passion of Davis Riemer and Louise Rothman-Riemer, investment advisers from Oakland, CA, who began collecting money-themed art in 1995 to encourage new attitudes toward money's intrinsic value. As collector Davis Riemer states, "The point of it all is to provoke thought about why people want and use money and why they want more. Our hope is that people will see these works of art and walk away with questions about themselves and money."

Artworks range from exquisitely crafted items to those that elicit outright belly laughs - like a mock-up of a designer high-heeled shoe fashioned entirely from cash or a sculpture of a hamburger featuring dollar bills as the "lettuce" in the burger. Or consider a portrait in which the subjects are clothed in currency, or an item of jewelry forged from multiple coins welded together.

While inspiring reactions from amusement to philosophical thought, the exhibition offers a perfect jumping-off point for discussions between parents and children about their perhaps already-formed ideas about the importance of money in their lives.

As collector Louise Rothman-Riemer reminds us, while money is really just paper and coins, "It is what people want . . . and it becomes what people bring to it."

Cultural Currency: Contemporary Art from the Riemer Collection was organized by Bedford Gallery at the Leshner Center for the Arts, Walnut Creek, CA.

Also currently on display at the Museum, through Sept. 1, is Richard Segalman: Ebb & Flow.

The Arts Council of Wayne County in Goldsboro, NC, will present Tales Among Old Threads, featuring a solo exhibition of works by Wonky Star Studios' Greg Hausler, from July 23 through Aug. 23, 2024. An Artist Talk will be offered on July 27, from 6-8pm. A reception will be held on Aug. 2, from 6-8pm, and Lunch with the Artist will be offered on Aug. 10, from 12:30-1:30pm.

Hausler offers the following statement, "I paint on canvases composed of discarded clothing, fabric scraps, and found objects, then layer them with obscene amounts of latex paint. It's my nature to squeeze every ounce of usefulness out of everything I own, like using an old t-shirt I love but is too worn to wear. Even the paint I use is often mis-tints or the dregs of cans and tubes. I think about the theme for the work only after the textiles have bonded to the canvas. The challenge of painting on an uneven surface helps push the creative process into unexpected directions. This technique is something I have been refining since the 1980s."

forms. I enjoy using these materials because they already come with their own history. I add to the arc of those stories by taking them in new directions; hence Tales Among Old Threads."

Greg Hausler was born in New York but raised in Kansas where he graduated from Kansas State University with a Bachelor of Fine Arts in painting. During his time at college, he developed his signature technique of using articles of clothing and other textiles instead of linen canvas for his mixed-media abstract paintings.

His non-traditional use of painting media is influenced by Marcel Duchamp and street artists while his painting technique draws inspiration from Jackson Pollock and Claude Monet resulting in a style of work that is uniquely his own.

Hausler has had exhibitions in Greensboro, High Point, and Wilson, NC; in California and Kansas; and Belgrade, Serbia and Athens, Greece.

Artwork purchases can be made on-site during the show with a portion of each sale going to benefit the Arts Council of Wayne County.

The Arts Council of Wayne County is located on W. Walnut Street, at the intersection of James and Walnut in downtown Goldsboro, NC.

For further information check our NC Institutional Gallery listings, call the Council at 919/947-0009 or visit (<https://www.artsinwayne.org>).

Work by Greg Hausler

"As a teenager, I was only interested in pursuing a career as an electrical engineer. I painted solely for emotional relief. It wasn't until I was a junior in college that I decided to earn a degree in painting and drop the academic pursuit of becoming an engineer," adds Hausler. "That would be the first time I had taken a formal art class even though I had already been painting for years."

"People often ask me, 'Why paint on clothing and fabric instead of traditional canvas?' I believe that truly creative people understand that making art takes many

Arts Council of Carteret County in Morehead City, NC, Offers Exhibit Honoring Jane McConlogue

The Arts Council of Carteret County in Morehead City, NC, is presenting Beaches, Shores, and Scapes, judged by Christine Provard of New Bern, sponsored in memory of Carolina Artist Gallery Co-Founder, "Sea Jane" (Jane McConlogue), on view through July 27, 2024.

In pursuit of excellence for every art show opening, the ACCC and CAG collectively provide community businesses and individuals the opportunity to sponsor art shows and other events throughout the year. This particular art show, Beaches, Shores, and Scapes is sponsored by an anonymous donor in memory of Jane McConlogue, who passed away at the age of 91 in 2021.

A co-founder of the Carolina Artist Gallery, along with her close friends and fellow-artists, Freda Kyle, Cindy Donahue, Judy Goff, and Jean Davis, "Sea Jane" (as Jane McConlogue was called by all who knew her and loved her) established a place to gather, to paint, and to learn. They learned from one another and opened the doors in 1997 to collaborate with other community artists of every age and background.

A mentor to a great number of community citizens, Sea Jane was very passionate about the arts--and the outdoors. If not painting, she was "gone fishing." Whether sitting with her brush in front of a canvas or sitting in a boat casting a line - she was at peace. Sea Jane loved observing the local, natural habitat and getting to know the people of Carteret County. In that light, we celebrate the life of Sea Jane through the entire run of Beaches, Shores, and Scapes.

The Arts Council of Carteret County and the Carolina Artist Gallery thank the anonymous donor for supporting this celebration that recognizes the talent of so many local artists. More than 100 pieces of art have been submitted to this show. With the sponsorship donation, the ACCC and CAG are able to open the art center's doors to many guests. Each person would have been welcomed and loved by Sea Jane. We sincerely thank the donor for this beautiful gift.

The theme of the show is certainly a favorite, given the local environmental surroundings and the beauty of Carteret County. Entries represent beautiful acrylic and oil paintings, along with amazing 3-dimensional art and photography. This show is so overwhelming with diverse creativity that it's a challenge to pick a favorite. However, that's what the art show judge must do. Judging for this expansive show will be completed by Christine Provard of New Bern.

Provard is a well-known seascape artist with her coastal landscapes and depictions of local wildlife reflecting love for her adopted coastal home of eastern North Carolina.

Originally from Ohio, Provard retired from a career in nursing in 2017 and relocated to New Bern with her husband Rick in 2018. Together they spend time exploring the Eastern coastline, where she finds inspiration for her art at the "water's edge."

A member of the North Carolina Watercolor Society, and the North Carolina and Coastal Carolina Plein Air groups, she has exhibited her work throughout North Carolina and Ohio. In addition to watercolor, she enjoys exploring creativity in oils and mixed media.

Provard's work is available at the Bank of the Arts and Ballantyne's Art and Framing in New Bern, at the Core Sound Waterfowl Museum and Heritage Center in Morehead City/Harkers Island, and at the Community Council for the Arts in Kinston, NC. Provard is also a popular local watercolor instructor and is available for commissions.

5: Five Years of Acquisitions celebrates the work of some of the biggest names in the history of Western art as well as some of the most exciting and emerging artists from our area and across the country. This exhibition features Cameron Art Museum's new acquisitions from over the past five years. Artists featured include: Rick Beck, Alexander Calder, Marc Chagall, Judy Chicago, Willie Cole, Karen Padon Crouch, Salvador Dali, Phil Freelon, Clarence Heyward, Henri Matisse, Robert Motherwell, Ben Owen III, Pablo Picasso, Alison Saar, Rosalia Torres-Weiner, Burk Uzzle, and Andy Warhol, among others.

Alexander Calder (American, 1898 - 1976) "Sunburst", c. 1973, Lithograph on paper, Collection of Cameron Art Museum, Gift of Bob and Bobbi Fitzsimmons

Much of this work has been acquired through the generosity of our donor community including Return of the Butterfly, 2012 by artist Judy Chicago (American, b. 1939). This work was recently acquired by our Compass members at their annual acquisition dinner in February. This new exhibition sheds light on what's new to the museum's permanent collection and CAM is thrilled to share these new works with the community.

Cameron Art Museum provides a cultural gathering place that enriches the lives of museum visitors and the community through high-quality exhibitions, lifelong learning in the arts, dynamic public programs, and stewardship and interpretation of the collection. CAM's four core values: commitment to community, to lifelong learning in the arts, to support of artists, and to collecting, preserving, documenting and interpreting a permanent collection of art. The museum has been a collecting institution since inception, with approximately 4,000 objects in the permanent collection, with a primary and growing focus on modern art. The collection includes work by artists of national and international significance, used in changing thematic exhibitions, loan exhibitions, and for educational purposes. Cameron Art Museum is a non-profit fully reliant on the generosity of its donors.

Cary Art Center in Cary, NC, Offers Works by Christine Hager-Braun

The Cary Art Center in Cary, NC, will present Shared Experiences: Making the Invisible Visible, a solo exhibition of fiber art by Christine Hager-Braun, on view in the Cary Arts Center Gallery, from July 17 through Aug. 24, 2024. An artist reception is scheduled during Cary's Last Friday Art Walk on July 26, from 6-8pm with an artist talk at 7pm.

The exhibition is a compilation of abstract line art sewn from fabric and thread. The inspiration for these fiber art pieces is rooted in the artist's own history but more so in the stories shared by others about their experiences with mental health problems, chronic illness, or invisible disabilities. Yet Hager-Braun's work does not focus on the pain, the darkness or the isolation but instead emphasizes the resilience, perseverance, compassion, and hope witnessed in the narratives.

Work by Christine Hager-Braun

By sewing together a multitude of brightly colored, soft fabric strips the artist reflects on the many lessons she has learned through these shared experiences.

flict, hope and despair – Hager-Braun's art often has a juxtaposition of light and dark colors. But as there is rarely a clear-cut path through life, the shapes in her work do not have hard edges. Instead, they are only an approximation, a best effort, the deliberate embrace of imperfection.

Using her voice as an artist, Hager-Braun strives to normalize the conversation about emotional well-being, chronic illness and invisible disabilities. The artist aims to inspire the viewer to engage in this dialogue, reach out for help when needed, become an ally, and find visual encouragement through her art.

CAM Raleigh in Raleigh, NC, Features Works by Zaire Miles-Moultrie

The Contemporary Art Museum Raleigh in Raleigh, NC, is presenting works by Zaire Miles-Moultrie, on view through Sept. 8, 2024.

Zaire Miles-Moultrie offers the following statement, "Through the timeless act of printmaking and the intricate process of collaging, I embark on a journey of reappropriation, enhancement, and empowerment; breathing new life into images of the past to resonate powerfully in the present. My artistic practice revolves around the fusion of disparate elements, forging connections between the historical and the contemporary, the personal and the collective."

"Rooted deeply in my own experience with blackness and spirituality; my collages become portals to explore the complexities of identity and memory. Each meticulously cut, stitch, and layer are a deliberate act of storytelling, weaving together threads of history, culture, and emotion."

"Through the work, I evoke the sense of otherworldly, where the familiar becomes enigmatic and the mundane becomes mystical," adds Miles-Moultrie. "My work serves as both a reflection and a reinterpretation of narratives that shape our understanding of self and society; It is a celebration of resilience, and a testament to the enduring power of printmaking to provoke thought, stir emotion, and ignite change."

"By embracing the transformative potential of collage, I embrace the notion that every cut piece carries with it the potential to rewrite history, to reclaim agency, and to reimagine the world anew. I invite dialogue, foster empathy, and challenge perceptions, ultimately striving to cultivate a more inclusive and equitable future for all."

Zaire Miles-Moultrie is a Black artist based in Greensboro, NC, whose creative journey is a testament to the profound impact of identity and culture on artistic expression. With a diverse array of mediums at his disposal, including drawing, collaging, and printmaking, he intricately weaves together elements of history, spirituality, and personal experience to explore the complex and surreal nature of blackness and life. Zaire's work has been featured in numerous exhibitions and galleries throughout the region and country, captivating audiences with its emotive power and thought-provoking themes. Currently, he is pursuing a BFA in studio art concentrating in printmaking and drawing.

Hillsborough Gallery of Arts in Hillsborough, NC, Features Works by Ellie Snow and Lynn Wartski

Hillsborough Gallery of Arts in Hillsborough, NC, will present Natural Patterns: Flora and Fauna, featuring works by Ellie Snow and Lynn Wartski, on view from July 23 through Aug. 25, 2024. A reception during Hillsborough's Last Friday Art Walk on July 26th from 6-9pm.

For painter Ellie Snow, painting is an escape, a window into a fairy tale world where she can ponder the beauty and complexity of life, and the stories that repeat themselves, like patterns, through time.

Snow's artworks begin with nature photographs taken while exploring. "At home, I collage, edit, and make double exposures to create a scene that is playful and mysterious. I think of each painting as an introduction to a story about life's fits and starts, imperfection, darkness, light, magic, weirdness, and beauty."

Snow loves the plants she paints, but is equally interested in the real and imagined history of where they grow and the shadowy spaces surrounding them. "Are these shadow spaces a sanctuary, a refuge, a nest? Or do they draw us into some darker, more ominous place? How does perspective filter what we see and how we interpret it? In this complicated world, how can we decipher what is real and what isn't? How do we hold all this joy and grief?"

Work by Lynn Wartski

Last year artist Lynn Wartski started to treat the surface of her anthropomorphic sculptures as an additional canvas. She created animal figures that had bold flowers, nautical "tattoos", and wintery motifs on them. Liking the results, Wartski decided to carry that idea into the sculptures for this year's show - but with a twist. "Instead of just thematic or decorative elements, I began with creatures that had distinctive natural patterns, known in the fashion world as "animal prints." I altered and morphed those distinctive markings. What emerged is a rather unique menagerie. Among them are a "tie dyed" giraffe, a paisley pony, and a "zentangled" zebra."

In a piece titled Yuri, Wartski paid homage to a dear friend, a writer and quilt artist, by creating a wall hanging sea turtle. The turtle's shell appears to be a crazy quilt of felted sections and fabric from Yuri's quilt stash. A different type of natural pattern, a life cycle, is honored in her sculpture Brood XIX. This cicada with a megaphone recalls the multiple weeks of this late spring that had an insect driven soundtrack.

Some Exhibits That Are Still On View

Our policy at Carolina Arts is to present a press release about an exhibit only once and then go on, but many major exhibits are on view for months. This is our effort to remind you of some of them.

A view of the installation, "Precious Things" by Janet Orselli

Tryon Arts & Crafts School at Harmon Field in Tryon, NC, is presenting two exhibitions including: Illustration, Glancing Back, a solo exhibition featuring original works by renowned illustrator Kevin Sprouls and the unveiling of Janet Orselli's highly anticipated site-specific art installation, Precious Things. Both exhibits will be on view through July 19, 2024. Janet Orselli's Precious Things installation creates an immersive experience, inviting the viewer into two distinct yet interconnected spaces within the gallery. Positioning TACS' movable walls, she creates the illusion of intimate rooms, prompting different modes of engagement: immersion or voyeurism. Orselli's found-object assemblages provoke contemplation on visual and conceptual dualities, encouraging the audience to explore the inherent meaning of objects and their arrangement. Orselli asks her viewers to rely on their senses, as her works encourage a slower pace, referring to a time past in which objects were cherished and made with care. For further information call the School at 828/859-8323 or visit (www.tryonartsandcrafts.org).

Work by Jim Gleason

Francis Marion University in Florence, SC, is presenting Jim Gleason: A Study in Brass, on view in the Steven F. Gately Gallery in downtown Florence, through July 26, 2024. In a quiet corner of Florence, SC, lives a man fluent in creativity who opens the doors to whimsical worlds, inviting others to join him in seeing in new ways. These are worlds that Jim Gleason creates as easily as he breathes. As a Marine veteran and professional musician, Gleason became a master technician repairing brass and woodwind instruments. Now, after decades of experience, he is intimately aware of every particle that makes up an instrument allowing it to give voice to notes on a page. When they can no longer do so, despite his best efforts, he gives them new lives as fanciful creatures and characters that flow steadily from his imagination, populating his studio, putting a smile on your face as soon as you see them. For further information call Dawn Fenimore at 843/661-4638 or e-mail to (GatelyGallery@FMarion.edu).

The NC Museum of Art in Raleigh, NC, is presenting To Take Shape and Meaning Form and Design in Contemporary American Indian Art, on view through July 28, 2024. Marsden Hartley "Earth Warming", 1932, Montgomery Museum of Fine Arts, The Blount Collection, 1989.2.15

The Columbia Museum of Art in Columbia, SC, is presenting (Un)Settled: The Landscape in American Art, on view through Sept. 8, 2024. From natural wonders to the open road, the landscape has long been a muse in American art. (Un)Settled questions the shaping of national identity through objects from the colonial era to present. The variety of media and makers helps to redefine whose view is considered and expands on landscape's relevance and resonance in art. (Un)Settled explores the rich, complicated, and evolving topic of what it means to be American. The exhibition presents historic artworks in conversation with modern and contemporary pieces to examine ideas such as defining national identity, the question of land preservation, the meaning of boundaries, the complexity of cultural landscapes, and how location shapes our sense of self. at the New Mexico Museum of Art, and features over 125 artworks organized into three sections: Inside/Out, Together/Apart, and Natural/Unnatural. Each section explores seemingly opposing forces, prompting viewers to reconsider the nuances and complexities of life. "Our brains gravitate toward hard distinctions, but life is filled with gradations, complexities, and ambiguities. The categories offer a context for considering the pictures," said Ware. "They sound like opposites, but it is up to visitors to decide if these dualities are different or part of a continuum." For further information visit (ashevilleart.org).

Blowing Rock Arts and History Museum in Blowing Rock, NC, is presenting Two Headed Diver: Lynne Hobaica & Rickie Barnett, on view in the Schaefer Gallery, through Nov. 2, 2024. Two Headed Diver: Lynn Hobaica and Rickie Barnett is an exhibition in three entangled parts, featuring the individual yet mutually-informed studio practices of Lynne Hobaica, Rickie Barnett, and their collaborative work under the moniker "Two Headed Diver." Their characters - often simultaneously fantastic and mundane - are produced through a heady concoction of personal myth-making, morality tale, and a distinct sense of New

Charleston

Avery Research Center for African History and Culture, at the College of Charleston, 125 Bull St., Charleston. Ongoing - Exhibits on view include: "Since 1920: Zeta Phi Beta Centennial". The Gamma Zeta chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority Incorporated presents a centennial exhibit filled with the rich history of the sorority in print and paraphernalia. Visitors can see in-depth the programming, philanthropy and reach of Zeta Phi Beta during their 100 years. "The Water Keeps Rising" Hip-hop artist and activist Benny Starr has created an interactive exhibit based on data from the Avery's State of Racial Disparities Report in Charleston County. This exhibit will create an immersive experience for visitors. In the areas of civic engagement, racial disparities, the environment and performance art/music, this exhibit will aim to connect the dots from historical data and archival information up to the present conditions of the Lowcountry. "Resilient". Local artist Chris "Kolpeace" Johnson will highlight the power of being resilient with this work that recognizes African Americans who have shown strength through adversity including the late local activist Muihyidin D'baha and Cyntoia Brown, who faced life in prison after being convicted of homicide as a juvenile. These pieces are tributes to memorialize the impactful strength of an unsung hero in the community, engaging the soul and spirit. "The African Origins of Mathematics". Charleston resident and artist Robert "King David" Ross highlights the direct impact Africa has had on modern mathematics in this exhibit. Showcasing the first math instrument, the Ishango bone, the exhibit allows visitors to see the influence Africa has had on every aspect of life. Admission: Free. Henry Fenn, "Live Oak on the Ashley" 1880s, etching, from "Picturesque America"

Scott Varn, "Live Oak" ink wash

City Gallery at Joseph P. Riley, Jr. Waterfront Park, 34 Pringle Street, Charleston. July 19 - Sept. 8 - "Preservation Through Art: Charleston," an exhibition that presents new interpretations by Charleston area artists of 150-year-old etchings of local vistas. A reception will be held on July 19 from 5-7pm, and an artist's talk on Aug. 10 at 2pm. Both events are free and open to the public. Imagine being an artist, asked to wander around America and paint any scene you found to be inspiring and picturesque; to create tales of adventure along with beautiful visuals to share with a nation recovering from the Civil War. This scenario became a reality in the late 1800s when Appleton Press employed prominent artists and writers to venture across the country in search of amazing natural and historic landmarks. Their stories and artwork resulted in the creation of a comprehensive travelogue publication known as Picturesque America. The artists and writers were captivated by the bountiful beauty they discovered and inadvertently became part of a new movement - one sparking the idea that we should protect these landmarks. For this exhibit, the artists have created new works to portray the original sites as they appear today. This "then and now" demonstrates if we have been good stewards of these natural and historic treasures. Hours: Wed.-Sun., noon-5pm. Contact: 843/958-6484 or (www.charleston-sc.gov/citygallery).

"Dear Dad", 2022, by Reynier Llanes (Cuban-American, b. 1985), Oil and mixed media on canvas, 60 x 40 inches. On loan courtesy of the collection of David and MaryEllen Rogers. Image ©Reynier Llanes.

Gibbes Museum of Art, 135 Meeting Street, Charleston. Gallery 2 & 3, Through Aug. 18 - "Artist Spotlight: Merton D. Simpson and William M. Halsey". Focusing intently on small groups of works, the artist spotlight series features engaging profiles of artists held in the Gibbes permanent collection. The rotating series launched with Abstract Expressionist painters, Merton D. Simpson and William M. Halsey. Both artists born and raised in South Carolina had long and successful careers in the arts - Simpson in New York and Halsey in Charleston. Galleries 8 & 9, Through Sept. 15 - "Reynier Llanes: Passages". The exhibition presents the vibrant narrative paintings of Reynier Llanes an established Cuban artist (Pinar del Rio, 1985) now based in the United States. Llanes combines and contrasts scenes from nature and daily life with a mystical and imaginative elegance. Drawing from his own memories and experience as an artist, an émigré, and an immigrant as well as his studies of literature, history, and science, Llanes's invites viewers into unique dreamworlds. His explorations of personal and societal passages, both physical and spiritual, sensitively communicate common threads in humanity. Currently living in Miami, Llanes spent 6 years working in Charleston. This exhibition pulls from the artist's recent series of large-scale oil paintings, as well as his unique coffee watercolor paintings - a style he has dubbed Espressionism.

Galleries 1, 4, and 5, Permanent Exhibition - "18th and 19th Century American Paintings and Sculpture". American paintings, from colonial portraits to Civil War-era landscapes, occupy the Gibbes Main Gallery. Portraits of leading political, social, and military figures include works by Jeremiah Theus, Henry Benbridge, Benjamin West, Gilbert Stuart, Thomas Sully and Samuel F.B. Morse. The gallery also features landscape and genre scenes by Angelica Kaufmann, Louis Mignot, Eastman Johnson, Conrad Wise Chapman, and William Aiken Walker. The paintings collection is complemented by examples of neoclassical sculpture on view in the Campbell Rotunda, and decorative art objects on loan from the Rivers Collection. Gallery 5, Permanent Exhibition - "Miniature Portraits". The first American miniature portraits were painted in Charleston, and today the Gibbes is home to one of the most prestigious portrait miniature collections in the United States. Containing more than six hundred objects, the collection spans nearly two hundred years and represents the work of over a hundred artists. Small enough to fit in the palm of the hand, these tiny portraits were treasured remembrances of loved ones in the age before photography. Presented in state-of-the-art display cases, and in viewable storage drawers featured miniatures include works by Mary Roberts, Jeremiah Theus, Henry Benbridge, Charles Wilson Peale, Pierre Henri, Edward Greene Malbone, George Engleheart, and Charles Fraser. Gallery 6, Permanent Exhibition - "20th Century American Regionalism and the Charleston Renaissance". At the turn of the twentieth century, American artists looked to their European counterparts and beyond as they developed identifiably American artistic movements. Two particularly strong influences during this time period were French Impressionism and Japanese woodblock prints. Another prevailing theme during this period was the growing interest in American subject matter. American regionalism and social realism played important roles in the development of art in Charleston, which flourished as a destination for artists, particularly during the years of 1915 to 1945 a period now known as the Charleston Renaissance. Gallery 7, Permanent Exhibition - "Modern and Contemporary". Modern and contemporary art in America encompasses a wide range of styles, subject matter, and media. As a whole, the diversity of modern and contemporary art reflects the rich and varied heritage of our nation and the lowcountry region. Works in this gallery were created over the past forty years by artists who are native to the area, who have worked here, or who have created objects that reflect the complex story of the region. The works are grouped to reflect several themes including the southern landscape, the human figure, abstraction, and the legacy of slavery in America. Museum Shop - Now offering the inventory of the Tradd Street Press, reproductions of works by Elizabeth O'Neill Verner among other exhibit related art objects. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 10am-5pm & Sun., 1-5pm. Admission: Yes. Contact: 843/722-2706 or at (www.gibbesmuseum.org).

Halsey Institute of Contemporary Art, The Marion and Wayland H. Cato Jr. Center for the Arts, College of Charleston School of the Arts, 161 Calhoun St., Charleston. Main Gallery & Exhibition Hall, Through July 20 - "Elisa Harkins: Teach Me A Song". Elisa Harkins's ongoing project, Teach Me a Song, builds on the artist's interests in translation, language preservation, and Indigenous musicology. The multifaceted work is structured on a series of exchanges, wherein she invites collaborators to teach her a song. With the recordings of these songs—which may be ceremonial, religious, rock & roll, electronic, etc.—Harkins's practice of nation to nation sharing and trading music is presented as a means of decolonizing traditions of Indigenous musicology. This exhibition is the first time the entirety of this project has been exhibited. Through July 20 - "Spandita Malik: Meshes of Resistance". Spandita Malik is a visual artist from India who is currently based in New York. Her work is concerned with the current global socio-political state of affairs with an emphasis on women's rights and gendered violence. Malik specializes in process-based work in photography, recently with photographic surface embroideries and collaborations with women in India. Malik's work in expanded documentary and social practice consciously emanates from the idea of decolonizing the eye and aesthetic surrounding documentary photography of India. Hours: Mon. - Sat., 11am-4pm; until 7pm on Thur. and by appt. Contact: 843/953-4422 or at (<http://halsey.cofc.edu/exhibitions/>).

"The Negro Motorist Green Book: 1947" from The New York Public Library Digital Collections. 1947. Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture, Manuscripts, Archives and Rare Books Division, The New York Public Library.

International African American Museum, 14 Wharfside Street, Charleston. Through Nov. 3 - "Follow the North Star: Freedom in the Age of Mobility Throughout African American History". This exhibition portrays the destination of "freedom" as it proves to be an elusive location. The search for this "promised land" has taken many forms, including travel, migration, and imagination. "Follow the North Star: Freedom in the Age of Mobility," explores this multifaceted journey through three distinct perspectives: Transportation, The Great Migration, and Spirituality/Imagination. In this multi-media exhibition, visitors will learn about historic events related to African Americans' search for freedom, as well as lesser-known forms of escape, including folklore, storytelling, and metaphysical travel. From the Montgomery bus boycotts, to Afrofuturist visions of other planets, visitors will be encouraged to see the African American journey through a renewed lens, one of possibility and agency. Ongoing - The IAAM, which sits at the site of Gadsden's Wharf - one of the nation's most prolific former slave trading ports - includes nine core exhibition galleries and a special exhibition gallery, as well as a "floating" gallery that weaves contemporary art throughout the museum. The museum will open with more than 700 artifacts dating from 17th century to contemporary objects, alongside 1000 image and media collection pieces - all of which help connect the African American journey to its roots and connections to African and African Diaspora communities and cultures. The museum also houses the Center for Family History, a world-class genealogy and ancestry resource center, which began hosting genealogy classes and workshops in 2020. Admission: Yes. In an effort to increase access and decrease obstacles

Redux Contemporary Art Center, featuring Redux Studios, 1056 King Street, Charleston. Main Gallery, Through Aug. 10 - "Creative Corridors" is the annual Redux studio artist exhibition. The 2024 theme: "Experimentation". Artists were asked to create new work and with experimentation in mind. The Annual Studio Artist Exhibition is an opportunity for Redux resident artists to showcase a sample of their work, as it relates to a specific prompt and is curated as a group exhibition in Redux's main exhibition space. Gallery 1056, Through Aug. 10 - "Hale Horstman". Drawing from her archive of nearly 40 years as a professional photographer, Hale Horstman presents her first solo art exhibition entitled Bathed In Light. In this series of black and white images taken in swimming pools in the 1990s, Hale explores her transcendental relationship to light and the magical suspension of time experienced under the surface of the water.

Lightning Resident Gallery, Through Aug. 10 - "Loose Joints," featuring works by Dylan Beckman & Joe Karlovec. Dylan Beckman is an artist from Houston, TX. She makes objects based on unreliable memories and early experiences with moral instruction, as well as found imagery and archival research. She places these fabrications within photographic compositions that speak to desires for control and manipulation. Joe Karlovec relocated from Florida to Charleston with his wife & two kids in 2023. They live in a historic church that's been retrofitted into living spaces in the North Central neighborhood near Redux. He received his BFA in Interior Architecture from the Cleveland Institute of Art, then briefly studied Landscape Architecture at Ohio State before earning his MFA in Painting at Kent State University. Ongoing - In May, 2017, Redux relocated to 1056 King Street with 38 studios, three galleries, a larger print shop, classroom, dark room, and photo studio. Hours: Tue.-Fri., 11am-4pm, or by appt. Contact: 843/722-0697 or at (www.reduxstudios.org).

The Charleston Museum, 360 Meeting Street, Charleston. Founded in 1773, is America's first museum. Historic Textiles Gallery, Through Sept. 15 - "The Art of Abstraction: Modernism in Quilting". Quilting has always been a means of creative expression, uniting color and pattern to form an object of purpose. Just as paint on canvas functions, the fabric pieces often work as artistic parameters, testing the visual acuity and imagination of the individual. We are pleased to announce a collaborative exhibition with the Gibbes Museum of Art in which abstract artwork will be displayed alongside the Museum's quilts to showcase the artistic beauty of both mediums. Lowcountry Image Gallery, Ongoing - "A Historical Timeline of America's First Museum: 1773 - 2023". This timeline highlights the rich history of The Charleston Museum from its beginning to the present. Selected events from the past 250 years are showcased using iconic photographs from the Museum's Archives. The forebear of The Charleston Museum was founded on January 12, 1773, by members of the Charleston Library Society, when South Carolina was still a British colony. Although the form and substance of the institution has changed over two and a half centuries, its general purpose at the time of its creation - to educate - is still central to its mission today. Throughout its history, the Museum has experienced wars, natural disasters, and most recently a worldwide pandemic, yet it has continued to thrive. Today, The Charleston Museum houses more than 2.4 million objects, and each year over 100,000 people, from around the world and from all walks of life, come here to learn. We invite you to enjoy this timeline highlighting selected events from the Museum's rich past, from its beginning to the present, with iconic images from the Museum's Archives. Ongoing - Featuring the most extensive collection of South Carolina cultural and scientific collections in the nation, it also owns two National Historic Landmark houses, the Heyward-Washington House (1772) and the Joseph Manigault House (1803), as well as the Dill Sanctuary, a 580-acre wildlife preserve. Admission: Yes. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 9am-5pm & through the Summer months, Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 843/722-2996 or at (www.charlestonmuseum.org).

Columbia Area

Marsden Hartley "Earth Warming", 1932, Montgomery Museum of Fine Arts, The Blount Collection, 1989.2.15

Columbia Museum of Art, Main & Hampton Streets, Columbia. Through Sept. 8 - "(Un) Settled: The Landscape in American Art". From natural wonders to the open road, the landscape has long been a muse in American art. "(Un) Settled" questions the shaping of national identity through objects from the colonial era to present. The variety of media and makers helps to redefine whose view is considered and expands on landscape's relevance and resonance in art. "(Un)Settled" explores the rich, complicated, and evolving topic of what it means to be American. The exhibition presents historic artworks in conversation with modern and contemporary pieces to examine ideas such as defining national identity, the question of land preservation, the meaning of boundaries, the complexity of cultural landscapes, and how location shapes our sense of self. Building upon noted Hudson River School paintings, "(Un)Settled" features works by artists including: Fidelity Bridges, Marsden Hartley, Georgia O'Keeffe, Benny Andrews, William Christenberry, Ana Mendieta, Ed Ruscha, Jeffrey Gibson, and Jacqueline Bishop. Through 40 artworks including examples of material culture such as furniture, glass, ceramics, and baskets, the exhibition highlights the evolving conversations around landscape and its relationship to establishing cultural and national identity over the last two centuries. Through Jan. 1, 2025 - "The Collection". Come see the newly organized collection. We've gathered ancient and modern works of art, together in one space, that explore our shared archetypes, myths, and ideals. Through Feb. 2, 2025 - "Constantine Manos: A Greek Portfolio". Born in Columbia to Greek immigrant parents in 1934, Constantine Manos traveled to Greece in the early 1960s, where he photographed the everyday lives of villagers over a period of three years. The resulting body of work, first published in 1972 as A Greek Portfolio, solidified the photographer's reputation and quickly earned international recognition. In 1978, he donated 50 of those prints to the Columbia Museum of Art, a selection of which is on view in this exhibition. Manos' account captures the beauty, simplicity, and hardships of rural Greek life with the sensitivity of one with familial ties to that country. In intimate images exploring love, loss, faith, and family, the artist prompts reflection on the nature of human relationships and the connections between land and labor. Galleries 5 & 6, Ongoing - "Modern & Contemporary Art from the Collection". Celebrating some of the CMA's greatest hits, this exhibition features over 30 paintings, drawings, photographs and sculptures from the Museum's collection that have not been on view recently. It offers the visitor experiences both serious and sensual and is designed to both entertain and enlighten. Notable works included are by Jasper Johns, Howard Thomas, Sally Mann and Edward Ruscha, whose famous image of the Hollywood Hills (on view) has become a staple of the art world. Ray Taylor Fair Gallery, Ongoing - Featuring a new and permanent installation of its ancient art collection. The installation includes approximately 50 objects that introduce the major ancient civilizations from the Mediterranean and Near East. Examples of the earliest form of writing from 12th century B.C. Mesopotamia, are shown next to Egyptian scarabs and Greek painted vessels. The world of the ancient Romans is represented by 2nd century glass and bronze items and portrait sculpture. Many of these works have not been seen since the Museum moved to its location on Main Street in 1998. The collection has grown over the last several years with the donation of 12 fine Roman sculptures in 2002 from Pennsylvania collector Dr. Robert Y. Turner. Admission: Yes, but there is no admission charge on Sun. Free admission through Labor Day - The Columbia Museum of Art has been selected to participate in Art Bridges Foundation's Access for All program, a transformative, three-year funding initiative aimed at increasing access to museums across America and fostering engagement with local audiences. Through this generous support, the CMA is launching Free Summer at the CMA, a new endeavor that offers all residents of South Carolina free general admission to the museum from. Hours: Tue.-Sun., from 10am-5pm. Contact: 803/799-2810 or at (www.columbiamuseum.org).

Ernest A. Finney, Jr. Cultural Arts Center, 1510 Laurens Street, Columbia. Ongoing - The Ernest A. Finney, Jr. Cultural Arts Center, a 501c3 organization located at 1510 Laurens Street, Columbia, South Carolina, (formerly the Southern Electric building) officially opened in the summer of 2022. This new center is home to African American culture, art, and expression. It is also a long-awaited gathering place for community conversations. The new center is in the historic Robert Mills district and just across from the historic Waverly Community, and a stone's throw from the one-hundred-year-old railroad tracks that have long defined small-town southern life in America. The focus of this Cultural Arts Center is on the making of art, the keeping of community, living Black history, and the ongoing generational celebration of music, visual art, poetry, dance, theatre, the culinary arts, and other community building and life sustaining activities. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 9am-4pm & Sun., noon-4pm. Contact: e-mail at (finneyjrccac@gmail.com) or visit (finneyjrccac.com).

McKissick Museum, University of South Carolina, USC Horseshoe, Columbia. North Gallery, second floor, Through July 17 - "From Earth to Art: Alkaline Glazed Pottery in the American Southeast". The exhibit highlights the rich legacy of stoneware masterpieces in McKissick Museum's permanent collection. The exhibition is a travel through time and tradition. A selection of functional wares made by southern hands between the 1840s and early 2000s are featured. Each object is a celebration of the distinctiveness of its maker and the artistry of the applied glaze. This exhibition was curated by Abby Rivers, an art history major and former McKissick Museum intern. Ongoing - "Highlights from the Permanent Collections of McKissick Museum". Permanent - "Baruch Silver Collection," a collection of the Baruch family silver. Diana Farfan, "Linthead", 2022, Ceramic, mixed media, 30 x 20 x 20 inches, part of the Mill District Public Art Trail

Mill District Public Art Trail (MDPAT), throughout the Whaley, Olympia and Granby neighborhoods, known as Columbia, SC's Mill District, Columbia. Ongoing - The MDPAT was conceived as a project in 2017 by 701 Center for Contemporary Art board and staff to connect the three neighborhoods through a creative endeavor. The inaugural works on the trail were created by 11 South Carolina artists - collaborators David Cianni (Aiken) and Anna Redwine (Columbia), Diana Farfan (Greenville), Susan Lenz (Columbia), Robert Lyon (Columbia), Doug McAbee (Greenwood), Philip Moody (Rock Hill), Carey Morton (Charleston), Jordan Sheridan (Columbia), Brittany Watkins (Columbia), and Fletcher Williams III (Charleston). The works on the Mill District Public Art Trail invite us to explore the art and highlight the unique character of the distinctive neighborhoods within the Mill District. Part of this journey is discovering art in unexpected and surprising spaces. It is also an indication of the ongoing transformation taking place in this historically important community. photographs by Byron Baldwin, the exhibition highlights the story of the 521 All-Stars team of Rembert, SC, a Black baseball team with roots going back to the 1920s. Named for Hwy 521, which runs past their baseball field, the 521 All-Stars play for the love of the game and the pride and solidarity it brings. Featuring more than 40 framed black and white photographs taken during the team's 1996-1997 season, 521 All-Stars depicts baseball in its purest form: scrap metal bases, rotten wood bleachers, teams made up of brothers, fathers, sons and, most importantly, fellowship within the community. Ongoing - The South Carolina State Museum, the state's largest and most comprehensive museum, is located along the banks of the beautiful Congaree River in downtown Columbia, South Carolina. Founded in 1988, the State Museum is the primary storyteller of the history of South Carolina. Through rich and diverse collections displayed through interactive and engaging exhibitions, the State Museum strives to honor the groundbreaking nature of its setting, providing both residents and visitors an in-depth picture of the state's past, present and future. There is much to see and do every day at the State Museum through a variety of exhibitions and educational programs both offered at the museum and through distance learning programs, as well as through entertaining community events of all kind. The Crescent Café, second floor mezzanine of the Museum. The house menu offers a variety of baked goods, juices, coffee, hot chocolate and tea. Lunchtime offerings include deli sandwiches and alternating daily soups, as well as grilled chicken salads and sandwiches. And let's not forget the house specialty: spectacular fudge, handmade on-site. Admission: Yes. The South Carolina State Museum is proud to be part of the Blue Star Museums initiative, a national appreciation program to thank our military families for their service and share with them America's cultural treasures. As a part of Blue Star Museums, active military and their families are invited to enjoy free general admission to the South Carolina State Museum from Armed Forces Day, through Labor Day, Sept. 2, 2024. ## Florence

View of "Recollect" exhibition

Florence County Museum, 111 West Cheves Street, across the street from the Francis Marion University Performing Arts Center, Florence. Through Dec. 1 - "Kindred Spirit: The Personal Worlds of William H. Johnson". William H. Johnson (1901 - 1970) was a man between worlds: raised in the rural South, but educated in New York; black, but his unknown father was white; American-born, but lived much of his adult life in Europe. This diverse heritage gave Johnson a unique perspective and insight, but at times it was also a difficult shadow which followed him as he traveled the world in search of his true artistic voice. Eventually, after many years away from his hometown of Florence, SC, Johnson returned to the United States. Although living in New York, his art began to focus almost entirely on the lives and experiences of African Americans in the rural South. "My travels taught me that an artist must live and paint in his own environment... This development shall continue for the rest of my life, and it is the painting of my people," said Johnson in 1941. Special Exhibit Gallery, Through July 14 - "Inside Out," an exhibition of works from Asheville, NC collectors, Ray Griffin and Thom Robinson. This exhibition features contemporary Southern Appalachian art in conjunction and contrast with self-taught "Outsider" art and artists, and their unique position relative to fine art in the American South. "Inside Out" also addresses the role of private collecting in the art world, and explores the unique connections and relationships that form between collectors, artists, and art institutions. Educational Gallery, Through Dec. 12 - "Recollect". Celebrating 10 years in its current location and almost 100 years as an institution, "Recollect" describes the history of the museum. The exhibition takes a closer look at its earliest acquisitions and asks the viewer to consider how the museum has changed over time. Historical objects and images chronicle the past, present and future of the museum's work, including the role of museum founder Jane Beverly Evans and her vision. Community Gallery, Ongoing - This exhibit introduces visitors to the history of the museum and its formative collections. This gallery also exhibits the histories and diversity of the City of Florence, and the incorporated municipalities of Florence County. Additionally, the Community Gallery communicates the lives, stories and accomplishments of significant past and present citizens of Florence County and members of it's communities. This gallery is one of two permanent exhibit spaces designed by award winning exhibit design firm, HaleySharpe Design. Pee Dee History Gallery, Ongoing - This is the largest gallery space in the facility, comprising 3,300 sq. ft. of exhibit space. This permanent collections gallery occupies the entire second floor, east wing of the building. Artifacts are supported by historical images and narrative interpretation, giving a comprehensive introduction to the Pee Dee region from prehistory to the present. This gallery is one of two permanent exhibit spaces designed by award winning exhibit design firm, HaleySharpe Design. Admission: Free. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm & Sun. 2-5pm. Contact: 843/676-1200 or visit (www.flocomuseum.org).

Hyman Fine Arts Center, Francis Marion University, Florence. Adele Kassab Art Gallery, Through Aug. 10 - "Written in Moments," featuring works by Jessica Willis. This show focuses on how the stories we hold within ourselves from childhood and into adulthood affect the choices we make and how we choose to tell the narrative of our own story. It explores the idea that every epic tale is written in a series of tiny moments that are hard to discern in real time but become clear in hindsight. The images are shadowy and playful and are pulled from both folk and fairy tale origins on the outer perimeter of the gallery, and from personal experience in the center space. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 8:30am-5pm. Contact: Jessica Willis, Gallery Curator, at 843/661-1539 or at (<https://www.fmarion.edu/finearts/artgalleryseriescurrent/>).

Works by Jim Gleason

Steven F. Gately Gallery, Francis Marion University, 142 North Dargan Street, Florence. Through July 26 - "Jim Gleason: A Study in Brass". A reception will be held on June 13, from 5:30-7:30pm. In a quiet corner of Florence, SC, lives a man fluent in creativity who opens the doors to whimsical worlds, inviting others to join him in seeing in new ways. These are worlds that Jim Gleason creates as easily as he breathes. As a Marine veteran and professional musician, Gleason became a master technician repairing brass and woodwind instruments. Now, after decades of experience, he is intimately aware of every particle that makes up an instrument allowing it to give voice to notes on a page. When they can no longer do so, despite his best efforts, he gives them new lives as fanciful creatures and characters that flow steadily from his imagination, populating his studio, putting a smile on your face as soon as you see them. Ongoing - The Steven F. Gately Gallery is a visual arts gallery located on the first floor of Francis Marion University's charmingly renovated University Place building on N. Dargan Street, Florence, SC. The gallery hosts rotating exhibitions from a variety of artists. Named for the late Steven F. Gately, a long time art professor at Francis Marion University. The Gately Gallery is an extension of Francis Marion University. The gallery's mission is to provide the community with a venue to experience a wide range of culturally diverse regional, national, and international visual artwork from emerging and established artists. Hours: Tue.-Wed., noon-6pm; Thur.-Fri., 10am-6pm & 2nd and 4th Sat., 10am-3pm. Contact: 843/661-4637, 843/661-4638 or at (www.fmarion.edu/universityplace/gatelygallery).

Work by Tiffany Thomas

ALTERNATE ART SPACES - Florence Doctors Bruce and Lee Foundation Library, 506 South Dargan Street, 2nd floor of the library, Florence. Dr. N. Lee Morris Gallery, Through Sept. 30 - "Behind the Clay: A Visual Exploration of the Creative Process by Tiffany Thomas." A reception will be held on June 6, from 5:30-6:30pm. Thomas is a multifaceted artist specializing in ceramics and painting, driven by a fascination for the inherent beauty in everyday objects and experiences. After graduating with a degree in Ceramics and Painting from Francis Marion University in 2012, Thomas has built a strong foundation for her artistic practice. In 2018, Thomas' dedication to her craft culminated in a successful wholesale order through Geocentral. Greenville County Museum of Art, 420 College Street, Greenville. Through July 28 - "This Is Not: Aldwyth in Retrospect". A Gallery Tour with guest curator Mark Sloan will be offered on May 19, at 2pm. Organized by guest curator Mark Sloan, this retrospective spans nearly seventy years of Aldwyth's work, beginning with photography and continuing through experimental painting, assemblage, and collage. The exhibition considers a number of personal themes that have remained consistent throughout her career. Now in her late 80s, the artist, who uses the singular name Aldwyth, has lived and worked alone in an octagonal house overlooking a salt marsh on one of South Carolina's sea islands since 1980. While maintaining her seclusion from the larger art world, she has employed the history of art and ideas as a catalyst for complex found-object sculptures and increasingly epic-scaled collages that often recall medieval manuscripts writ large. Through Sept. 8 - "Horace Day in the Lowcountry." A plein air realist, Horace Day helped to extend the Charleston Renaissance into the post-World War II era by modernizing the genre, combining the punch of brilliant colors and textured brushstrokes with the same love of place expressed by Alfre Hutty, Alice Ravenel Huger Smith, Anna Heyward Taylor, and Elizabeth O'Neill Verner. His fresh interpretations of Carolina Lowcountry subjects documented vibrant city streets and their inhabitants, bucolic landscapes, rural cabins hidden beneath massive oaks, and churches still identifiable today by their distinctive architectural details. This exhibition will focus on the artist's work that was painted over four decades of traveling along the coast - from Charleston to Hilton Head Island. Ongoing - "Art and Artists of South Carolina: For Real". The GCMA's newest exhibition is drawn from the Museum's permanent collection. Celebrate the Palmetto State with a diverse selection of watercolors by Mary Whyte and Stephen Scott Young, sculptures carved by Grainger McKoy, and varied South Carolina landscapes. Ongoing - "Collection Highlights: African-American Art," features 17 works by as many artists. At the forefront of the exhibition is a realistic sculpture by John Wilson, whose monumental bronze head of Martin Luther King, Jr. captures the dignity and strength of the civil rights leader. Post-World War II non-objective painting is reflected in works by Beauford Delaney, Hale Woodruff, and Frank Wimberley. A lighter, but no less powerful, touch is embodied in a brilliant Color Field painting by Thomas Sills. The exhibition also includes evocative examples by Romare Bearden, Frederick Brown, Jacob Lawrence, Betye Saar, Merton Simpson, and Bob Thompson. Ongoing - "Andrew Wyeth: Running with the Land". This stunning retrospective showcases 59 works on paper, capturing Wyeth's preference for painting intimate subjects that were tied to the homes established by his father in both Chadds Ford, Pennsylvania, and Cushing, Maine. Wyeth drew inspiration from the distinctive characteristics and denizens of these locations, revealing universal traits in his depictions of landscapes, objects, and people. Ongoing - "All in the Family (Connections)," which assembles work by three generations of Wyeths--the first family of American painting--taking advantage of several rarely exhibited loans from a private collection and complementing the exhibition "Andrew Wyeth: Running with the Land". Admission: Free. Hours: Wed.-Sat., 10am-6pm and Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 864/271-7570 or at (www.gcma.org).

Myrtle Beach / Grand Strand

Work by Marcella Lassen

Franklin G. Burroughs • Simeon B. Chapin Art Museum, 3100 South Ocean Blvd., beside Springmaid Beach, Myrtle Beach. Through Sept. 1 - "Richard Segalman: Ebb and Flow". Born in Coney Island, NY in 1934, Richard Segalman (d. 2021) is renowned for his luminous depictions of beautifully and voluminously draped female figures posed in the artist's studios in Manhattan and his home in Woodstock, NY, as well as on the beaches of Naples, FL, and Coney Island. "My first influence was being surrounded by hats, color and fabric," he once wrote. "My mother was a milliner. Being in this atmosphere, began my life in art. I saw the work of Degas, Sargent and Sorolla, and it was like coming home." Segalman's work is permanently housed in over 40 museum collections, including the Metropolitan Museum of Art (NY), the Hirshhorn Museum (DC) and the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston (MA). He has been represented by the Harmon-Meek Gallery in Naples, FL, since 1981. Through Sept. 22 - "Cultural Currency," featuring works by 38 artists exploring the many aspects and conceptions of money by fashioning actual items of currency into 65 works of art - some whimsical, some cynical, all thought-provoking. Depending on one's perspective, money is either the thing that makes the world go 'round, or the root of all evil. It can bring power, status, security, comfort or misery — or something completely different. The constant exchange of money for goods and services is an essential part of life, whether for luxury purchases like entertainment and travel or for essential items like food and shelter. Yet while we all are intimately aware of the exchange value of money, we rarely think about the actual, physical forms of currency. Here, the artists make use of globally sourced paper and coin currency combined with mixed media to create intricate, often exquisite, and visually arresting works of art that offer new and unexpected impressions of this medium of exchange. Ongoing - Myrtle Beach's Franklin G. Burroughs-Simeon B. Chapin Art Museum strives to be one of the finest visual arts museums in the Carolinas. With 11 galleries that change throughout the year, Myrtle Beach's only art museum offers exhibitions featuring paintings, textiles, sculpture, photography, video, ceramics, assemblage, collage and more. A visit to the Art Museum's exhibitions can be enhanced by its lively programming, including artist receptions, tours, lectures, workshops and classes for both adults and children. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-4pm & Sun., 1-4pm. Contact: 843/238-2510 or at (www.myrtlebeachartmuseum.org).

Orangeburg

Cecil Williams Civil Rights Museum, 1865 Lake Drive, Orangeburg. Ongoing - Established in 2019, the exquisite ultra-modern facility displays 1000 images of the Civil Rights Movement, but from the perspective of The Epochal South Carolina Events That Changed America. The massive archives comprise the largest collection of images of this type among all museums in the United States; including the Atlanta based High Museum which archives 300 images. The images were created by the founder, Cecil Williams, who began photography at age 9 and covered almost all historically significant events in South Carolina; from 1950 Briggs v. Elliot in Summerton, thru the 1969 Charleston Hospital Workers' Strike...and Beyond. From 1955 through 1969, Williams was a freelance journalist for "JET" magazine. His images have appeared in thousands of magazines, newspapers, historical publications, and motion picture productions. The museum design itself is part of the founders' DNA because; upon graduating from high school, Williams wanted to attend Clemson University to study architecture but denied because of his race. He then purchased a drafting board and through the years, designed three residences; including one featured in "EBONY", and the museum's design which has evolved into a living history facility. Hours: call ahead for hours. Contact: call 803-531-1662 or at (www.cecilwilliams.com).

Work by Dianne Munkittrick

Lusty Gallery, Orangeburg County Fine Arts Center, Edisto Memorial Gardens, 649 Riverside Drive, Orangeburg. July 20 - Sept. 25 - "Nature In Oil And Paper," is a collection of the newest works showing Dianne Munkittrick's evolving and intimate relationship with her woodland environment. A reception will be held on July 10, from 6-8pm. Her representational works in oil, as in Across The Blushing Marsh, capture setting and mood. A celestial moment is a shared reflection through the harmony and relationship of colors. By Munkittrick's years of observing the intricacies ever present and in animation in nature's compositions, her sceneries have evolved into abstract interpretation, where colors and form venerate the creativity of flora and fauna. Ongoing - Featuring works by local artists. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 8:30am-4:30pm & Fri., 8:30am-noon. Contact: Vivian Glover at 803-606-7770 or at (<https://orangeburgarts.org/>).

Spartanburg

Throughout downtown Spartanburg, 3rd Thursday, from 5-8pm - "Spartanburg ArtWalk," a free self-guided tour through participating galleries across Spartanburg's Cultural District. Contact: visit (www.chapmanculturalcenter.org).

Throughout downtown Spartanburg's Cultural District, Ongoing - The Creative Crosswalk Project is a public art initiative in which local artists and designers design and paint a series of crosswalk murals, transforming the crosswalks into works of art, on Main Street in Spartanburg, SC. The downtown cultural district area is often bustling with events and pedestrians, and the pedestrians rely heavily on a multitude of crosswalks to safely traverse the downtown Spartanburg area. The problem is that crosswalks are incredibly easy to overlook, they are rarely visually appealing, and they can even be quite dangerous. For more info visit (<https://www.chapmanculturalcenter.org/pages/blog/detail/article/c0/a1555/>).

Work by Glenda Guion

Artists Collective I Spartanburg, 578 West Main St., Spartanburg. Gallery II, July 2 - 27 - "Evolve," featuring photographs by Joe Hiltabidel. A reception will be held on July 18, until 8pm, during the Spartanburg ArtWalk. The photographs in Upstate artist Joe Hiltabidel's upcoming exhibition began with a dream about cereal, but also represent his personal evolution in life. "This entire body of work began with a single dream about cereal," Hiltabidel says. "When I woke up, I told my wife, Shelly, I was going to try to recreate what I saw in the dream and that became my photograph 'Evolve.' Each subsequent piece in this exhibit was directly inspired by the true love story I share with my wife, favorite childhood memories or the positive side of humanity left in the world." Solo-mon Gallery, July 2 - Aug. 24 - "Archetypes: Hand Built Clay," featuring works by Glenda Guion. A reception will be held on July 18, until 8pm, during the Spartanburg ArtWalk. An artist's talk will be held at 6pm on Aug. 15, as part of Spartanburg ArtWalk till 8pm. Glenda Guion says the artwork in her upcoming exhibition, "Archetypes: Hand Built Clay," is intended to reflect the world around her in her life right now. "I have been hand building with red earthenware clay for over 40 years. For the past 11 years, I have been living on two acres of land that includes 16 magnolia trees, pines, seed pods, blueberry bushes, gravel paths, owls and the occasional snake," Guion says. "I am currently making work that attempts to reflect where I am in the world, influenced by the beauty found in my own backyard." Ongoing - The Collective features a twenty thousand square foot facility offering affordable studio space, retail space, three galleries, a full ceramics studio, printery, and works by 50 local artists. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-4pm; with extended hours on the 3rd Thur. of each month until 9pm for Spartanburg's Art Walk. His ties to the Spartanburg community originate from his longtime employment at Milliken and Company. Tait was born in Old Town, Maine in 1917 and graduated from the New Hampshire Institute of Arts and Science. In the late 1940s, he moved to New York City where he designed an exclusive line of ladies' handkerchiefs for the department store B. Altman, now considered vintage, collectible items. He also became associated with the American Artist Group designing Christmas cards, an occupation which he kept up throughout the majority of his artistic career. Krisel was a distinguished artist, architect, and teacher as well as a loving father and husband. Though Krisel may not be a household name among Spartanburg residents, he has made a significant artistic contribution to the Spartanburg community. Born in Brooklyn, NY in 1920, Krisel's interest in art and design started at a young age. He attended the American Artist School in New York city as a teenager where he met renowned modern artists, including Piet Mondrian, who greatly influenced his abstract style. After studying architecture at the New Bauhaus in Chicago from 1946-1949, he received his graduate degree from Illinois Institute of Technology in 1952. The following year, he began working for architectural firm Skidmore, Owings and Merrill when Roger Milliken hired them to design Milliken's new research facility in Spartanburg. Upon realizing Krisel was also a sculptor, Milliken hired him to design the spray fountain outside of the facility which functions as a recycler of air conditioning water. He then went on to design the Trident Fountain located outside of the Papadopoulos building on Wofford College's campus. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 10am-7pm & Sat, 9am-3pm. Charleston Crafts Cooperative Gallery, 140 East Bay Street, Charleston. July 23 - Aug. 25 - "Natural Patterns: Flora and Fauna," featuring works by Ellie Snow and Lynn Wartski. A reception will be held on July 26, from 6-9pm. For painter Ellie Snow, painting is an escape, a window into a fairy tale world where she can ponder the beauty and complexity of life, and the stories that repeat themselves, like patterns, through time. Snow's artworks begin with nature photographs taken while exploring. "At home, I collage, edit, and make double exposures to create a scene that is playful and mysterious. I think of each painting as an introduction to a story about life's fits and starts, imperfection, darkness, light, magic, weirdness, and beauty." Last year artist Lynn Wartski started to treat the surface of her anthropomorphic sculptures as an additional canvas. She created animal figures that had bold flowers, nautical "tattoos", and wintery motifs on them. Liking the results, Wartski decided to carry that idea into the sculptures for this year's show - but with a twist. "Instead of just thematic or decorative elements, I began with creatures that had distinctive natural patterns, known in the fashion world as "animal prints." Ongoing - Established in 1989, Charleston Crafts Cooperative Gallery is a dynamic community of nearly 30 jury-selected artisans. All are residents of South Carolina, making this the city's only exclusively local craft gallery. Asheville Art Museum, 2 South Pack Square at Pack Place, Asheville. Through Sept. 23 - "Shifting Perceptions: Photographs from the Collection". This exhibition continues the Museum's 75th-anniversary celebration and magnifies its expanding Collection of photographs. This exhibition is guest-curated by Katherine Ware, curator of photography at the New Mexico Museum of Art, and features over 125 artworks organized into three sections: Inside/Out, Together/Apart, and Natural/Unnatural. Each section explores seemingly opposing forces, prompting viewers to reconsider the nuances and complexities of life. "Our brains gravitate toward hard distinctions, but life is filled with gradations, complexities, and ambiguities. The categories offer a context for considering the pictures," said Ware. "They sound like opposites, but it is up to visitors to decide if these dualities are different or part of a continuum." Through Aug. 19 - "The New Salon: A Contemporary View". "The New Salon" offers a modern take on the prestigious tradition of the Parisian Salon with the diversity and innovation of today's art world. Guest-curated by Gabriel Shaffer, the show will include works from Pop Surrealism, Outsider Art, Street Art, and Graffiti genres. Bender Gallery in Asheville has been collaborating with the Asheville Art Museum to loan four paintings from three of our artists. The artists are Laine Bachman, Kukula, and Yui Sakamoto. Be sure to check out this special exhibition in downtown Asheville. Through Oct. 21 - "Honoring Nature: Early Southern Appalachian Landscape Painting". This exhibition explores the sublime natural landscapes of the Smoky Mountains of Western North Carolina and Tennessee. While there were several regional schools of painting around the early 1900s, this group is largely from the Midwest, and many of the artists trained at the Art Institute of Chicago or in New York City. Through their travels, they captured waterfalls, sunsets, thunderstorms, autumn foliage, lush green summers, and snow-covered mountains—elements that were novel for viewers from cities and rural areas. Though some of these paintings include people, they are usually used for scale and painted with little to no detail, highlighting the magnificence of nature. Debra McClinton Gallery, Through July 29 - "Counter/Balance: Gifts from John and Robyn Horn". The exhibition presents important examples of contemporary American craft, including woodworking, metalsmithing, fiber and pottery by renowned American artists Albert Paley, Hoss Haley, Toshiko Takaezu, Stoney Lamar, Mary Merkel-Hess, Dorothy Gill Barnes, Kay Sekimachi, Bob Stocksdale, and many others. This exhibition explores the traditional craft art-making process, a human hand working with technology to transform raw materials into a new form, containing a fundamental tension between the mechanized and improvisational to achieve qualities of asymmetry and balance or forms with richly textured surfaces. Ongoing - The Asheville Art Museum, the hub for 20th- and 21st-century American art in Western North Carolina, has re-opened to the public. The $24+ million, state-of-the-art facility encompasses 54,000 square feet and adds 70 percent more Collection gallery space. For the first time in the Museum's history, it has the capacity to host major traveling exhibitions from nationally recognized museums. The expansion increases its physical space and dramatically increases its role as a community center, educational resource, economic engine for WNC, and cultural concierge for the region's residents and visitors. Admission: Yes. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm; Fri. till 8pm & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 828/253-3227 or at (www.ashevilleart.org).

Works by Pam Granger Gale

Southern Highland Craft Guild at the Folk Art Center, Blue Ridge Parkway Milepost 382, Asheville. Main Gallery, Through Sept. 18 - "Graduating Class of 2024: Haywood Community College's Professional Crafts Program". This new generation of craft is led by instructors Amy Putansu in fiber, Brian Wurst in wood, Emily Reason in clay, and Angela Bubash in metals & jewelry. This show continues the historical relationship between the Southern Highland Craft Guild and Haywood, an educational center of the Guild. Students of the Haywood program come from all over, with or without prior experience of craft, and sometimes pursuing it as a second or third career. The course of study is challenging, combining craft concentrations with supplemental classes in design, drawing, craft history, business, marketing and photography. Permanent Collection Gallery, Ongoing - "Craft Traditions: The Southern Highland Craft Guild Collection". The Guild's Permanent Collection is comprised of approximately 2400 craft objects and dates from the late 19th century to present. Beginning with a donation from Frances Goodrich in 1931, the Permanent Collection serves the Guild's mission of craft conservation and education. This new installation will feature over 200 works that highlight our holdings in traditional art: wood-carving, pottery, dolls, basketry, weavings and furniture. The subject of this ongoing exhibition is craft history - that of the Southern Highland Craft Guild and the Studio Craft Movement. Wells Fargo of Asheville has donated Hardy Davidson's Carvings to the SHCG's Permanent Collection. Hailing from Swannanoa, NC, woodcarver Hardy Davidson became a Guild Member in 1944 and was awarded Life membership in 1973. Focus Gallery, Through Aug. 19 - "Hand Over Matter". ## Blowing Rock

Rickie Barnett, "Hey you, get out of there", 2023, stoneware

Blowing Rock Art and History Museum, corner of Chestnut and Main streets, downtown Blowing Rock. Schaefer Gallery, Through Nov. 2 - "Two Headed Diver: Lynne Hobaica & Rickie Barnett". This is an exhibition in three entangled parts, featuring the individual yet mutually-informed studio practices of Lynne Hobaica, Rickie Barnett, and their collaborative work under the moniker "Two Headed Diver." Their characters—often simultaneously fantastic and mundane—are produced through a heady concoction of personal myth-making, morality tale, and a distinct sense of New World wonder. Both artists' work is driven by narrative, though their singular approaches to storytelling are often pleasantly obscured by layered surface treatments and enigmatic symbolism. Hobaica's work utilizes recurring patterns and decorative elements to elevate seemingly humble or alien subjects—chihuahuas and antlered beasts seen here, for example. While gauzy glazes and sheer fabrics shroud her characters in a fog that reinforces an almost mythological interpretation of them. Working in both ceramic and textile, Hobaica's compositions prioritize the inexplicability of the human experience. Fort, Atwell, & Rankin East Galleries, Through Jan. 5, 2025 - "The Hard Edge & The Soft Line: A Retrospective of Maud Gatewood". Maud Gatewood (1934-2004) is an exceptional figure in the art history of North Carolina and the American Southeast. A painter of exacting technique with a keen eye for composition and cultural commentary, her pictures capture the Carolinas (and the expanding world beyond) across much of the 20th Century. A native of Yanceyville in Caswell County, NC, Gatewood's paintings reveal rural landscapes and their denizens in the midst of transformation while also cleverly framing the experience of modern life with acerbic wit and a surprising wealth of empathy. "The Hard Edge & The Soft Line: A Retrospective of Maud Gatewood" is a major undertaking by BRAHM. This retrospective project provides a comprehensive narrative of Gatewood's career, considering the evolution of her oeuvre and her significant contributions, as an artist and an educator, to the field of contemporary representational painting in North Carolina and the region. A recuperative exercise, the exhibition and its accompanying scholarship will feature a broad range of her works, including paintings, works on paper, and archival material, excavating Gatewood's rigorous technical experimentation, coded but no less rich explorations of gender and sexuality, and reverence for depicting the built and natural landscapes of her native state and elsewhere. Ongoing - the BRAHM will host exhibits, educational programs and classes that promote the visual arts, history and heritage of the mountains of western North Carolina. Admission: Yes. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm & Sun., noon-4pm. Contact: 828/295-9099 or at (www.blowingrockmuseum.org).

Turchin Center for the Visual Arts, Appalachian State University, 423 West King Street, Boone. Gallery A and Petti/Peiser Street, Through Nov. 2 - "2024 Art Department Faculty Biennial". The exhibition showcases the work of Appalachian State University's talented multidisciplinary faculty, including Jessica Greenfield, Jody Servon, Daniel Rich, Erin Ethridge, and Greg Banks, working across art and design. Providing direct engagement with current creative and scholarly research, the exhibition initiates critical dialogue about the nature of contemporary art. This non-juried exhibition offers student interaction with familiar faculty while also providing other faculty and staff at Appalachian State University and the extended Boone community a chance to engage with the creative ideas and art practices being explored and taught within the university. The Department of Art at App State offers courses in art and visual culture, art history, art management, art education, graphic communications, graphic design, fine and commercial photography and studio art which includes ceramics, fibers, metalsmithing and jewelry design, painting and drawing, printmaking, and sculpture as well as special topics in non-media specific areas. Mayer Gallery, Through Nov. 2 - "Flowstones: Corinne Jones". A flowstone is created by mineral deposits laid down by water, slowly, quietly, in one place, over time. Flowstone grows approximately one inch every one hundred years. In one hundred years, how many societal changes have occurred in one place? Flowstones is a site-specific installation consisting of sound, sandbags, paintings, window works, and a text piece. The exhibition is the debut of a new body of paintings which share the title "Flowstones". Each painting is made of modular shapes that make up figurative units of measure. They are fragments of a larger puzzle. The surfaces are thickly layered and clouded by an ambiguous haze. Two window works "Double Trap" and "Single Use II" mirror each other and parallel the modular units in the paintings. The interlocking shapes form large mazes made of window film. The transparent material suggests that we look through the maze motifs and find alternate ways to solve problems. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 10am-6pm; Fri., noon-8pm; & Sat., 10am-6pm. Contact: 828/262-3017 or at (www.turchincenter.org).

ALTERNATE ART SPACES - Boone Throughout Appalachian State University campus, Boone, Through May 14, 2025 - "38th Rosen Sculpture Competition and Exhibition". This is a national juried competition presented annually by An Appalachian Summer Festival and the Turchin Center for the Visual Arts. ## Cary

Throughout Cary, Final Friday of the Month, from 6-8pm - "Cary Art Loop," featuring an evening tour of art spaces in Cary held on the final Friday of the month. Take the C-Tran to the Cary Art Loop! The free bus will make stops at Coffee and Crepes, Studio 180 Salon, Ashworth Village, Cary Arts Center and Page-Walker Arts & History Center/Cary Town Hall. Contact: (www.caryartloop.org).

Bond Park Community Center, 150 Metro Park Drive, Cary. Through July 14 - "Vicki Rees: Waltz of the Flowers". A reception will be held on June 28, from 6-8pm. Vicki Reese specializes in contemporary realism executed in colorful oils. She draws inspiration from an appreciation of the beauty found in the everyday and in the intricacies of nature. During quarantine, she began a series of flowers in close up portrait. Dramatic lighting and unusual angles, and the feeling that reflections and light against dark convey, all infuse her oil paintings. July 17 - Oct. 17 - "Sandra Teepen: Bold Statements." A reception will be held on July 26, from 6-8pm. Teepen is inspired by the world around her, seeing color and patterns everywhere. She is especially delighted in the diversity of Atlanta, drawing people from Africa and Asia as well as the rural areas of the South. She works with fabrics that reflect the cultures of all who make their home here: floral prints, fruits and vegetable designs, plaid, ribbons, dots, lattice and text. Teepen hopes to delight those who view her work. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 9am-10pm and Sat., 9am-6pm. Contact: 919/462-3970 or at (www.townofcary.org).

Work by Christine Hager-Braun

Cary Arts Center, 101 Dry Avenue, Cary. Cary Arts Center Gallery, Through July 14 - "Laurie Hoen: Our Storied Journey." This exhibit of oil paintings, combines elements of still life and allegory, challenging viewers with questions about social and environmental issues facing America. Visual allegories are puzzles to be solved. They depend on both insight and suggestion. The traditions of still life offer us quiet ways to pause—to peer into a setting of familiar objects that reflect our own experience. The elements of allegory ask us to consider our experience in the context of the social commentary that animates the objects. Are the birds or animals in the paintings disconcertingly oblivious to us, or do they turn and invite us in, asking us to play a role? Some art challenges the viewer to figure out what they're looking at. Laurie's art asks you to figure out not what it is, but what it means. July 17 - Aug. 24 - "Christine Hager-Braun: Shared Experiences - Making the Invisible Visible". An artist reception is scheduled during Cary's Last Friday Art Walk on July 26, from 6-8pm with an artist talk at 7pm. Inspired by our inner strength to cope when faced with adversity, tragedy, or severe health issues, Hager-Braun's work revolves around the topics of personal growth, the gift of resilience, and the power of positive mindset. Her abstract fiber art is based on the deep awareness, acceptance, and connection to her own emotional growth through the struggles she has faced, in particular her experience with depression. As we face opposing forces in our lives – joy and sorrow, harmony and conflict, hope and despair – her art often has a juxtaposition of light and dark colors. But as there is rarely a clear-cut path through life, the shapes in her work do not have hard edges. Instead, they are only an approximation, a best effort, the deliberate embrace of imperfection. Cary Arts Center Principal's Hall, July 17 - Aug. 25 - "Christine Hager-Braun: Shared Experiences - Making the Invisible Visible". A reception will be held on July 26, from 6-8pm. A reception will be held on July 26, from 6-8pm. Clay is a mesmerizing, tactile medium that draws Beverly in. Because the surface treatment for the final form influences all decisions, the challenge is to honor the clay's three dimensional characteristics and its transformation through the firing processes. In all of her pieces, she hopes the lingering viewer discovers details and an appreciation for that moment in time spent with her work. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 9am-10pm & Fri.-Sat., 9am-11pm. Contact: 919/469-4069 or at (www.townofcary.org).

Cary Gallery of Artists, 200 S Academy St, Ste 120, Ashworth Square, Cary. Ongoing - The gallery offers high quality art in a variety of styles. Paintings, pencil and colored pencil artwork varies from traditional still lifes and landscapes to abstracts. Portraits of people or animals are available. Photographic work captures magnificent landscapes, small moments in life, portraits, and far away places. The pottery and clay art includes edgy handbuilt pieces, thought-provoking sculpted masks, and decorative and functional pottery that captures images of nature. Our jewelry artists provide a wide range of hand-crafted necklaces, earrings, bracelets and other ornaments from metals, stones, beads and fused glass. Our glass artist creates stained glass hangings, custom stained glass windows and fused glass art. You can also find unusual hand-made books and hand-painted porcelain both antique and new. Hours: Wed.&Thur., 11am-3pm and Fri.&Sat., 11am-5:30pm. Contact: 919/462-2035 or at (www.carygalleryofartists.org).

Herbert Young Community Center, 101 Wilkinson Avenue, Cary. Through July 21 - "Lyudmila Tomova Clark". Movement and mood are at the core of Lyudmila's artistic style. She merges both abstract and traditional painting in a loose painterly way to create energetic and impactful artwork. Her themes mainly involve figures and portraits of people captured in their private moments of contemplation, everyday scenes, playing music or dancing. Her painting philosophy is to interpret reality and not copy it. She paints quickly with large gestural strokes free of preconceived logical steps, infusing passion and excitement. A fleeting moment is captured and transformed by means of rules and omissions, acceptance and refusal, luring the viewer round and round in circles. The brush strokes are moving, pushing, emerging and overwhelming, but never still and quiet. July 23 - Sept. 29 - "Catherine Wang: Chromatic Horizons: Exploring Landscapes and Abstractions in Color and Light". Wang's artwork is primarily focused on landscaping. She is inspired by subtle light and intimate scenes as opposed to high contrast and grand vistas. Based on her observation and impression with the landscaping, her paintings are mostly done in the studio. One of her pleasures of painting is using various colors to capture the beauty of the nature in the timely manners and let the audience to sense the emotions lying in the artwork. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 9am-10pm; and Sat., 9am-6pm. Contact: 919/4604965 or (www.townofcary.org).

Page-Walker Arts & History Center, 119 Ambassador Loop, Cary. July 3 - Aug. 17 - "Brushstrokes: The Fine Arts of Maureen Scullin". A reception will be held on July 26, from 6-8pm. Maureen Scullin is an award-winning fine artist who paints primarily in oils and who is best known for her fine art portraits, figurative pieces, still life and landscapes. Each of her paintings reflects her vision of art and the world around her. July 3 - Aug. 17 - "Denise Mosco". A reception will be held on July 26, from 6-8pm. Utilizing mixed shapes and textures, Denise Mosco creates metal clay components into her jewelry. Her pieces reflect her appreciation for the beauty of nature from her point of view. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 10am-9:30pm; Fri., 10am-5pm; & Sat., 10am-1pm. (It is strongly advised that you call ahead about hours this space will be open.) Contact: 919/460-4963.

Town Hall Gallery, City of Cary Town Hall, 316 North Academy Street, Cary. Through Sept. 20 - "Watercolor Society of NC: Permanent Collection". The WSNC began acquiring paintings in 2009 as a way to preserve outstanding examples of watercolor art by WSNC members. The collection represents a variety of approaches, styles and subjects. Each year at the "Annual Juried Exhibition" one painting is purchased to add to the collection. This years purchase brings the collection to 16 paintings which can be seen on our website. In 2019 we began exhibiting the collection to promote WSNC and as educational outreach. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 8am-5pm. Contact: 919/469-4061.

Chapel Hill - Carrboro

Ackland Art Museum, UNC - Chapel Hill, Columbia & Franklin Streets, Chapel Hill. Through July 21 - "Pantheress," by Georgie Nakima. "Pantheress" is a site-specific installation by Charlotte, NC-based artist Georgie Nakima. Her vibrant and multi-layered painting highlights the complexities of the Black American experience and the indomitable resilience of the Diaspora. Featuring spray paint on cut wood with custom-printed wallpaper, the central focus of this work challenges the conventions of classical portraiture by leaning into the world of the abstract motifs and visual aphorisms that surround her subject. The title of the piece, Pantheress, is a tribute to the instrumental work of the women of the Black Panther movement. The work, featuring timeless geometric and natural forms, can be seen as both a product of this past and a harbinger for a hopeful future. Permanent Collection Galleries, Through Dec. 31, 2025 - At any one time, there are about 250 works of art from the Ackland's distinguished permanent collection on view. The displays cover many eras and cultures, including most of the Museum's collection areas: the Ancient Mediterranean, Africa, Asia, the Americas, and Europe. Occasional galleries present small selections of prints, drawings, photographs, and other light-sensitive works. You can search our online collection database and filter by works on view. Try saving your own collection of objects using the new "favorites" function! Museum Store Gallery (Franklin and Columbia Street), Store hours: Mon.-Sat., 10am-5:30pm & Sun., noon-5pm. Museum Hours: Wed.-Sat., 1-5pm. Contact: 919/966-5736 or at (www.ackland.org).

FRANK, 370 E Main St. Carrboro, Carrboro's East Main Square, next to Hickory Tavern and the Hampton on Hilton hotel, Chapel Hill. Ongoing - Featuring work from over 70 artists, Frank offers more than you'd expect from an art gallery. Frank is a collective, founded by the area's finest artists working together to open the door for creative innovation in the arts. Hours: Tue.-Sat., noon-5pm or by appt. Contact: Contact: 919/636-4135 or at (www.frankisart.com).

The ArtsCenter, 300-G East Main Street, Carrboro. Ongoing - Nurturing the arts in the triangle since 1974 through performance, education and exhibition. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 9am-9pm and Sat. 10am-5pm. Contact: 919/929-2787 or at (<http://artscenterlive.org>).

Charlotte Area

South End Art Gallery Crawl - From 5-8pm on the 1st Friday of each month.

The outside entrance to the Bechtler Museum

Bechtler Museum of Modern Art, Levine Center for the Arts, 420 South Tryon St., Charlotte. Through Aug. 9 - "Eduardo Chillida: 100 Years". This exhibition commemorates the centenary of the influential Spanish sculptor Eduardo Chillida (1924–2002). Presenting a selection of sculptures and works on paper from the Bechtler Museum's permanent collection, this intimate exhibition offers a focused look at the artist's pioneering and varied practice. Renowned for his monumental sculptures, Chillida also created domestically-scaled sculptures, drawings, collages, and prints, examples of which will be on view. Together these works illustrate the great influence that Chillida's upbringing in the Basque region of Spain and his early training in architecture had on his unique artistic vision, and demonstrate his enduring exploration of space, light, form, and material. Through Aug. 9 - "Alyson Shotz: Coalescence". Blurring the boundaries between art and science, American artist Alyson Shotz (born 1964) is widely acclaimed for her sculptures and installations that use synthetic materials such as glass, mirrors, plastic, and stainless steel to harness intangible forces of the natural world like gravity, space, and light. On loan from the Bank of America Collection, this single-work installation is a dazzling sculpture made of glass beads and wire that hangs from the ceiling. "Coalescence" (2006) resembles a hovering cloud, a massive spider web glistening with morning dew, or a cluster of atoms magnified to monumental scale. Its open form challenges traditional notions of sculpture as grounded, solid, or weighty, and reveals Shotz's abiding interest in perception: calling attention to the relationship between an artwork, the viewer, and the space they share. Ongoing - The Bechtler Museum of Modern Art is named after the family of Andreas Bechtler, a Charlotte resident and native of Switzerland who assembled and inherited a collection of more than 1,400 artworks created by major figures of 20th-century modernism and donated it to the public trust. The Bechtler collection comprises artworks by seminal figures such as Alberto Giacometti, Joan Miro, Jean Tinguely, Max Ernst, Andy Warhol, Alexander Calder, Le Corbusier, Sol LeWitt, Edgar Degas, Nicolas de Stael, Barbara Hepworth and Picasso. Only a handful of the artworks in the Bechtler collection have been on public view in the United States. Admission: Yes. Hours: Mon., Wed.-Sat., 10am-5pm; Sun. noon-5pm; and open until 9pm the 1st. and 3rd. Fri. of each month. Contact: 704/353-9200 or at (www.bechtler.org).

Bill and Patty Gorelick Gallery, at Central Piedmont Community College's Cato Campus, Cato III, 8120 Grier Road, Charlotte. Through July 26 - "Fragments," featuring works by Tina Alberni. Alberni derives this series of work from impact of climate change and the harm created by aspects of technological development and progress. With a deep belief that all living things possess and intrinsic value and not simply human beings, Alberni challenges the viewer to consider topics such as how natural disasters, war and social disparity contribute to the endangerment and physical displacement of all living things. Alberni uses her new exhibition 'Fragments' to illustrate the narrative of fragmented lives and irreversible damage both visually and physically. In contrast to the hopeless narrative of destruction, Alberni seeks to use her artwork to create a positive, hopeful spirit for the future. Alberni assembles objects and layers in her work in a brightly colored, harmonious fashion, which invites the viewer in for a deeper contemplation of each composition. Alberni's work will be on display at Central Piedmont for 2024 and will be part of the Gorelick Gallery's traveling artwork series. Hours: open while campus is open, but reservations help us alert our security team to visitors, provide directions to the galleries, and COVID-19 security protocol instructions to the visitors. Contact: 704/330-6869 or e-mail to (foundation@cpcc.edu) to schedule an appointment. For directions to Central Piedmont's campuses, visit (cpcc.edu/locations).

Bill and Patty Gorelick Gallery, at Central Piedmont Community College's Central Campus, North Classroom, 1320 Sam Ryburn Walk, Charlotte. Through July 26 - "Intangible Words," featuring works by Marge Loudon Moody. Moody is a Professor Emerita of Winthrop University in Rock Hill, SC where she taught for over 30 years. Widely exhibited both nationally and internationally Moody's work exists in private and public collections worldwide. "Intangible Words" broadly investigates environments inspired by Moody's travels and imaginations. Through the use of bright colors, abstract forms and continuous reworking of the composition, Moody creates the "essential" feeling of certain environments. Non-representational imagery utilizes the "essential" nature in order to illuminate the unseen or intangible spirit of the subject. "Subject matter may serve as metaphor for intangible ideas. The work examines boundaries, addresses the fragility of existence, of presence, of absence, and of memory," says Moody. Moody will also serve as this year's Juror for Central Piedmont's "2024 Annual Juried Student Art Show". Hours: open while campus is open, but reservations help us alert our security team to visitors, provide directions to the galleries, and COVID-19 security protocol instructions to the visitors. Contact: 704/330-6869 or e-mail to (foundation@cpcc.edu) to schedule an appointment. Bill and Patty Gorelick Gallery, at Central Piedmont Community College's Harper Campus, Harper IV, 315 W. Hebron St., Charlotte. Through Dec. 31 - "A Journey Through Life", featuring works by Jodi Lynn McNeely. This series has been several years in the making. As you inspect each piece of work, look for the 'path'. It represents our journey. We all are on our own journey, have our own story. As I talk to folks about their stories, I'm amazed at how similar our experiences can be. Our life events, whether the same or different can cultivate preparedness in each of us in much the same way. Note that each individual person carved into my works of art is either touching the path or connected to someone who is. If they are extremely close, they share a hand or foot. Staying connected to someone is critical in this thing called life. As I travel through life, I am constantly reminded at how important being connected is. This is especially relevant during the rough times. Establishing strong relationships for me has been an essential part of my journey. I often carve the likeness of folks I know or have met on my journey into my work. Do you see yourself? I am constantly reminded of how important the people around me are. My life has been full of heart break, pure joy and everything in between. Sound familiar? I am determined to learn from the heart break, remember the pure joy and live everything in between to the fullest. Harvey B. Gantt Center for African-American Arts & Culture, Levine Center for the Arts, 551 S. Tryon St., Charlotte. Extended through Aug. 25 - "A Superlative Palette: Contemporary Black Women Artists". Curated by Dexter Wimberly, "A Superlative Palette" brings together the work of twelve generation-defining, contemporary Black women artists from around the world. In the realm of contemporary art, the contributions of Black women artists have been transformative, challenging traditional narratives, and enriching the cultural landscape. Their powerful and thought-provoking work has not only redefined artistic expression, but has also played a significant role in advocating for social justice, equality, and empowerment. Black women artists have historically faced marginalization and underrepresentation within the art world. Despite these obstacles, they have persevered and crafted an artistry that encompasses a diverse range of themes, mediums, and styles. Artists in the exhibition include, Nina Chanel Abney, ruby onyinyechi amanze, Lauren Halsey, Rachel Jones, Toyin Ojih Odutola, Jennifer Packer, Calida Rawles, Deborah Roberts, Tschabalala Self, Amy Sher-ald, Mickalene Thomas, and Lynette Yiadom-Boakye. Through July 21 - "Christopher Myers: Please Trouble Carry Me," will be on view and features the immersive and ethereal works from interdisciplinary artist Christopher Myers. Through Sept. 22 - "Qualeasha Wood:

code_anima," curated by Leandra-Juliet Kelley. The exhibition explores identity, physical and digital boundaries, and the process of individuation through analysis of complex and socially accepted paradoxes. Defined as "an individual's true inner self," anima serves as a leitmotif in Wood's introspective work, which examines the archetypes found within physical and digital societies. As the artist states, "This body of work draws inspiration from the concept of deus ex machina - a narrative device that introduces an unexpected, external force to resolve a complex situation. This device allows us to highlight the paradoxical position of Black women in society - cast simultaneously as both saviors and scapegoats within a white supremacist framework." Ongoing - Featuring selections from the John & Vivian Hewitt Collection of African-American Art, one of the nation's most important and comprehensive collections of African-American art. Hours: Thur. - Sat., noon-6pm & Sun., noon-6pm. Contact: 704/547-3700 or at (www.ganttcenter.org).

Latin American Contemporary Art Projects (LaCa), 1429 Bryant Street, in the heart of the revitalized FreeMoreWest neighborhood, Charlotte. Ongoing - LaCa Projects is a platform dedicated to the presentation, development, and promotion of Latin American art and culture within the United States. The gallery encourages cross-cultural dialogue by representing a small group of influential and thought-provoking contemporary, emerging and mid-career artists, as well as exhibiting a broader range of work by established and Master Latin American artists. The gallery, which has expertise in a number of different art media with a significant focus on paintings, will also be part of a larger planned expansion that includes open artist studios and a dining concept. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 1-5pm or by appt. Contact: Neely Verano at (neely@lacaprojects.com) or call 704/609-8487.

Levine Museum of the New South, 401 South Tryon Street, (former Wells Fargo Museum) Charlotte. Ongoing - "Charlotte: Moving Forward, Looking Back". To move forward and make the city a better place for everyone, we must look back and learn from choices made in the past. The exhibit tells the story of Charlotte from Native and early European settlement to today. The exhibition combines stories of people, places, and events in a foundational narrative of Charlotte history that answers thought-provoking questions about how we got here and where we are headed. Experience Charlotte stories through objects from the Levine Museum's collections, interactive media displays, and art by local creatives. Ongoing - Building a stronger, more equitable community by connecting people to Charlotte and to each other through history, culture, and celebration. Admission: Free. Hours: Tue.-Fri., 11am-5pm; Wed. till 9pm; Sat., 10am-5pm; & Sun., noon-5pm. Contact: 704/333-1887 or at (museumofthenewsouth.org).

Mint Hill Arts Gallery, 11205 Lawyers Road, Ste. A, Mint Hill. Ongoing - We are more than just a gallery; we are a vibrant hub of creativity, passionately committed to fostering a thriving arts community. Our gallery's mission is deeply rooted in our connection to the local community. From the moment you step through our doors, you'll be enveloped by the warmth and artistic spirit that defines our town. As artists ourselves, we understand the importance of cultivating an environment that nurtures and celebrates creativity in all its forms. Hours: Wed.-Sat., noon-3pm. Mint Museum Randolph, 2730 Randolph Road, Charlotte. Delhom Gallery, Through Aug. 11 - "The Delhom Service League: 50 Golden Years". The Delhom Service League (DSL) provided a half-century of generous support and impactful initiatives to The Mint Museum, helping to fund the acquisition of more than 200 works of art in the Mint's collection. The Delhom Service League: 50 Golden Years celebrates the Delhom Service League's enthusiastic support for the Mint by proudly displaying significant works funded or gifted by the affiliate group, plus selected publications, photographs and other memorabilia. In 2022, the Delhom Service League made the difficult decision to dissolve as a Mint affiliate. The league nevertheless remains an indelible part of the Mint's history, and its many contributions rightly deserve the museum's never-ending recognition and gratitude. In 1965, The Mint Museum purchased the exceptional collection of British, European, and Asian ceramics from Chicago collector M. Mellanay Delhom. Two years later, once the museum finished building a new wing that included a large gallery to display her holdings, Miss Delhom - as she preferred to be called - began offering weekly classes, open to the public, to discuss the works on view. Ongoing - "The Cole Family: A Dynasty of North Carolina Potters". From crocks, jars, and jugs to pitchers, candleholders, and vases, "turning pots" is one of the oldest and richest craft traditions in North Carolina. For more than 200 years, members of the Cole family have been potting in central North Carolina — Randolph, Moore, Lee, and Montgomery counties. Six generations of Coles, and no fewer than 18 individuals, are represented in The Mint Museum's permanent collection. More than 60 highlights of their wares are included in the installation "The Cole Family: A Dynasty of North Carolina Potters". One reason for its long-term success is that making pottery has so often been a family tradition in the state. Fathers taught the art of forming, glazing, and firing clay objects to their sons, and in later generations also to daughters, who in turn taught their children, and so on through the decades. These family dynasties not only helped to keep the potting craft alive, but ensured continuity in techniques and craftsmanship, as well as introduced artistic innovations in succeeding generations. "The Cole Family: A Dynasty of North Carolina Potters" presents a visual history of "turned pots" and the family that helped turn North Carolina into one of America's centers for handmade, traditional pottery. Bridges and Levine Galleries, Ongoing - "Contemporary British Studio Ceramics: The Grainer Collection". Focused on the collection of Diane and Marc Grainer, this installation is a survey of contemporary British studio ceramics. Comprising functional and sculptural objects made between the 1980s and today, the show features work by artists either born or residing in Great Britain, including established "contemporary classics" like Gordon Baldwin and Rupert Spira, and cutting-edge ceramicists such as Julian Stair and Kate Malone. Several recently-gifted works from the Grainers are included. Alexander, Spangler, and Harris Galleries, Ongoing - "Portals to the Past: British Ceramics 1675 - 1825". The Mint Museum's collection of eighteenth-century British pottery and porcelain is widely respected for its scope and quality. The collection numbers over 2,000 objects and includes important examples of both salt-glazed and dry-bodied stoneware from Staffordshire; tin-glazed earthenware from Bristol, Liverpool, and London; and cream-colored earthenware from Derbyshire, Staffordshire, and Yorkshire. Notable eighteenth-century porcelain factories represented include Chelsea, Bow, and Vauxhall in London, Longton Hall in Staffordshire, Worcester, Bristol, and others. Individual works in the collection are exceptional because of their rarity, craftsmanship, provenance, or as representative examples of particular types or methods of production or decoration. Ongoing - "American Glass". The nineteenth and early twentieth centuries represented a time of extraordinary growth for the American glass industry. Such companies as Boston & Sandwich Glass Company in Sandwich, MA; Steuben Glass Works in Corning, NY; and Libbey Glass Company in Toledo, OH, began operation and soon developed notable reputations for producing fashionable wares that were coveted by many middle- and upper-class consumers. "American Glass" showcases objects by these and other American glass companies, illustrating the variety of forms and styles that prevailed during this period. Glass-manufacturing techniques will be another focus of the exhibition, with representative examples of pressed, cut, blown, and molded glass. Nearly all of the works on view are from The Mint Museum's permanent collection of glass, which is second in size only to the ceramics collection in the museum's Decorative Arts holdings. Ongoing - "Arts of Africa". The African continent is remarkable in its geographic, social, political, and cultural diversity. This impressive diversity is reflected in the visual arts through a variety of media and forms including ceramics, masks, textiles, sculptures, prestige staffs, and shrines. With exceptional loans from private collectors and The Mint Museum's own collection of African Art, the museum is pleased to announce the expansion of its presentation of Arts of Africa, thereby providing visitors a more in-depth, meaningful, and exciting overview of African art. Heritage Gallery, Ongoing - Feature works of art, archival documents, and photographs documenting the growth and evolution of the museum, from its beginnings as the original branch of the US Mint to its founding as an art museum to the present and beyond. Ongoing - "Art for the Millions: WPA Prints" and "Carolina Clay," featuring a display of colorful wares made between 1920 and 1950 as potters from NC adapted their works to a market economy. "Art of the United States," featuring contemporary works from the Mint's permanent collection, including works by Romare

Bearden, Maud Gatewood, John Biggers Juan Logan, Tarlton Blackwell, Radcliffe Bailey, Kojo Griffin, and others. "Art in the Americas," featuring paintings, precious metalwork, sculpture, furniture and decorative arts from the 17th through the 19th centuries illustrate the unique culture that emerged from the Spanish colonization of the Americas. Crosland Gallery - Featuring a presentation of portraits with many fascinating images presented. Rankin Gallery - Featuring a presentation of the Romare Bearden Collection, including two "new" Beardens. Admission: Yes. Hours: Wed., 11am-9pm (free admission 5-9pm); Thur.-Sat., 11am-6pm; & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 704/337-2000 or at (www.mintmuseum.org).

Whitfield Lovell (American, b. Bronx, NY) "Because I Wanna Fly", 2021 Conté on wood with attached found objects Diam: 114 in. Virginia Museum of Fine Arts

Mint Museum Uptown, Levine Center for the Arts, 500 South Tryon St., Charlotte. Through Sept. 22 - "Whitfield Lovell: Passages". Consisting of two immersive installations and approximately 30 additional works, "Whitfield Lovell: Passages" is the most comprehensive exhibition of works by artist Whitfield Lovell. Lovell (born in 1959) is renowned for his masterful conté crayon portraits and multisensory installations that focus on aspects of African American history, while raising universal questions about identity, memory, and America's collective heritage. The exhibition brings together two of Lovell's major installations, "Deep River" (2013) and "Visitation: The Richmond Project" (2001), with a selection of free-standing tableaux and works on paper from his acclaimed "Kin" series (2008–2011) and "Spell Suite" (2019–2020), as well as the premiere presentation of his forthcoming "Card Pieces II". Through a combination of visual projections, sound, and found objects, as well as examples from Lovell's works on paper, visitors will be enveloped in hidden histories and cultural memory of the African American experience. Through Sept. 1 - "Fred Smith: From This Disposition". Fred Smith (b. 1987) is a human navigating their day to day existence through the act of making drawings, paintings, and sculptural objects. Their work is developed with a sense of subversive irony, exploring societal norms and situations that seem off or odd. By bending physicality and destabilizing reality, Fred Smith's uncanny creations prompt us to ask complex questions about our surroundings and our imagination. The artist has a similar mission in mind while creating the work, stating that he's "simply asking questions that I don't know how to ask with words." Molding form and spaces into open-ended queries, Smith delivers us to a site where "the world is a stage." Craft + Design Galleries, Ongoing - "Craft in the Laboratory: The Science of Making Things," is the first installation in the Southeast to explore how craft artists and designers use science and math concepts when creating works of art. Presented by Müller Corporation, Craft in the Laboratory also celebrates a reinstallation of the Mint's Craft + Design Galleries—the first since 2010. Co-curated by the Mint's Senior Curator of Craft, Design, and Fashion Annie Carlano and Assistant Curator for Craft, Design, and Fashion Rebecca Elliot, "Craft in the Laboratory" includes 100 works from the Mint's collection that are made from precious metals, wood, steel, polymers, and even agricultural waste, that emphasize the preciseness of science used to craft works of art. Made by nationally and internationally renowned artists, the objects are organized by material and subject throughout the galleries. Now - The Mint Museum's new four-story installation "Foragers" offers a transcendent experience while celebrating the tradition of women as makers and providers. Unlike anything ever seen at The Mint Museum before, Brooklyn-based artist Summer Wheat's "Foragers" is a monumental piece of public work of art spanning 96 windows, four stories, and 3,720 square feet at Mint Museum Uptown's Robert Haywood Morrison Atrium. The myriad of vibrant panels that give the illusion of stained glass and celebrates the tradition of women as makers and providers. "Foragers" is part of a larger exhibition "In Vivid Color," which brings together four innovative contemporary artists—Wheat, Gisela Colon, Spencer Finch, and Jennifer Steinkamp—who create works celebrating the power of color and its ability to permeate the space around us. Their work is juxtaposed with a selection of paintings and works on paper, drawn primarily from The Mint Museum's permanent collection, which showcase artists' more traditional exploration of color.

Ongoing - The Mint Museum Uptown houses the world renowned collections of the Mint Museum of Craft + Design, as well as the American Art and Contemporary Art collections and selected works from the European Art collection. The building also includes a café, a Family Gallery, painting and ceramics studios, classrooms, a 240-seat auditorium, a Special Events Pavilion with outdoor terrace, and an expanded Museum Shop specializing in crafts of the Carolinas. Admission: Yes. Hours: Wed., 11am-9pm (free admission 5-9pm); Thur.-Sat., 11am-6pm; & Sun., 1-5pm. Now Fri. till 9pm. Contact: 704/337-2000 or at (www.mintmuseum.org).

Pauline Dove Art Gallery, Central Piedmont Community College, located inside the college's new Parr Center, Charlotte. Through Aug. 9 - "Forever Transient," featuring works by Andrew Leventis, Kenny Nguyen, Colby Caldwell, Brent Dedas, James Henkel, Susan Jedrzewski, Deb Koo and Jennifer Minnis. "Forever Transient" visually investigates the meaning behind transience, impermanence, continuous change and the desire to preserve and prolong the temporary moment. Inspired by Dutch still life paintings and vanitas, each artist exemplifies a different creative approach and skill set to artistically render the fragility of time. Time does not sand still. It marches forward and looks back retrospectively at the past. Therefore, the experience of time is never linear, but cyclical. "Forever Transient" exhibits works by 8 nationally and internationally acclaimed artists. Through varying processes, each artist composes their work to include vibrant references, and in some cases direct interactions, with nature and humanity. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 10am-4pm or by appt. Contact: Follow us on Instagram and Facebook at Central Piedmont Arts or call Amelia Zytka, Senior Art Gallery Coordinator at 704/330-6847 or visit (<http://blogs.cpc.edu/cpcartgalleries/>).

Projective Eye Gallery, UNC-Charlotte Center City Building, 320 E. 9th Street, Uptown Charlotte. Through July 16 - "A Legacy of Elegance". A reception will be held on Apr. 4, from 6-8pm. The exhibition places twelve historically-inspired costumes by fiber artist, Margarete Joyner, in conversation with archival portraiture from the 19th century, curated by Kimberly Annece Henderson. Drawing upon trends in formal attire spanning several centuries, Joyner merges traditional and contemporary African textiles with cowry shell embellishments; thus, reimagining high-society garments iconography of cultural significance across many African-descended populations. The interwoven narrative of fashioned textiles and early-format photography pays homage to a rich legacy of self-expression through dress, connecting visual histories past and present. Hours: Mon.-Sun., 9am-9pm. Contact: Crista Cammaroto, Director of Galleries at 704/687-0833, 704/687-2397 or at (<https://coaa.uncc.edu/>).

The Museum of the Cherokee People, 589 Tsali Boulevard, Cherokee. Through Feb. 28, 2025 - "sov-er-eign-ty: Expressions in Sovereignty of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians". This exhibition illuminates the complexities of tribal sovereignty and the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians' continuing legacy of resilience. In this exhibition, visitors will learn how, through adaptability and innovation, the EBCI has combated attempts to eradicate, remove, and assimilate its people and remained on the Qualla Boundary - 57,000 acres (0.00067661% of the original Cherokee territory) which is owned by the EBCI and held in trust by the federal government. Ongoing - Welcome to a sweeping history of the Cherokee Nation, engaging and oftimes heart-rending, from ice age beginnings to present-day life and culture. In the brushstrokes of this fascinating heritage, you'll discover the warp and weft of treaties, the roots of a naturalistic language, artifacts of particular periods, great figures and heroes and entrancing stories of a civilization along with the Cherokee's distinctive values and ways of being in the world before and after "the Trail of Tears." The museum offers courses and workshops that combine scholarly content with voices of Cherokee people and experiences on the Qualla Boundary. A perfect place to begin exploration of Cherokee heritage and traditions is the Museum of the Cherokee Indian in Cherokee, North Carolina. Visitors are greeted at the entrance by a 20-foot hand-carved statue of Sequoyah, the inventor of the Cherokee alphabet. An interpretive site for the Trail of Tears National Historic Trail, this state-of-the-art facility traces the story of the Cherokee from the earliest inhabitants of the area 11,000 years ago to the present. An extensive exhibit of artifacts and photos is enhanced with computer-generated holograms and other imagery, sound, and special effects that leave a lasting and haunting impression on the visitor. The museum gift shop is rich in Cherokee tradition. Locally created baskets, pottery, wood carvings, decorated gourds and beadwork are among the art available for sale. Books on Cherokee history, culture, language, and genealogy line the shelves, along with audio CDs and tapes by local musicians and storytellers. Admission: Yes. Hours: Daily, 9am-5pm; closed New Years Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day. Contact: 828-497-3481 or at (<https://mci.org/>).

The Nasher Museum of Art, Duke University Central Campus, 2001 Campus Drive, Durham. Through July 7 - "Love & Anarchy". On the surface, love and anarchy may seem like unrelated or even conflicting notions. Love is synonymous with care, compassion, and affection, while anarchy is generally accepted as an absence of authority, a state of disorder, or an ungovernable condition. These concepts, more than tangentially related, are often intertwined and even sometimes mutually dependent. Indeed, moments of disarray and frustration are intrinsic to love, while love sometimes emerges out of disorder and chaos. Drawn from the Nasher Museum's extensive historical and contemporary collections, Love & Anarchy demonstrates some of the ways in which these two concepts have inspired artists, visually and conceptually, over millennia. Ongoing - The Collection Galleries feature rotating installations of the Nasher Museum's extensive holdings of historical art. Eight galleries, as well as the entrance to Wilson Pavilion, are dedicated to the museum's strengths, which represent a brief history of human creativity from different times and parts of the world. Just beyond the entrance, visitors will find the Incubator, a flexible space for rotating student- and faculty-curated exhibitions. Visitors are invited to return again and again to The Collection Galleries, where Nasher curators continue to refresh the galleries with gems from the collection. The museum's contemporary collection is showcased through rotating exhibitions within a separate pavilion. Works from the contemporary collection create new conversations and connections among historical works in The Collection Galleries. A breakthrough work by New York artist Fred Wilson from 1990, Colonial Collection, anchors the Arts of Africa Gallery. A painting by Kehinde Wiley is on view in the European Art Gallery. Ongoing - Nasher Museum Café and Museum Shop. Admission: Yes, but free to Durham residents, courtesy of "The Herald-Sun" newspaper. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm; Thur. till 9pm; & Sun., noon-5pm. ## Mount Airy

Mount Airy Museum of Regional History, 301 North Main Street, Mount Airy. Ongoing - Ours is an all American story - typical of how communities grew up all across our great nation. While our story takes place in the back country of northwestern North Carolina at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains, it is likely to bear many similarities to the development of crossroads, towns, and cities throughout America. It had taken little more than 100 years for the corridors along the coastline of this still-new continent to overflow. As tensions grew and conflicts flared, the pioneer spirit set in. Families literally packed up everything they owned and headed into the unknown-searching for the "promised land." Admission: Yes. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 10am-5pm & Sun., 1-4pm. Contact: 336/786-4478 or at (northcarolinamuseum.org).

New Bern

Community Artists Gallery & Studios, Inc., 504 South Front Street, New Bern. Ongoing - We serve Craven, Pamlico, and Jones counties. Operated by member artists themselves on an exclusively volunteer basis, it's a great place to discover distinctive, affordable art for your home or office--or to find a truly unique gift. Visit our Gallery and Studios pages to see what's currently on exhibit--and on our easels! Community Artists Gallery & Studios supports working studio space for fifteen artists and exhibits nearly a dozen additional artists at any given time. Our members are engaged in creating jewelry, photography, weaving, found object art, sculpture, ceramics, digital art, watercolor, oil, baskets, stained glass, and acrylic paintings. Hours: Tue., Thur., Fri., & Sat., 10am-4pm. Contact: 252/571-8566 or visit (www.communityartistsgallery.org).

North Wilkesboro

Wilkes Art Gallery, 913 C. Street, North Wilkesboro. Main Gallery, July 19 - Aug. 28 - "45th Northwest Artists' Exhibition", juried by Betty Powell. A reception will be held on July 19, from 5:30-7:30pm. The competition is open to artists who live in or near northwest region of North Carolina. Ongoing - Founded in 1962 in the parlor of Annie Winkler's home, the Wilkes Art Gallery has experienced transformations over the years. The most dramatic of these was the 2004 move into the renovated 1925 North Wilkesboro Post Office building. WAG offers a variety of classes, workshops, meet-the-artists events and special outreach projects. WAG hosts exhibitions that offer community members a chance to show their work and admission is always free. Visit our online gift shop. Hours: Tue.-Fri., 10am-5pm and Sat., 10am-2pm. Contact: 336/667-2841 or at (www.wilkesartgallery.org).

Old Fort

Arrowhead Artists and Artisans League Inc., 78 Catawba Avenue, Suite C-D, next to the parker hosiery building, 2 minutes from Exit 73 on Interstate I-40, Old Fort. Ongoing - The main Gallery space is about 1800 square feet, with an open, industrial feel. Art, ranging from traditional to abstract and mixed media, hangs on the walls. On the main floor are displays of various types of fine crafts, such as jewelry, pottery, fiber art, hand crafted baskets, and hand turned wooden bowls. You might even see a welded "junk yard" critter or two. After viewing all of the various arts and crafts, visitors can walk through a wide archway on the right to view more fine art and craft work and talk to the artists and students in several studios and the AGS classroom. If a studio door is open, visitors are being invited to step inside and enjoy the work. Currently, our Gallery and studio artists and artisans include: Lorelle Bacon, Ann Whisenaut, Karen Piquette, David Kaylor, Dawn Driebus, Len Eskew, Wayne Stroud, Susan Taylor, Cathy Green, Anne Bevan, John Sullivan, Evelyn Chrisawn, Tim Muench, Chuck Aldridge, Charles Davis, Fredreen Bernatovicz, Anne Allison, Darlene Matzer, Billie Haney, Marguerite Welty, Jean Ryan, Kasha Baxter, Linda Magnus, Kim Hostetter, Bunnie Burgin, Sonya Russell, Helen Sullivan, Janet Bennett, and Sabrina Miller. ## Pembroke

A.D. Gallery, University of NC at Pembroke, Locklear Hall, 1 University Dr, Pembroke. Ongoing - The A.D. Gallery is sponsored by the Art Department of the University of North Carolina at Pembroke. Serving the university and local community, the gallery provides a venue for student and faculty work, as well as that of local, regional, national and international artists. The gallery helps fulfill the department's goal of providing outstanding educational opportunities for its students by bringing quality visual arts to the university and the community at large. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 9am-6pm. Contact: e-mail to (joseph.begnaud@uncp.edu) or visit (www.uncp.edu/departments/art/ad-gallery).

The Museum of the Southeast American Indian, Old Main (first floor) at the University of North Carolina Pembroke, 1 University Drive, Pembroke. Ongoing - As part of the Southeast American Indian Studies Program at UNC Pembroke, The Museum of the Southeast American Indian maximizes the capacity of the University to address the complex historical, cultural and contemporary issues facing American Indian communities in North Carolina and the American Southeast. The Museum's cross-disciplinary collaborations greatly enhance the University's programs of research, service, outreach and instruction. The Museum is a multi-faceted museum and resource for scholarly research and community outreach. While the Museum contains exhibits of authentic Indian artifacts, arts and crafts from Indian communities all over the Americas, our primary focus is on tribes from the American Southeast. Many items come from North Carolina Native communities, with special emphasis on Robeson County Indian people. Specific focus is placed on the largest North Carolina tribe, the Lumbee, but our outreach activities have extended into Virginia and South Carolina with plans for further outreach throughout the Southeast. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 9am-5pm. We typically close for lunch from noon-1pm. Contact: call 910/521-6282 or e-mail to (nativemuseum@uncp.edu).

Block Gallery (inside Raleigh Municipal Building), 222 W. Hargett St., Raleigh. Through Aug. 23 - "Plants, and birds, and rocks (and things)," curated by Nature Preserves Artist-in-Resident Scott Hazard, featuring works by Scott Hazard, Claire Alexandre, Annie Blazejack & Geddes Levenson, Julia Einstein, and Janet Link. The exhibition features nature-based artworks by NC artists and explores the natural, cultivated, and dystopian aspects of our cultures, societies, histories and landscapes. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 8:30am-5:15pm. Contact: Stacy Bloom Rexrode, Curator of Exhibitions and Collections, Raleigh Arts, call 919/996-4687 or at (<https://raleighnc.gov/arts/block-gallery>).

Work by Molly English

CAM Raleigh, 409 W. Martin Street, between Harrington and West streets, Raleigh. Main Gallery, Through Sept. 8 - "Crowning Glory," featuring works by Samantha Everette. "One of the most intimate yet universal experiences of Black women is the braiding of our hair. Our African and Indigenous ancestry endows hair with significance beyond physical beauty; our long flowing braids are a conduit for spiritual anointing, a symbol of tribe and belonging, and a method for intergenerational bonding," says Samantha Everette. "Inspired by her own experiences and by the Black women who make up her closest friends and family, Everette creates a scene that highlights their strength and beauty through the ritual of hair braiding." A ritual experienced around the world, the women tightly encircle Zya - a deeply intimate expression of sisterhood and inter-generational connection. Dressed in white, reminiscent of those worn by Orisha and Houdoun priestesses throughout the Diaspora. Emerging Artist Wall, Through Sept. 8 - "God's Plan For Shone," featuring works by Jalen Jackson. Jackson is a visual artist whose paintings explore African American culture, collective memory, and experiences. His paintings depict flashbacks of his childhood and other memories, especially growing up as a son of a single mother. Jackson began college as a Business Management student at North Carolina A&T University. During his junior year, he signed up for a painting class and rediscovered his love for art he has fostered as an African American child growing up in Durham, NC. He received his BFA in Visual Arts from NC A&T State University in 2021 and has exhibited locally at 311 Art Gallery, Anchorlight Studios, Wake Tech, Barton College, The Fruit and Artspace. He was the Inaugural HBCU Artist in Residence at Artspace in downtown Raleigh. Lower Level Gallery, Through Sept. 8 - "UNC Chapel Hill MFA Thesis Exhibitions". The Department of Art and Art History at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and the Contemporary Art Museum of Raleigh is proud to present four Masters of Fine Arts thesis exhibitions: Mark Anthony Brown Jr, Molly English, Matthew Troyer and Vera Weinfield. The MFA Thesis Exhibition is the culmination of an intensive two-year degree program in the visual arts driven by individual research. The program encourages interdisciplinary practice and experimentation. The four graduating artists present individual thesis exhibitions that each explore focused themes and materials, utilizing mediums ranging from painting and sculpture to photography and textiles. Stairway Gallery, Through Sept. 8 - "Zaire Miles-Moultrie". Miles-Moultrie is a Black artist based in Greensboro, North Carolina, whose creative journey is a testament to the profound impact of identity and culture on artistic expression. With a diverse array of mediums at his disposal, including drawing, collaging, and printmaking, he intricately weaves together elements of history, spirituality, and personal experience to explore the complex and surreal nature of blackness and life. Zaire's work has been featured in numerous exhibitions and galleries throughout the region and country, captivating audiences with its emotive power and thought-provoking themes. Currently, he is pursuing a BFA in studio art concentrating in printmaking and drawing. Admission: Yes. Hours: Mon., 11am-6:30pm; Wed.-Fri., 11am-6:30pm; Sat. & Sun., noon-5pm; and 1st & 3rd Fri., open till 9pm. Contact: 919/513-0946 or at (<http://camraleigh.org>).

Collective Arts Gallery & Ceramic Supply, 8801 Leadmine Road, Suite 103, Raleigh. Ongoing - Featuring works by local and nationally renowned artists on permanent exhibit. Hours: Tue.-Fri. 11am-7pm & Sat., 10am-6pm. Contact: 919/844-0765.

Diamante Arts & Cultural Center, 5104 Western Blvd., Suite B, Raleigh. Ongoing - The Diamante Arts & Cultural Center is a non-profit (501c3), a community grounded, arts and culture organization dedicated to the preservation, development, and promotion of the culture, heritage, and artistic expressions of the diverse Latino/Hispanic population in North Carolina. Diamante Arts and Cultural Center, the oldest Latino/Hispanic Arts and Culture organization in North Carolina, is celebrating 25 years of service. Through its programs and activities, it reaches more than 16,000 people per year. Recently, Diamante launched the Latino Artists Database, which collects information on Latino/x, and Hispanic artists in North Carolina. The information will be used to build and share opportunities for Latino artists throughout the state. Latino artists may add their information by visiting (bit.ly/Diamante-database). Hours: Tue.-Fri., 11am-5pm. Contact: 919/852-0075 or at (www.diamanteacc.org).

Gregg Museum of Art & Design, The Historic Chancellor's Residence, NC State University, located at 1903 Hillsborough Street, Raleigh. Ongoing - "Material Messages: the Tales that Textiles Tell". For thousands of years cultures around the world have used cloth as a means of visual communication—a way to document, celebrate, commemorate, and depict events large and small. Nonverbal tools play an important role in interactions within and between cultures, as verbal communication comprises only a small part of the ways that we, as human beings, share information and connect with each other. "Material Messages" features textiles created by a diversity of global artists that highlight this communication through cloth. Ongoing - "Selections from the Collections". Image of a beige quilt with a skeleton riding a wolf holding an american flag. the quilt is made out of old t shirts. Drawing from the Gregg Museum's collections of over 54,000 objects, Selections from the Collections displays a sampling of the many different kinds of pieces in its holdings. Though objects in the exhibition will rotate from time to time to facilitate their preservation and so that different artists and kinds of objects can be exhibited, the same general themes, materials, and variety of work will remain a part of this ongoing exhibition. For many years, Gregg audiences have been treated to wide ranging but relatively short-term exhibitions that explore topics or present artists' works for a matter of months, and then get changed out and replaced by entirely new shows. While this will continue, most visitors have departed without realizing that the Gregg staff also maintains vast collections used for teaching, research, supporting student projects, and, on occasion, as source material for the exhibitions in the public galleries. Historic Residence, Ongoing - One of NC State University's most historic buildings is now the permanent home of the Gregg Museum of Art & Design. The Historic Chancellor's Residence, located at 1903 Hillsborough Street, along with a 15,000 sq. ft. addition, increases the museum's visibility while significantly adding to its exhibition and programming space. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm. The Gregg does ask that larger groups (15+) call ahead at (919) 515-3503, to avoid crowding in the galleries. Contact: Zoe Starling, Curator of Education at 919/513-7244 or at (<https://gregg.arts.ncsu.edu>).

North Carolina Museum of Art, 2110 Blue Ridge Road, Raleigh. Through July 28 - "To Take Shape and Meaning: Form and Design in Contemporary American Indian Art". Organized by guest curator Nancy Strickland Fields (Lumbee), director/curator of the Museum of the Southeast American Indian at the University of North Carolina at Pembroke, the upcoming exhibition To Take Shape and Meaning: Form and Design in Contemporary American Indian Art features works by 75 Indigenous artists from over 50 tribes throughout the United States and Canada, including eight from North Carolina. "To Take Shape and Meaning" brings together a wide range of Indigenous world views, ideas, experiences, traditions, cultures, and media and emphasizes the continuity and evolution of Native arts, both collective and individual expressions of Native America. The exhibition, composed exclusively of 3-D artworks, includes baskets made of blown glass, cars transformed into works of art, and cutting-edge fashion ensembles embellished with elaborate beadwork and feathers. This project supports the NCMA's ongoing goal of presenting expansive and inclusive art historical narratives in all aspects of the Museum and of bringing in contemporary artists whose works focus on themes that are particularly relevant to the concerns of the current moment. East Building, Level B, Joyce W. Pope Gallery, Through July 21 - "Layered Legacies: Quilts from the Museum of Early Southern Decorative Arts at Old Salem". Quilts materialize the bonds of home, family, and community as they are passed down from generation to generation. Yet they are also records of our shared history, interwoven with broader social, cultural, and economic legacies that make up the complex fabric of the United States. Layered Legacies invites audiences to consider the multilayered stories stitched into quilts made in the American South between the late eighteenth and mid-nineteenth centuries. Featured are more than 30 bed coverings and related objects from the collection of the Museum of Early Southern Decorative Arts and Old Salem collections. Foregrounding the masterful artistry of women, these bed coverings are expressions of love, objects of exquisite craftsmanship, and material documents containing hidden stories of long-forgotten women, both white and Black, wealthy and enslaved, whose hands created and cared for these important textiles. Ann and Jim Goodnight Museum Park, Through Oct. 31 - "Park Billboards: Steven Paul Judd". Self-taught artist and filmmaker Steven Paul Judd (Kiowa/Choctaw) works across media, creating paintings, murals, mosaics, street art, posters, stickers, and T-shirt designs. His work disrupts American Indian stereotypes, often using humor, and reinterprets Native imagery through a pop culture lens. Judd participated in the Disney/ABC writing fellowship program in Los Angeles in 2008 and was a staff writer for the Disney XD series Zeke and Luther before transitioning to visual art and filmmaking. He has received a United States Artists fellowship and several Emmy nominations. He is based in Oklahoma City. Ongoing - "Break the Mold: New Takes on Traditional Art Making". The exhibit showcases contemporary artists who use traditional modes of art making and crafting to tackle timely subject matter. Innovative takes on embroidery, ceramics, quilting, furniture, interior design, and fashion accessories serve to explore diverse topics such as gender assumptions and inequalities, prison reform, racial justice, memory, and loss, as well as how objects transmit and transform social and cultural history. This show features 25 contemporary artists, including Sanford Biggers, Elizabeth Brim, Maria Britton, Julie Cockburn, Rodney McMillan, Rachel Meginnes, Katy Mixon, Gabriel de la Mora, Yasumasa Morimura, Thomas Schmidt, Shinique Smith, and Do Ho Suh, whose artworks are displayed alongside some of their historical predecessors. Ongoing - Featuring 10 additional sculptures by the celebrated French artist Rodin on loan from Iris Cantor's private collection. Ongoing - "John James Audubon's The Birds of America". The state has owned this treasured volume since 1848, but it has never been exhibited. Ongoing - The North Carolina Museum of Art has an outstanding permanent collection of more than 5,000 objects spanning antiquity to the present day. On the occasion of the expansion, the Museum has acquired more than 100 new works of art. Representing commissions, gifts, and purchases, the new works encompass important and diverse examples of historic and contemporary art from around the world, and will be installed in the Museum's new building and the surrounding landscape. Highlights include a gift of 28 sculptures by Auguste Rodin, and work by such internationally acclaimed artists as Roxy Paine, Ursula von Rydingsvard, El Anatsui, Jaime Plensa, Jackie Ferrara, Ellsworth Kelly, and David Park, among others. Admission: Yes for some exhibits. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 9am-5pm; Sun., 10am-5pm; & open until 9pm on Fri.

Works by Ed & Eleanor Pugh

North Carolina Pottery Center, 233 East Avenue, Seagrove. Main Gallery, Through Dec. 15 - "Something's Afoot". Footed pottery pieces, sometimes even having literal feet, have a rich history dating back thousands of years and have been found at archaeological sites in ancient Mesopotamia, Egypt, Greece, Rome, China, Mesoamerica, and Medieval & Renaissance Europe, as well as other places. Adding feet or stands to pottery pieces emerged over time for various reasons, including increased functionality, cultural and religious symbology, ceremonial purposes, and enhanced aesthetics. Today, footed pottery continues to be crafted by artisans worldwide, both as functional objects and works of art. Our "Something's Afoot" show will feature footed pieces by fourteen of our state's wonderful potters! For this show, "footed" means having two or more points of contact with the ground. Back Gallery, Through Dec. 15 - "Humble Components". When you break it down (not literally!), pottery, the product of a craft that likely originated independently in multiple regions around the world thousands of years ago and continues to be practiced in North Carolina today, is really just composed of humble components—clay and various minerals and elements. In our "Humble Components" show, you'll see old and contemporary pieces representing various North Carolina traditions and techniques: Native American pit-fired, slip-decorated redware, salt-glazed, alkaline-glazed, wood ash-glazed, Chinese blue, crystalline, and chrome red, next to samples of the humble components from which some of those pieces were made. Ongoing - Featuring permanent and changing exhibits on the history of North Carolina pottery, "The North Carolina Pottery Tradition" and "Seagrove Area Pottery". The Center also offers information on activities, maps and information about the potteries located in the Seagrove area and across the state. A display of representative works from more than 90 area potteries is also offered. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-4pm. Contact 336/873-8430 or at (www.ncpotterycenter.org).

Alexander Calder (American, 1898 - 1976) "Sunburst", c. 1973, Lithograph on paper, Collection of Cameron Art Museum, Gift of Bob and Bobbi Fitzsimmons

Louise Wells Cameron Art Museum, @ intersection of Independence Blvd. & South 17th Street, Wilmington. Through Oct. 20 - "The Work of Their Hands". The anchor work of "The Work of Their Hands" is a tulip quilt made 170 years ago by an now unknown, enslaved woman in North Carolina. Through her masterful stitchwork and time-honored design, this unknown artist sewed a story of strength and perseverance. Spinning forward from this quilt and its practice, The "Work of Their Hands" explores the continuing legacy of quilt-making and the evolution of textile art, starting with traditional quilts made for bedcoverings to contemporary fabric artworks by artists like Celeste Butler, Michael Cummings, Gee's Bend quilters, Michael James, Beverly Smith and others. Through Feb. 16, 2025 - "Thomas Sayre: Four Walls". The exhibit features new and never exhibited works by American artist Thomas Sayre. Each of the four large-scale pieces in the installation questions the belief systems and symbols that underpin the ideals of church, nation and creation. Made of materials that include tar, smoke, fabric gowns, gunshots, welding material, earth and fire, these works invite visitors to draw close and experience the messiness of making, and by analogy, to bear witness to the ways that life invades, entangles, and tarnishes us. Ongoing - Cameron Art Museum presents the only sculpture park in the country created to honor the United States Colored Troops and their fight for freedom. The opening of PNC USCT Park marks the one-year anniversary of the unveiling of Boundless, the public sculpture by artist Stephen Hayes that commemorates the United States Colored Troops and the Battle of Forks

Road. This park creates a gathering space for the more than 60,000 visitors from across the country who come to CAM each year and the 8,000 school children who visit the museum on field trips. PNC USCT Park will become a community space for gathering, field trips, classes, workshops, storytelling, live music and USCT living history events for years to come, in which the sculpture Boundless will be the centerpiece. Pancoe Art Education Center, Exhibition Cases, Ongoing - View some of the Seagrove and contemporary pottery from the museum's permanent collection in the cases. These include the works of resident artist Hiroshi Sueyoshi, Ben Owen III and Jugtown Pottery among other works. Admission: Yes. Through Sept. 2 - The Cameron Art Museum is proud to announce it will join museums nationwide in the Blue Star Museums initiative, a program that provides FREE admission to currently serving U.S. military personnel and their families this summer. The 2024 program ends on Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 2, 2024. Reynolda House Museum of American Art, Reynolda Road, Winston-Salem. Northwest Bedroom Gallery, Through Oct. 27 - "Good Impressions: Portraits Across Three Centuries from Reynolda and Wake Forest". Portraits are often taken at face value—as accurate representations of a person's appearance, sometimes removed by decades or centuries. But portraits are often the products of delicate negotiations between artist and subject. Sometimes they flatter, exaggerating the sitter's beauty or rich attire. Sometimes they capture the subject engaged in his or her occupation, whether pausing during study or painting in his or her studio. Sometimes they celebrate an auspicious occasion, such as a recent engagement or the imminent birth of a child. This exhibition features three centuries of portraits of men and women, Black and White, solitary and companionate, classic and modern. "Good Impressions" was mounted to mark the recent conservation treatment of John Singleton Copley's 1762 Portrait of "Mrs. Daniel Rogers" (Elizabeth Gorham Rogers) in the collection of Wake Forest University, and Reynolda House's recent acquisition of Kwame Brathwaite's 1973 photograph "Changing Times". Master Bedroom Gallery, Through Dec. 31 - "Still I Rise: The Black Experience at Reynolda". "Into a daybreak that's wondrously clear / I rise." Maya Angelou's poem "Still I Rise," published in 1978, was an assertion of dignity and resilience in the face of oppression. In the 1980s, Angelou used Reynolda as her stage, sharing words of humanity, survival, and triumph. But before her, numerous Black lives impacted and intersected with the story of Reynolda. "Still I Rise: The Black Experience at Reynolda" examines the lives of the Black women and men who helped shape Reynolda as it evolved from a Jim Crow era working estate into a museum for American art. East Bedroom Sleeping Porch, Ongoing - Featuring a condensed version of the fall 2023 exhibition "Smith & Libby: Two Rings, Seven Months, One Bullet". This semi-permanent exhibition presents a fascinating look at an unsolved shooting that rocked the Reynolda estate and made national headlines in 1932. Like most family homes, Reynolda House witnessed its share of tragedies, none more shocking than the death by gunshot of Zachary Smith ("Smith") Reynolds, youngest child of R.J. and Katharine Smith Reynolds. Soon after midnight on July 6, 1932, Smith was shot on a sleeping porch at the family's country estate. Smith died later that morning. Smith's wife Libby Holman and Smith's childhood friend and secretary Albert "Ab" Walker were ultimately charged with first-degree murder. In a stunning reversal, the case was dropped before coming to trial. To this day, it is not known whether Smith Reynolds, 20-year-old heir and renowned aviator, died by suicide, accident or murder. Ongoing - Collection of 18th through 20th century art, sculpture, American art, and pottery. Admission: Yes. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 9:30am-4:30pm & Sun., 1:30-4:30pm. Contact: 336/725-5325 or at (<https://reynolda.org/>).

Allana Clarke, "I feel Everything"

Southeastern Center for Contemporary Art, 750 Marguerite Drive, Winston-Salem. Main Gallery, Through Aug. 18 - "David Gilbert: Flutter," featuring an exhibition of photography by Los Angeles-based artist David Gilbert. "Flutter" marks the artist's first institutional solo exhibition, providing the unique opportunity to experience twelve years of Gilbert's work in one setting. David Gilbert (American, b. 1982) creates photographs that flirt with impermanence. The artist constructs playful sculptures, backdrops, and scenes from found materials, photographing them in distinctive views and dramatic natural light. The resulting pictures capture spontaneous moments, paired with lightheartedness and sensitivity. Gilbert's artistic practice is difficult to categorize. He is a painter, sculptor, and photographer. His approaches to making art vary, alternating between vibrant and colorful scenes to more austere, melancholic constructions. At certain points, his process echoes traditional still life, portrait, or landscape painting, yet his choice in subject matter and technique resists these rigid classifications. Potter Gallery, Through Sept. 15 - "Tender," featuring body- and word-based sculptures which explore intertwined layers of black identity, history, and hope by Trinidadian-American artist Allana Clarke. The visceral performance art and sensual sculptures of Detroit-based artist Allana Clarke (b. 1987) embody a profound interest in conveying the lived narratives of Black women within the African diaspora. Her deliberate choice of materials, such as 30-second hair bonding glue and cocoa butter, form part of a conceptual effort to rethink familiar material and reshape history. Ongoing - Founded in 1956, the Southeastern Center for Contemporary Art offers a front-row seat to the art of our time. Through visual art exhibitions, education, music, film, dance and theater, SECCA starts conversations that engage diverse communities and perspectives. ## Virtual Exhibits

Artsville Collective in the Asheville, NC, area proudly presents the Virtual Gallery of Artists (VGA) program, an initiative designed to help elevate the careers of local artists. VGA offers artists a unique opportunity to gain global exposure, valuable marketing skills, and an array of promotional resources. The VGA program invites individual artists to apply for three months of marketing exposure through print, digital, and podcast platforms. Artsville provides guidance on building relationships with the press and art buyers, empowering artists by coming alongside them and forming connections. Notably, Artsville does not take any commissions on art sales, ensuring artists keep their full earnings. For further information about Artsville programs and opportunities, contact Meredith McBride by e-mail at (mccoy.louise.mcb@gmail.com), call 828/216-8050 or visit (<https://www.artsvilleusa.com/>).

Work by Lou Ella Tucker

Pink Dog Creative Gallery, 348 Depot Street, in the River Arts District, Asheville. Through July 14 - "FULL CIRCLE, Conversations in Art and Poetry," featuring works by Ginger Graziano. A reception will be held on June 21, from 6-8pm. New York City native Ginger Graziano reached a point where she knew she had graduated from her chaotic life as a single mother raising two children while working as a design director for children's educational publishing in Manhattan. She kept asking herself "where are all the trees?" She had a vision of where she would move to and searched America until she came to Asheville, North Carolina twenty-three years ago and took a hike. July 19 - Sept. 22 - "Story / Place," featuring works by Lou Ella Tucker. A reception will be held on July 20, from 5-8pm. As a professional interior designer for 35 years, Lou Ella Tucker interacted intimately with the nuances of spaces. Her curiosity of how spaces influence us and how we influence them, has led her to record their unique stories of humanity around the world. By layering images into 3-dimensional structures through folding, weaving and/or sewing, new perspectives emerge. Hours: Fri. & Sat., 11am-5pm or by chance. Trackside Studios, 375 Depot Street, River Arts District, Asheville. Stairway Gallery, Through July 11 - "An Emergence". Personal and global events, introspection, chaos, changing seasons, people and places – countless currents affect the ebb and flow of an individual's life and how it is reflected back in their choices, actions, and art. A reception will be held on June 8, from 2-6pm. The exhibit features works by: Deborah Kolp, John Diamond-Nigh, Lanie McKeever, Li Newton, and Nancy Moore. Each piece is accompanied by the artist's description of how their art reflects their journey or their interpretation of emergence. Kolp is a teaching artist inspired by inner states of consciousness revealed by the human face. In Adam, she examines the concept of the "first created person" in the three major monotheistic religions (Jewish, Christian, Muslim) merged with the themes of the earliest known human remains found in Ethiopia and the current "bubbling to national awareness" of the civil rights movement in America after the death of George Floyd. Ongoing - Our new spaces on the main and mezzanine levels feature 9 working studios, numerous display areas, and a dedicated classroom. Visitors often seek local work that commemorates their trip here - especially if it travels easily. Sunset River Gallery offers a wonderfully eclectic mix. The "Small Works" show is ideal for any art lover who wants to take a small piece of the Carolina coast home with them. Ongoing - Sunset River Gallery is a gallery where art lovers and investors at almost every level can find extraordinary art. The gallery serves the regional community in the Carolinas by representing exceptional local artists and also carries original work by internationally renowned artists. Its location in Calabash, North Carolina gives the gallery an advantage over many in major metropolitan areas. The large 10,000 square foot gallery offers the very low overhead of a gallery-owned facility in a cost-efficient location. Online reach has made this possible. It allows Sunset River to provide excellent works from the 20th Century Modern and Contemporary categories at better pricing than high-overhead galleries. New owner Larry Johnson from Bethesda, MD, has bought and sold art through major and middle-market auctions around the world for two decades. He has been an amateur painter and sculptor for years, achieving a minor in fine art from Purdue University. The gallery has added a new 20th Century Art installation, featuring rare and valuable fine and modern art, primarily impressionist and abstract. FrameCenter hours are Wed. - Fri., noon-5pm and by appt. Call Lou Aliotta directly at 910/368-7351. Gallery Hours: Mon.-Sat., 11am-5pm. Contact: 910/575-5999 or at (sunsetrivergallery.com).

Work by Ellie Snow

Hillsborough Gallery of Arts, 121 N. Churton St., Suite 1-D, Hillsborough. Through July 24 - "Color and Form," featuring works by Nell Chandler, Ellie Reinhold, and Evelyn Ward. "When we throw around titles for our featured artists' shows we try to suggest titles all three of us are familiar with and challenged by" says jeweler Nell Chandler. "I would say that I'm staying within my recent purview of little structures" explains painter Ellie Reinhold, "but running with the title ("Color and Form") in trying to shake it up a little bit with both a different approach to color and new venues for it. We'll see if I manage it!" "Color, form, function. Not necessarily in that order," says potter Evelyn Ward. "Balancing the shape of a pot (or its form), how it will look on the surface and how it will be used are basically the job requirements of being a potter. The great thing is that this is an endless pursuit, an endless endeavor." July 23 - Aug. 25 - "Natural Patterns: Flora and Fauna," featuring works by Ellie Snow and Lynn Wartski. A reception will be held on July 26, from 6-9pm. For painter Ellie Snow, painting is an escape, a window into a fairy tale world where she can ponder the beauty and complexity of life, and the stories that repeat themselves, like patterns, through time. Snow's artworks begin with nature photographs taken while exploring. "At home, I collage, edit, and make double exposures to create a scene that is playful and mysterious. I think of each painting as an introduction to a story about life's fits and starts, imperfection, darkness, light, magic, weirdness, and beauty." Last year artist Lynn Wartski started to treat the surface of her anthropomorphic sculptures as an additional canvas. She created animal figures that had bold flowers, nautical "tattoos", and wintery motifs on them. Liking the results, Wartski decided to carry that idea into the sculptures for this year's show - but with a twist. "Instead of just thematic or decorative elements, I began with creatures that had distinctive natural patterns, known in the fashion world as "animal prints." Ongoing - HGA is owned by 21 local artists featuring painting, sculpture, photography, glass art, jewelry, wood, pottery, textiles & fiber art. Gallery C, 540 North Blount Street, Raleigh. Through July 27 - "Wladimir de Terlikowski (1873 -1951): Paintings from 1920's Paris". Wladimir de Terlikowski, known as "the Polish Master", spent much of his life working in Paris among a distinguished group of contemporaries including Modigliani, Picasso, Soutine, Chagall and Matisse, a group now referred to as the School of Paris. His work was greatly influenced by these masters and the art movements of the time. Traces of Fauvism, Cubism, and Impressionism, are all clearly evident in his work. Terlikowski's canvases are admired for their vibrant colors and strong sense of light with a palette largely inspired by the environs of the French countryside and coast. His recognizable palette knife technique has earned him comparisons to Paul Cezanne and Auguste Renoir. Gallery C is proud to offer these paintings from Wladimir's estate. Work by Burk Uzzle

Burk Uzzle Studio, 106 Douglas Street E, Wilson. Ongoing - Burk Uzzle's career, like his pictures, is a nuanced composition blending American culture, individual psyches of particular places and people, and an atypical way of seeing ourselves, our values, and our community. Always respectful yet locating the poignant or quirky, the history of his narrative belongs to all of us. Initially grounded in documentary photography when he was the youngest photographer hired by "LIFE magazine" at age 23, his work grew into a combination of split-second impressions reflecting the human condition during his tenure as a member of the prestigious international Magnum cooperative founded by one of his mentors Henri Cartier-Bresson. His archive spans almost six decades. His current work rests deep in photographic appreciation of the quiet, strong, and eloquent beauty he discovers in America's small towns and its people. It is along small back roads, limned with feelings and a surety of surprise for the heart wide open, that continue to support his understanding of how America keeps its personality out on a limb. Uzzle's current bodies of work (some of which are African-American) are artful and constructed reflections of his subjects. His hope is for a graphic presentation of something universal within the particular, and all the better when involving a gentle chuckle and knowing smile. He is represented by SOCO Gallery in Charlotte, NC and Tracy Morgan Gallery in Asheville, NC. Hours: by appt. Contact: 252/363-1812 or e-mail to (burk@burkuzzle.com).

He finds home in Wilson with his wife Brenda. Hours: by appt. Contact: 252/230-9797 or at (<https://houseofvanbaars.com/>).

Iconostar Art Studio and Park, 224 Goldsboro Street SW, Wilson. Ongoing - Featuring sculpture by Elizabeth Laul Healey. Iconostars are made with the artist's signature "Circles of Life" motif. They represent loved ones, animals, and our precious Mother Earth. Each circle is unique and has its own backstory. All Iconostars have one thing in common, they each have clear eyes so that any person who looks at them can have the ability to see themselves through their eyes. The Iconostar sculptures are made from a variety of materials including, glass tile, stones and crystals, watches, drawer handles, sea shells, miscellaneous found objects, and love. Their bases are made from foam, PVC pipes filled with sand, rebar, wood, glue, grout and more. Hours: Thur., noon-10pm; Fri. & Sat., noon-6pm; or by appt. Contact: 310/488-1834 or at (<https://elizabethlaulhealey.com/>).
