North Carolina Arts Council

Fifty years of leadership

The Arts in North Carolina and COVID-19

Even though participation in the arts has been greatly disrupted by the coronavirus pandemic, and artists and arts organizations severely impacted, our network across North Carolina is responding in a myriad of creative ways that demonstrate the power of the arts to connect, cope, and heal. We at the North Carolina Arts Council want to do our part to call attention to important action items and resources that will benefit the state's arts industry. For further information visit (<https://www.ncarts.org/arts-north-carolina-and-covid-19>).

North Carolina Artist Relief Fund
Location: North Carolina

This fund has been created to support creative individuals who have been financially impacted by gig cancellations due to the outbreak of COVID-19. Artists and arts presenters in North Carolina can apply for emergency funding. Apply at this link (<https://vaeraleigh.org/artist-relief-fund>).

COVID-19 and the arts in South Carolina

As with the rest of state government, the South Carolina Arts Commission remains open and serving our constituents. Our team continues working diligently to respond to your needs. During this time, the best way to reach us is via email. We will resume in-person business as soon as state/local authorities and public health experts deem it safe to do so. For further info visit (<https://www.southcarolinaarts.com/covid-19-response/>).

CERF+ Emergency Relief Fund

Artists who have suffered from a recent, career threatening emergency, such as an illness, accident, fire or natural disaster, can apply for funding.

CERF+ also has a list of resources (<https://cerfplus.org/coronavirus/>) centered around the pandemic.

For more information visit (<https://cerfplus.org/get-relief/apply-for-help/craft-emergency-relief-fund/>).

The National Endowment for the Arts is open for business. Our staff, while working remotely for the next several weeks, is available to you via phone or email, as usual. We look forward to receiving and reviewing our next round of grant applications in the coming weeks. We're also evaluating our grant application deadlines and may adjust them to help applicants dealing with the effects of COVID-19.

We know that there are more than five million Americans who make their livelihoods in the broader arts and cultural sector across the country and are potentially at risk. We also know that the arts provide comfort, resilience, wisdom, and the means for self-expression and connection, perhaps even more so during challenging times such as these.

We have FAQs and relief resources and opportunities related to COVID-19 available on our website at (<https://www.arts.gov/covid-19-resources-for-artists-and-arts-organizations>), and we will continue to update these sections with new information as it becomes available.

Editorial COMMENTARY

by Tom Starland, Editor and Publisher

On Our Cover This Month

On our cover this month is the image, "Young American," 26.75" x 37.5", oil on mylar, by Charles Edward Williams, part of the exhibit, "Protect + Serve", which will be on view this August in New York City. Williams will also have work in a group landscape show, "2020 TWENTY", during the month of August at Robert Lange Studios in Charleston, SC.

Williams is from Georgetown, SC, he received his Bachelor of Fine Arts, Savannah College of Art and Design, 2006 Savannah, GA, and his Masters of Fine Arts, University of North Carolina at Greensboro, 2017 Greensboro, NC. He is a rising star in the Carolina Art community.

This is Williams' second "Carolina Arts" cover. The first came on our October 2016 issue and I hope this is not the last we'll see of his work gracing our cover - although it may be a few more years down the road.

Finding Our Plateau

"Carolina Arts" has reached our plateau - I hope, as far as the COVID-19 Pandemic is concerned. Now, if only North and South Carolina could reach a plateau on their numbers, but COVID-19 cases just seem to be going up.

Our page numbers tell the sad story:

Feb. 60
Mar. 66
Apr. 50
May 48
June 50
July 47
Aug. 48

January and February are part of the slow Winter months, so no big sign there. March was kind of slow when it has been one of our biggest months of the year. The real telling is May, the height of our normal art season, but it was a disaster. So many art events had been cancelled during the months before. The fact that August, the peak heat of the Summer is as good as May, is a good sign. So, I hope everything, as far as page numbers go, might be uphill from now on for us. At least I hope they are. Our numbers are tied to the Pandemic, just like everything is. If the Pandemic gets worse, that's bad for us. If the Pandemic numbers go down, our page numbers should go up.

More art venues are opening up, if only on a limited basis, but that should get better as long as people use common sense - by wearing masks (which is required by both States) and practice social distancing - which shouldn't be that hard. Galleries and art museums are not usually that crowded - without the free food, free drinks and party atmosphere of a reception. And currently receptions are out and replaced by some commercial galleries with all day drop-ins. The all day drop-ins make more sense by spreading the visitors throughout the day.

The next issue, September, will tell us more of where things are going depending on what the colleges and universities decide to do - open or stay closed. A lot of exhibits we tell you about are held at colleges or university art venues. Normally, even during the Summer months, some of them still show art - some have the same work on their walls that they put there at the beginning of the year, but not many people got to see them. Some exhibits went up and the doors closed and then after a period of time, had to come down and head off to some other venue, as they were traveling exhibits. They passed us like ships in the night - unseen. That's too bad. But, as people who have no explanation for what's happening

Gibbes Museum of Art in Charleston, SC, Offers Look at Collection of Jonathan Green & Richard Weedman

The Gibbes Museum of Art in Charleston, SC, will present Building a Legacy: The Vibrant Vision Collection of Jonathan Green and Richard Weedman, view in Gallery 8, from Aug. 21 through Jan. 10, 2021.

Over the past forty years, acclaimed artist Jonathan Green and his partner and studio director, Richard Weedman, have amassed an astonishing collection of nearly 1,300 paintings, sculpture, and works on paper. Building a Legacy presents a selection of forty-nine works of art from this significant private collection, offering a rare glimpse at the couple's aesthetic interests and the artistic inspiration behind Green's own artwork.

"Fishing Spot", 2011; by Jonathan Green (American, 1955 -); oil on canvas, 11 x 14 inches; image courtesy of Vibrant Vision Collection of Jonathan Green and Richard Weedman.

The exhibition explores the themes of work, love, belonging, and spirituality. Works in the exhibition portray tender moments between a parent and child, struggles for racial equality, pride in ancestral heritage, and strength derived through personal faith. The collection also expands the traditional notion of American art and identity, embracing a Pan American approach that goes beyond the United States to include art and artists of African, Caribbean, and Latin American descent. This approach provides a broader look at our nation's history and a better understanding of what it means to be American today.

In addition to Green's own work the collection highlights include works by artists such as, Jacob Lawrence, Elizabeth Catlett, Charles White, David Driskell, Sam Gilliam, Ruben Gonzalez, and Reynier Llanes.

Charleston Museum in Charleston, SC, Offers Interpretation of Charleston Renaissance

The Charleston Museum in Charleston, SC, is presenting From Etchings to Pastels: A New Artistic Interpretation of the Charleston Renaissance, on view in the Museum's Lowcountry Image Gallery, through Nov. 29, 2020.

The Charleston Renaissance Movement was a cultural renewal that brought a diverse group of people together to improve and preserve the city through artistic expression. Artists, musicians, architects, writers and photographers participated in organizations such as the Charleston Etchers' Club, the Jenkins Orphanage Band and the Poetry Society of South Carolina, to communicate Charleston's past through art.

The Charleston Etchers' Club was founded in 1923 by some of the most prominent artists in Charleston, among them Elizabeth O'Neill Verner, Alfred Hutty, Antoinette Rhett and Alice Ravenel Huger Smith. Under the leadership of then director Laura Bragg, The Charleston Museum housed a large etching press for the Club in exchange for their etched creations. Donating a total of 136 etchings, they are some of the Museum's most prized works on paper.

The Charleston Museum has partnered with the Pastel Society of South Carolina to present a new interpretation of a selected number of etchings originally created by members of the Charleston Etchers' Club. View the works side by side and vote for your "People's Choice Award," to be announced at the end of the exhibit.

For further information check our SC Institutional Gallery listings, call the Museum at 843/722-2996 or visit (www.charlestonmuseum.org).

City of North Charleston, SC, Features Works by Nicole Robinson & Sarah Harris at the New Park Circle Gallery

As is the case with many arts organizations at this time, the City of North Charleston's Cultural Arts Department is adjusting operations and programming in order to overcome the challenges presented as a result of COVID-19. The indefinite closure of the Charleston Area Convention Center, Performing Arts Center, and Coliseum campus where the North Charleston City Gallery is located has prompted the department to make some unexpected decisions to get back to presenting artwork to the public. For that reason, beginning in August, Cultural Arts will present the monthly art exhibitions originally scheduled for the North Charleston City Gallery at the new Park Circle Gallery.

Formerly known as the Olde Village Community Building, the Park Circle Gallery (PCG) is located at 4820 Jenkins Avenue in the bustling Park Circle neighborhood of North Charleston, SC. Gallery hours are Tue.-Fri., from 10am-6pm, and Sat., from noon-4pm. Admission is free. In addition to the monthly exhibitions, the "gift shop" at the North Charleston City Gallery, which features a variety of items by local artists, will also be moved to PCG. Cultural Arts will also continue to host art workshops and recurring meetings for art groups and guilds in the space once gatherings are safe to resume.

Park Circle Gallery's inaugural exhibitions include photographs by Nicole Robinson of Charleston, SC, and paintings by Sarah Harris of Hanahan, SC. The concurrent solo exhibitions will be on view Aug. 1-29, 2020.

Work by Nicole Robinson

In her exhibit, Abstraction: Tidal Obsession, photographer Nicole Robinson presents a series of long exposure tidal landscapes. Robinson is drawn to simple subjects with interesting light, texture, and motion. She uses long exposures in combination with hand panning across her subjects to create a natural abstract image. By inviting this distortion into her work, Robinson seeks an emotional response from the viewer. "There has to be more that you derive from an image than just documentation of being in a certain place or time. If the image provokes thought or questions or stirs desire; there is where I find success of my art," says Robinson.

Robinson is a self-taught photographer who has lived in the Carolinas for more than 25 years. Her work is in many private collections throughout the United States. She has been represented at the Lowcountry Artist Gallery and is a founding member of the Catch Light Gallery in North Carolina. She has participated in group and solo exhibitions throughout the Southeast. A construction worker by trade, she considers herself a photographer at heart and draws inspiration from the beauty of the natural world.

Sarah Harris' exhibit, Abandoned Paradise, features a series of oil paintings that explore the subject of abandoned and run-down buildings in downtown Charleston, SC. "The abandoned buildings in our city have an unusual and mysterious beauty," she says. "Behind the decrepit walls there is an untold story." Harris begins each piece by photographing her subject and sometimes researching its history. Using her photographs as a reference, she begins each composition with loose, expressive washes of diluted paint and builds up layers to develop more details. She then adds thick impasto painting with a palette knife to mimic the texture and decay of these neglected buildings.

"I want the exterior to pop out of the canvas as though it is three-dimensional," says Harris. "During this process I explore and experiment with oil paint and push it beyond limit." By incorporating a variety of techniques and textures in her paintings, Harris draws attention to some of the possibilities of oil paint as a medium.

Harris earned a BA in Studio Art from the College of Charleston in 2013, with additional studies in Graphic Imagery at Trident Technical College in 2014. As a child, Harris ventured into theater and creative writing. It was not until her early 20's that she fell into the visual arts and developed a passion for painting. Since then, she has exhibited her work in a number of solo and group shows at venues and events throughout the Lowcountry, including the Halsey Institute of Contemporary Art and the North Charleston Arts Fest.

In compliance with safety recommendations from the CDC and SCDHEC, gallery capacity is currently limited to 10 people at a time. Staff and all visitors must wear a mask while they are in the gallery and practice social distancing. Hand sanitizer will be provided upon entry.

For further information check our SC Institutional Gallery listings, call 843/637-3565, e-mail to (culturalarts@north-charleston.org) or visit (www.northcharleston.org).

Horton Hayes Fine Art in Charleston, SC, is Celebrating 50 Years of Rhett Thurman

Horton Hayes Fine Art in Charleston, SC, is presenting a YouTube video, Celebrating Rhett Thurman: Painting in Charleston for 50 Years!, featuring 13 paintings which Thurman talks about at (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wJA2XNBPqvA&feature=youtu.be>). In July the painting were on display, but many have sold. They were planning a big splash in May, but then the COVID-19 Pandemic settled in Charleston and South Carolina.

"2020 marks my 50th year of painting in Charleston, and we are celebrating at The Horton Hayes gallery at 30 State Street in Charleston, SC," says Thurman. "My work has never been about subject matter, and remains a pursuit of dazzling light in a fleeting moment. As I say in my video, which I invite you to enjoy, there is still so much to learn, so much to try, and the best painting must always lie ahead. I am convinced that on my dying day I will be saying, 'Hold on! I've got to fix this one little thing!' Trying new things, edging out my comfort zone, trying always to be a better painter will always be my underlying theme."

Thurman grew up in the tiny hamlet of Gramling, SC, at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains. "It was the ideal way to start life," she says, "surrounded by loving, caring, high expectation people and beautiful scenery." She has lived in Charleston since 1970 where she has painted her entire adult life. Thurman was one of 10 painters featured in American Artists in Paris in 2013. She has achieved national acclaim for both oils and watercolors, winning awards from New York to California, and has exhibited with the prestigious American and National Watercolor Societies, and The Catherine Lorillard Wolfe Art Club of New York.

"23 Years at 241 King St." by Rhett Thurman

Thurman's work has been featured in national publications and is included in private, museum and corporate collections. She is the recipient of the 1995 Outstanding Alumna Award from Queens College in Charlotte, NC, where she earned her degree in Studio Art. Her education and painting experience include further study in Europe and the United States. In turn, she has taught workshops nationally and internationally. In bold palette, her work offers an intimate glimpse at her life experiences.

Thurman has served as president of South Carolina Watercolor Society (now SC Watermedia Society), was a long standing faculty member with the Gibbes Museum of Art and the Artist in Residence for their Poet and Painters series.

Paintings may be viewed by appointment at Horton Hayes Fine Art. Call the Gallery at 843/958-0014, e-mail to (info@hortonhayes.com) or visit (www.hortonhayes.com). You can also see more of Thurman's work at the Rhett Thurman Studio, at 241 King Street. Make an appointment by calling 843/577-6066 or visit (www.rhettthurmanstudio.com). Thurman is also represented by The Red Piano Art Gallery in Bluffton, SC.

Editor's Note: I've been around Charleston's art community for a while, so I know some things. When I started doing an arts publication I came across some unique people in the visual art community, Willard Hirsch (sculptor), Louis Schwartz (photographer), William Halsey (painter & sculptor) & Corrie McCallum (painter) - they were all part of the end of the first Charleston Renaissance. Then there were the Four Amigos (as I thought of them), four women painters who were as thick as thieves: Eva Carter, Margaret Petterson, Betty Anglin Smith, & Rhett Thurman. They are part of Charleston's second Renaissance. They have all been supportive of our efforts to report on the art community, and we try to be supportive in return, but the best thing is, I love the work all four of them create. In their own individual way, they have all contributed much to Charleston and beyond. Now there is a retrospective exhibition I'd love to see someone present - that would be one heck of an exhibit.

Ella Walton Richardson Fine Art in Charleston, SC, Features Works by Richard Oversmith

Ella Walton Richardson Fine Art in Charleston, SC, is presenting Tranquility, featuring works by Richard Oversmith, on view through Aug. 10, 2020.

Oversmith's purpose in painting is to engage the viewer to interact with his pieces. His paintings are his voice, and stroke by stroke, he composes a whole that relates his vision. He primarily works in oil which is a medium compatible with the passion he puts into his creation.

Work by Richard Oversmith

Oversmith received formal training in Fine Art and Illustration at Kendall College of Art and Design in Grand Rapids, MI. While at Kendall he was invited to study at the Royal College of Art in London, England. There he gained essential experience in plein air painting which changed his direction as an oil painter. Oversmith allows the setting to speak to him, creating only as many brushstrokes as are needed for the viewer's eyes to understand and connect.

Oversmith finds inspiration not only at home but in his many travels. He has painted all over the USA and has taken several trips overseas to France and Italy. Whether at home or abroad, he surrounds himself in the elements of the scene while painting, in true "en plein air" fashion. In the studio, his sense of vision and mood guide him to produce still life's ranging from the classic to the imaginative.

The natural beauty of Western North Carolina has proven to offer infinite inspiration for Oversmith's impressionistic landscapes. From rolling mountains to abundant waterfalls, the majestic Biltmore Estate to a simple farm scene, this region evokes the artist's muse.

Three Chapters of the National Association of Women Artists Offer Virtual Exhibition

The South Carolina, Florida and Massachusetts Chapters of the National Association of Women Artists are presenting the virtual exhibit, Some Like it Hot, through Aug. 25, 2020, at the link (www.nawasc.org).

This will be the first combined virtual art exhibit by members of three Chapters.

Work by Mary Steffen

The first NAWA Chapter was founded in Florida in 1995, followed by the Massachusetts Chapter in 2013. Our newest Chapter, South Carolina, was created in 2018. The NAWA Chapters extend the mission of our National organization by promoting highly visible juried exhibitions, and designing art education opportunities for its members as well as promoting women's art in their communities.

Our NAWA Chapters encourage each new generation of women artists to strive for proper recognition for their vision, expertise and contributions to the art world.

Artists wishing to join any of the NAWA State Chapters must first be juried into the National Organization (NAWA). NAWA is a 501C3 not-for-profit tax-exempt organization. We invite you to learn more about our chapters by visiting our websites at (www.nawasc.org); (<https://nawama.org>); or (<https://nawaf.org>).

Art League of Hilton Head on Hilton Head Island, SC, Features Works by Jan Ross

The Art League of Hilton Head on Hilton Head Island, SC, will present Jan Ross Watercolors: People, Places and Things, In a New Light, on view at the Art League Gallery, Aug. 4 - 29, 2020.

Ross, a beloved instructor at Art League Academy, is known for her technique of layering pigment to produce vibrant, translucent colors; her work is bold, cheerful, and sometimes humorous, presenting people and places in a loving light. She strives to capture the personality of a person, or draw attention to overlooked details in a landscape or ordinary objects.

Work by Jan Ross

Ross' formal art training began at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts. She has studied with some of America's top watercolor painters. Eight different watercolor societies in the US have awarded her "Signature Membership," their highest credential for achievement in watercolors. She was also named "Member of Excellence," the highest award of the Atlanta Artists Center, the largest art organization in the Southeast. Her award-winning watercolors have been accepted in more than 500 local, regional, national and international juried competitions, as well as numerous one-woman and invitational exhibitions. Ross' work has been published extensively, and hangs in collections across the US and Europe.

Spartanburg County Public Headquarters Library in Spartanburg, SC, Features Fiber Works by Cecilia Ho

The Spartanburg County Public Headquarters Library in Spartanburg, SC, is presenting FELT Expressions, an exhibition by Greenville SC fiber artist, Cecilia Ho, on view in the Library’s Crutchfield Gallery, through Sept. 9, 2020.

Inspired by geodes, with especially colorful linings of banded agate, this collection of organic wool felt displays one of Nature’s many creative expressions. Unique felt patterns are naturally formed by Merino sheep wool, Mulberry silk and TENCEL™ - cellulosic fibers from wood pulp, via the traditional wet felting, modern needle felting and nuno felting process.

“Felt It. Love it. Treasure It.” Memories are created through the process of felting. Every time you touch it, feel it and look more into it, you will discover more magical moments!

“Felting allows me to manipulate one of the oldest textile techniques; to incorporate contemporary felting applications; and to create decorative yet functional wool felt creations.” says Ho. “Felting allows me to feel the softness of wool from sheep, goats, and sometimes plant fibers. For those who see and touch and sometimes even smell my wool felt collection, try to look beyond the objects and explore the Science of Wool and embrace its sustainable beauty. With natural fibers, felt can be handcrafted in all kinds of formations, shapes, textures and colors. While my designs are surrounded by all natural and organic things, there are endless possibilities through felting.”

tion, I hope you will feel Nature’s many expressions. Like a geode, it is a blessing in disguise. Geode comes from the Greek word “γεώδης” (geóides) meaning “earth-like”. From the outside, geodes resemble common rocks, but when they are broken open, they reveal a hollow cavity lined with a layer of agate and often filled with crystals. It’s a mysterious gift from Mother Nature which symbolizes inner beauty.

“Natural felting also depends on environmental conditions (moisture, temperature, pH),” explains Ho. “Wool fibers with natural scales can become felt and create organic patterns. Most exhibits are transformed from Merino sheep wool, Mulberry silk and TENCEL™ - cellulosic fibers from wood pulp, into wool fabric or sculptures by applying the traditional wet felting technique that requires repeated matting and agitating. Combining wool and silk chiffon fabric with modern Nuno Felting technique, the sheer see-through panel becomes an alternative to opaque solid wool felt. Some exhibits also include needle felting, beading & carving to create additional textures. Felting can express my imagination. This [FELT Expressions] collection is one way for me to show my gratitude to Mother Nature!”

Cecilia Ho was born into a family of designers in Hong Kong. She is a self-taught fiber artist who has been experimenting and creating all kinds of wool felt creations since 2010. After her relocation to the Upstate SC, Ho has been teaching felting workshops monthly to all age groups in Spartanburg Art Museum and at the Greenville Center for Creative Arts since 2015, and also at OLLI Furman since 2019. She is also actively running demonstrations at public festivals across the USA. Currently, Ho is a SC Arts Commission Certified Teaching Artist running fiber arts integration (STEAM) units at multiple local, regional and national organizations & schools. FELTasticFashion is a business created to offer felting supplies, hands-on learning DIY kits, private workshop and team building events, as well as customized wool felt commissions. like to say - it is what it is.

We’re going to hang in there for the time being, hoping there is an end in sight. Artists will keep making art, it’s in their nature to produce, whether people see what they produce or not, and after 33 years, telling you what there is to see in the Carolinas is in our nature. Besides, we’ve passed the hump of this year already - it’s all downhill towards the end of the year and I want to see what 2021 looks like - Carolina art wise. It’s got to be better than 2020 has been.

We want people to stay safe and stay healthy, but a trip to an art exhibit or art gallery might just be what you need right now after staying at home or if you’ve been one of the health care workers taking care of people. And, if you get out there and see some art, you just might feel the need to take some home with you - that would make a gallery owner and an artist really happy - just what they need right now. Either way, it can’t hurt, as long as you do it safely.

If you are still cautious about going anywhere inside, there are many outdoor displays of art - public art in park settings, on college & university campuses, and around some cities. You can get some fresh air, some exercise, and give your eyes and mind something to study better than reruns of “MASH” or “Friends”. And, it’s all free for the viewing and you might not have to wear a mask depending on how many other people had the same idea. Go see what’s out there.

Southern Arts Society in Kings Mountain, NC, Offers Most Recent Works by Member Artists

The Southern Arts Society in Kings Mountain, NC, is presenting A Fresh Look Art, a competition and exhibition, on view at the Society's Gift Shop & Gallery, through Aug. 14, 2020.

Even during a Pandemic there is beauty all around us. Artists from around the region are displaying their artwork in Southern Arts Society's latest show entitled A Fresh Look. Ninety-three pieces of art in a variety of media were entered to be judged for cash prizes. Artists were asked to show their most recent work taking a fresh look at the world around them – a very appropriate theme for these trying times. Though life may be unsettling, much of the work still focuses on the bright colors of summer, heartwarming themes, and the sanctuary found in the outdoors.

Judging the show was Felicia van Bork. Born in Toronto, Canada, van Bork completed her undergraduate studies at the Ontario College of Art and Design University and earned her MFA at the Massachusetts College of Art and Design at the Fine Arts Work Center, Provincetown, MA. The artist's paintings and collages are widely collected in the United States and Canada and van Bork has been the recipient of numerous residency fellowships, including from the Virginia Center for the Creative Arts and McColl Center for Art + Innovation, where she manages the printmaking studio. In the summer of 2017, she was a Visiting Artist at the American Academy in Rome. Van Bork's collage, How to Mine the Past, is in the permanent collection of the Mint Museum of Art, Charlotte, NC.

Awards were presented virtually via Facebook on July 10. Winners will be posted on Southern Arts Society's website and sent via e-mail. Artwork in the exhibit is available for sale.

During the Pandemic, visitors to Southern Arts Society are asked to please wear a mask, and practice social distancing when viewing the artwork.

The Southern Arts Society is located on N. Piedmont Ave. (NC Hwy. 216), located in the old Southern Railway Depot at the corner of Battleground Ave. and N. Piedmont Ave in the Kings Mountain Art Center, Kings Mountain.

Central Piedmont Community College in Charlotte, NC, Offers Works by Art Faculty

Central Piedmont Community College in Charlotte, NC, will present The Faculty Art Show, featuring works by their talented art staff, curated by Amelia Zytka, on view in the Overcash Art Gallery, from Aug. 10 through Oct. 2, 2020.

The exhibition incorporates artwork from multiple disciplines, including drawing, painting, photography and ceramics. While the college's art instructors excel at helping students succeed in their budding art careers, many of them are accomplished artists as well.

This exhibition not only gives Central Piedmont's Overcash Art Gallery an opportunity to display faculty work, but also affords students the chance to see their instructors' artwork in a gallery setting. This show is a must-see for anyone on campus and provides an enjoyable diversion. Central Piedmont's Overcash Art Gallery is enthusiastic about the opportunity to kick start the college's fall semester with this exciting, new exhibition.

*Due to COVID-19 guidelines, Central Piedmont requires all visitors to wear a mask on campus. The Gallery is also limiting the number of visitors in its space. Private tours are available upon request.

Central Piedmont Community College is highly accessible and convenient to people of all ages who seek a real-world, affordable, hands-on education that will transform their lives and strengthen the economic, social, and cultural environment of Mecklenburg County. Central Piedmont is also a smart investment. At a fraction of the cost, students learn by doing, receiving a combination of technical and soft skills training from quality faculty who prepare them to enter the workforce and make a difference in their family, business, community, and world. Founded in 1963, Central Piedmont Community College has eight locations throughout Mecklenburg County, offering nearly 300 degree, diploma, and certification programs; customized corporate training; market-focused continuing education; and special interest classes. For more information, visit (cpcc.edu), or connect with the college on social media at (cpcc.edu/social).

Jerald Melberg Gallery in Charlotte, NC, Features Works by Chris Clamp

The Jerald Melberg Gallery in Charlotte, NC, will present 12x12x12 - Objects As Portraits, featuring works by Chris Clamp, on view from Aug. 8 through Sept. 19, 2020.

Jerald Melberg Gallery is pleased to present a series of twelve 12-inch square paintings by Chris Clamp. These paintings continue the artist's explorations of both realism and object portraiture. For the first time, the exhibition will also include several studies, both in graphite and oil, allowing the viewer to get a sense of the artist's process from conception to completion.

Clamp has a singular and poignant vision which stems from his love of family, sense of inquisitiveness and keen interest in sometimes quirky, sometimes whimsical, but always personal, objects. The

SC State Museum in Columbia, SC, Offers Exhibit Celebrating the 100th Anniversary of the 19th Amendment

The South Carolina State Museum in Columbia, SC, is presenting A Voice of Her Own: South Carolina Women in Politics, on view for an extended period of time.

This year the museum is celebrating the 100th Anniversary of the 19th Amendment, which guaranteed women the right to vote. This exhibit features objects, images and stories showing the ways South Carolina women engaged with the political history of our state. From tribal women leaders, to the first female Governor of the state, this exhibit shows how women worked to gain a voice of their own.

Since women have long been outside politics, the objects in this exhibit show how the personal is the political. A prehistoric scraper tells the story of how native women have a long tradition of being equal with men and powerful in tribal politics. Shards of porcelain from a colonial plantation are an example of property, which women could spend their lives building, but not control or own. While a tag that a Charleston enslaved woman was forced to wear underlines that some women were property, whose work built the base of South Carolina political power.

The Civil War and Reconstruction caused great political upheaval, but South Carolina women who wanted political power found themselves disappointed. The early 20th century found an imperfect coalition of suffragettes working for a national amendment to give women the right to vote. You can see a "Votes for Women" banner that belonged to USC student, Shirley Black, while posing in our suffragette selfie station. A wide variety of political material from the 20th century shows how women have always had diverse political opinions and concerns not captured within any one political party.

The museum remains committed to its mission to bring entertaining, inspiring and engaging content to our guests. For those not ready or able to visit, the museum will continue to offer virtual programs and content, like our popular telescope livestreams and our virtual summer camp series. Our guests are our number one priority and we hope to continue to provide them with safe educational and fun experiences – on site and online.

701 Center for Contemporary Art in Columbia, SC, Reopens with Works by Kent Ambler

The 701 Center for Contemporary Art in Columbia, SC, presented the exhibition, Kent Ambler: Into the Wood, in March of this year, but soon after the exhibit opened the Center had to close its doors due to the COVID-19 Pandemic. The Center has now reopened and the exhibition will be on view through Aug. 27, 2020.

Kent Ambler: Into the Wood, is a solo exhibition of works by Greenville, SC, artist Kent Ambler, presenting woodcuts, related sculptures, and an architectural installation of woodblocks.

Ambler is one of South Carolina's most prolific and successful woodcut artists. His work impresses art professionals and more casual art lovers alike. Ambler's surroundings provide his subjects, whether they are birds, dogs and goats; trees, mountains and neighborhoods; ice cream; or beer and bananas. His approach is intuitive and aesthetic rather than conceptual.

Works by Kent Ambler

The exhibition will be Ambler's largest solo exhibition to date, with his largest-ever three-dimensional component. The show will present three dozen woodcut prints, 20 woodcut-collage house sculptures, and an installation of a shed-sized house structure built from old, carved wood blocks.

"My work is autobiographical," Ambler says. "It is derived from my life and surroundings, my observations. It usually starts with an observation or a quick sketch. While the imagery in my art is generally subject- or object-oriented, the visual appearance of each piece is of most importance to me. I try not to overthink or over-plan my work. I generally do my best work when my brain is 'turned off', so to speak. I am inspired by the simplicity of idea and image addressed by genuine folk artists."

Ambler (b. 1970) is a Hammond, IN, native and has been a full-time artist since 1997. He has had dozens of exhibitions, including solo shows in Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, Massachusetts, Maryland, Tennessee, New York, Michigan and Virginia, as well as Taiwan. Ambler is represented by eight galleries throughout the country and sells his work at high-end art fairs throughout the Southeast and beyond. He received a BFA from Indiana's Ball State University in 1992 and did graduate studies at Clemson University in 2001-2002.

"Kent is an interesting case as an artist who is deeply respected by his peers for the quality and breadth of his work, and at the same time appeals to a very wide audience," said 701 CCA board chair Wim Roefs, who curated the exhibition. "The everyday nature of his subject matter certainly helps with this appeal since it provides easy entry points into the work. But at the same time, Ambler often presents an interesting take and surprising angle, the latter literally and figuratively. And there's a good bit of humor in the

North Carolina Arboretum in Asheville, NC, Features LEGO® Creations by Sean Kenney

The North Carolina Arboretum in Asheville, NC, is excited to welcome back the widely popular traveling exhibit, Nature Connects®: Art with LEGO® Bricks by Sean Kenney, on view through Nov. 1, 2020.

Featuring 16 larger-than-life-size sculptures placed throughout the Arboretum's gardens and created with nearly 500,000 LEGO Bricks, this family-friendly exhibit draws inspiration from the living world and combines art, play and science to create an inspiring intersection of education, entertainment and the environment. New sculptures include a five-foot tall colorful peacock, giant dragonfly, bonsai tree and more!

Work by Sean Kenney

In describing the exhibit, Kenney said, "I hope that you can look at Nature Connects and appreciate both nature and the sculptures as something beautiful, and I also hope you're inspired to go home and create something wonderful yourself."

For more than 30 years...cultivating connections between people, plants and places...amid a 434-acre public garden, The North Carolina Arboretum is located within the Bent Creek Experimental Forest just south of Asheville and adjacent to the Blue Ridge Parkway at Milepost 393. Surrounded and crisscrossed by forested coves and meandering creeks in the botanically diverse Southern Appalachian Mountains, The North Carolina Arboretum is set in one of the most beautiful natural settings in America.

The Arboretum was established as an affiliate of the University of North Carolina System by the State General Assembly in 1986, nearly a century after Frederick law Olmsted, the Father of American Landscape Architecture, first envisioned a research arboretum as part of his legacy and plan for George Vanderbilt at Biltmore Estate.

For further information check our NC Institutional Gallery listings, call 828/665.2492 or visit (www.ncarboretum.org).

Work by Sean Kenney

Kenney is a nationally-renowned, award-winning artist and "professional kid" who use LEGO pieces to design and create contemporary sculpture for high-profile clients, major corporations, and venues around the globe. The New York Times calls Kenney's work the "artistic elite" of LEGO-building. of the world that is rich in vistas, whether we're in town, roaming the mountains or looking out our windows. And the unique Asheville vibe never fails to give us energy and encouragement to be who we are. The show is also about our visitors who support and contribute to Asheville's thriving art scene. While we've missed in-person interactions with tourists and local collectors lately, we look forward to opening our doors wide to everyone once again.

American Folk Art in Asheville, NC, Offers Exhibition Focused on Wood

Work by Doug Frati

American Folk Art in Asheville, NC, will present Wood: Carving, Sculpting, Block Printing, on view from Aug. 6 - 18, 2020. The exhibit will be available online beginning Aug. 4.

When we can't hug our fellow humans, it has been suggested that we hug a tree; its steadfastness and strength will steady us. During the month of August, American Folk Art is doing just that: embracing and showcasing their artists who express themselves using the strong and steadfast medium of wood.

Work by Cheryl Keefer

The exhibit presents works by six artists representing 5 very different approaches to using wood to convey their own distinct vision.

Lonnie & Twyla Money work as a couple creating charming renderings of birds and critters with a nod toward whimsy. Kent Ambler uses multiple blocks of wood which are chiseled to create the layers and layers of color he incorporates into his wood block printmaking. Ivy Billiot's delicately carved birds using cedar or tupelo, wood native to his South Louisiana home, are painted in subtle and realistic colors, yet they retain a creatively depicted likeness. Doug Frati carves stunning relief sculptures, subtle texture juxtaposed with bold graphic imagery, and Jack Klippel, the newest artist to our Folk Family, creates finely constructed re-creations of historic Southern churches.

Wood and its inherent solid strength is needed now. The vast creative expanse wood allows has led to this wonderfully rich presentation. Please join us online or in the gallery and revel in the earthy beauty and security that this versatile medium offers.

SECCA Galleries in Winston-Salem, NC, Features Expansive Exhibition

The Southeastern Center for Contemporary Art in Winston-Salem, NC, is proud to announce the upcoming opening of DRAWN: Concept & Craft, an expansive exhibition featuring more than 200 works by a wide array of artists including LeRoy Neiman, Kara Walker, Fab 5 Freddy, Kiki Smith, Sarah Sze and Buckminster Fuller. DRAWN brings together the diverse works of over 60 artists from around the world in an exhibition that provides a rare, revealing look into the creative process and artists' unique relationship with the art of drawing.

DRAWN is curated by project founder Page 18 - Carolina Arts, August 2020

Tomas Vu and SECCA Curator Wendy Earle with the assistance of Brian Novatny. The exhibition opens Aug. 15 and will remain on view through Feb. 15, 2021, in SECCA's Main and Potter Galleries. Admission is free, with a $10 suggested donation. View the exhibition trailer at (secca.org/drawn).

The concept of DRAWN began with the discovery of several sketchbooks that no one knew existed, excavated from the late LeRoy Neiman's New York studio after the artist's passing. The stark difference between the drawings covering the pages of a sketchbook compared to the characteristically jocular and proud imagery of Neiman's paintings is jarring. In these sketchbooks, gone are the bright and impressionistic illustrations of celebratory moments. Instead, we find weighty depictions of struggle and pain in the visages of Malcolm X, Cassius Clay and James Baldwin, revealing a completely diverging, hidden side of the famed artist.

This discovery raises the question: how many more of these kinds of artist sketchbooks are out there? And, where does the artistic mind go in the absence of outside pressures, expectations, and interpretation?

DRAWN expands the very idea of drawing. What began with the beautiful simplicity of two-dimensional works has now evolved to include animation, video projection, sculpture, collage, and cut-paper. "Every work of art in this exhibition is the artist's direct or indirect answer to the question of 'What does drawing mean to you?'" says SECCA Curator Wendy Earle. "For some it's about process, for others it's about form. Some artists are additive, and some are subtractive."

While the works seen in DRAWN may have moved beyond the intimacy of hidden sketchbooks, a common thread is apparent between past and present exhibition iterations. The exhibit brings into focus the inescapable moment of putting pen to paper, literal or figurative, whether for a casual sketch or the beginning of something larger.

Since its inception in 2014, DRAWN has engaged audiences in galleries and museums around the world, from Beijing and Dali City to the Philippines and Serbia. The exhibition is unique in that each presenting institution curates local artists to present their work alongside the existing collection. What once started with a handful of artists has grown into a robust collection of more than 60 artists and 200 works.

Curator Wendy Earle notes: "This is a timely show, with many works created in 2020 and in direct response to the rapidly changing world around us. Drawing is a fundamental part of art-making, and is a broad creative act rather than a specific medium." Each iteration of DRAWN speaks to its specific location through the work of local artists and the participation of the community. That collective message then goes on to join a global broadcast, weaving in with those who came before and making space for what's to come.

DRAWN: Concept & Craft is made possible in part by the generous support of The LeRoy Neiman and Janet Byrne Neiman Foundation.

SECCA is an affiliate of the North Carolina Museum of Art and a division of the North Carolina Department of Natural and Cultural Resources. SECCA receives operational funding from The Arts Council of Winston-Salem and Forsyth County. Additional funding is provided by the James G. Hanes Memorial Fund.

Founded in 1956, The Southeastern Center for Contemporary Art offers a front-row seat to the art of our time. For more than sixty years SECCA has served a beacon of creative culture in the south, curating revelatory and unexpected experiences for visitors to enjoy at the center's scenic 32-acre grounds in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Through visual art exhibitions, film, music, dance, theater, and education, SECCA starts conversations that engage diverse communities and perspectives. From William Wegman and Maya Lin to Annie Leibovitz and Lonnie Holley, SECCA has always strived to present the emerging artists of the time, engaging with a diverse range of disciplines and sensibilities.

NC Pottery Center in Seagrove, NC, Offers Works by NC Ceramics Guilds

The NC Pottery Center in Seagrove, NC, is presenting Tea Time with North Carolina Ceramics Guilds, on view through Dec. 12, 2020.

The exhibition features a range of contemporary teapots - some functional, some conceptual, some fanciful, and some sculptural - by members of Carolina Clay Matters, the ClayWorks Potters Guild, the Coastal Carolina Clay Guild, and the Triangle Potters Guild, as well as a selection of wonderful historic North Carolina teapots on loan from various sources and the center's permanent collection.

Almost all of the contemporary pieces in this exhibit are available for purchase. You can help support the artists and the North Carolina Pottery Center during this COVID-19 pandemic by purchasing pieces from the exhibition. 70% of each goes to the artist; 30% goes to the center, an educational nonprofit.

Work by Conrad Weiser, Triangle Potters Guild

While the Pottery Center is closed to the public currently due to the Pandemic under NC's Phase 2 orders, the exhibition runs through Dec. 12, so purchased pieces must remain in the exhibition until Dec.

Work by Betsy Vaden, ClayWorks Potters Guild

If you're interested in purchasing a piece, please send us a message, and we'll be in touch to share the opposite side image with you, discuss the details, and to process payment.

While the center is closed currently, you can see images of and info about all of the pieces in the show via the Tea Time with NC's Ceramics Guilds photo album on our publicly accessible Facebook page at (https://www.facebook.com/pg/ncpotterycenter/photos/?tab=album&album_id=10158317279036007).

Francis Marion University in Florence, SC, Extends Exhibition by Adrian Rhodes

Francis Marion University in Florence, SC, has extended the exhibition, Adrian Rhodes: Blood and Honey, on view in the University Place Gallery, in downtown Florence, through Aug. 28, 2020.

Rhodes is a Hartsville, SC, native with an MFA in painting and printmaking from Winthrop University. Her work was recently featured at the Mint Museum of Art in Charlotte, NC. Her large scale printmaking and painting works are routinely incorporated into sculptural and site-specific installation presentations which transform the gallery spaces they inhabit.

The symbolic and visceral works included in Blood and Honey rely on the repetitive images of bees, pomegranates, and constellations.

Rhodes is a painter, printmaker, and installation artist who transforms gallery spaces into new realities, rich with symbolic imagery and her bold design aesthetic. Themes of bees, the human condition, the matrilineal, the corporeal, and mortality find themselves looping out of paper trails and attached to walls in swarms of winged creatures made of paper.

View of Installation by Adrian Rhodes

Rhodes offers the following artist statement: "I inhabit a space between fully site-specific installation and a traditional understanding of individual pieces in a gallery setting. Each piece in my exhibition is a statement within a larger conversation, which isolates an aspect of the dialogue, examines it, and places it within the context of other works in the space. Coming from a strong background of collage, I bring the same approach of layering images to my work's presentation. I look for ways to connect works as I repeat themes. As a medium based in creation of the multiple, print becomes a method for creating structure. This framework, indulging a desire for order, creates space for disruptions."

"Using prints as modular components allows the work to inherit visual information across pieces," continues Rhodes. "Pulling on the iconography of symbols and objects I examine how my process reflects the recalibration inherent in the search for a 'new normal' as life shifts. As I work, I attempt to frame a question - How can we hold extremes of bitter and sweet - forces which stand in such opposition they should not be able to coexist, and yet they do - so how do we find the balance of them?"

Francis Marion University in Florence, SC, Presents Annual Exhibition of Small Works

Francis Marion University in Florence, SC, is present a physical and virtual exhibit, Small Works 2020, a Florence Regional Arts Alliance Juried Show, on view at the University Place Gallery, in downtown Florence, through Aug. 28, 2020.

Entering its fifth year, the Florence Regional Arts Alliance is pleased to announce artists participating in this year's juried competition. Entries were received from cities throughout South Carolina and North Carolina. Forty-five pieces by thirty artists representing thirteen cities will be part of Small Works 2020.

Submissions of work doubled in number from 2018 competition that made for a challenge for this year's juror, Lisa D. Watson.

Watson commented, "Small artworks are intriguing and can be very powerful. After being a juror last year for an exhibition in Savannah, GA, I decided to create smaller works no bigger than 12" squares instead of my normal large scale works. I was really inspired by the submitted work on how something so small can pack a punch! The works submitted for the Small Works 2020 exhibition captured all kinds of engaging moments including our current quarantines, the beauty of the Carolinas and also amusing social commentary. Choosing from the different processes the artists use such as sculpture, ceramics, photography, acrylic/oil painting, ink drawing, and mixed media was honestly really fun. I took this process to heart and congratulate those who made it in the show because it was a strong field of submitted work. I'm excited to see the exhibit in person soon."

Work by Jeffrey Donovan

This year's exhibition host is University Place Gallery. The gallery is a visual art venue on the first floor of the newly renovated Rainwater Building in downtown Florence, SC. University Place Gallery is an extension of Francis Marion University.

The University Place Gallery is hosting Small Works 2020 ONLINE on its website at (<https://www.fmarion.edu/university-place/gallery/>).

NC Wesleyan College in Rocky Mount, NC, Offers Works by Japanese Embroidery Guild

North Carolina Wesleyan College in Rocky Mount, NC, will offer an exhibit of works by members of the North Carolina Japanese Embroidery Guild, on view in the Mims Gallery, of the Dunn Center, from Aug. 14 through Sept. 17, 2020. There will be a Closing Party on Sept. 17 starting at 5pm for the 18 participating guild members.

This is the second time the Embroidery Guild has exhibited at the Mims and are back by popular demand for all to see this group of artisans' extraordinary artworks rendered in the detailed thread work of traditional pictorial color and gold.

Traditional Japanese silk embroidery was introduced into Japan from China and Korea during the seventh century by Buddhist monks. Stitched banners of Buddha figures were used in public temples and private shrines. During the Edo period, embroidery became a fashion accessory, rather than a religious one. At first available only to the Imperial Court and the samurai class, embroidered clothing became attainable by a wider range of Japanese society as silk became more available. Although designs changed, professionals continued to produce kimono, obi (sashes) and decorative items into the twentieth century, but, as always, the techniques were passed from master to apprentice and kept secret from the outside world.

Fearing that these traditional methods of embroidery would be lost, professional Iwao Saito founded Kurenai-Kai, a teaching community that, in addition to training professionals, took on the mission of sharing the techniques with the wider world. When the Embroiderer's Guild of America invited Saito to exhibit his work in the United States in 1980, an enduring connection to the US was created. After

Work by Elizabeth Hipps

10 years of teaching visits, Shuji and Masa Tamura, Master Saito's daughter and son-in-law, moved to the US and established the Japanese Embroidery Center near Atlanta, GA.

The Tamuras produced an English textbook and developed a Phase system of study for teaching traditional Japanese embroidery. As students progress through the Phases, they learn more techniques and refine their skills. Students demonstrate a unique combination of technical skill and aesthetic sensitivity as they progress.

Master Saito said 'the hands are the exit of the spirit' and the pieces on display in the Mims Gallery by the Embroidery Guild are exquisite examples of this sentiment.

Kwame Brathwaite, Sikolo Brathwaite wearing a headpiece designed by Carolee Prince, African Jazz-Art Society & Studios (AJASS), Harlen, ca. 1968; from Kwame Brathwaite. Courtesy of the artist and Philip Martin Gallery, Los Angeles.

The Columbia Museum of Art in Columbia, SC, is presenting Black Is Beautiful: The Photography of Kwame Brathwaite, on view through Sept. 6, 2020. In the late 1950s and throughout the 1960s, Kwame Brathwaite used photography to popularize the political slogan "Black Is Beautiful." This exhibition - the first ever dedicated to Brathwaite's remarkable career - tells the story of a key figure of the second Harlem Renaissance. Inspired by the writings of activist and Black nationalist Marcus Garvey, Brathwaite and his older brother, Elombe Brath, founded the African Jazz Arts Society and Studios (AJASS) and the Grandassa Models, a modeling agency for Black women. This exhibition returns us to the Naturally fashion shows of the 1960s walked by Grandassa models and produced by the African American artists, designers, musicians, hairdressers, writers, and jazz lovers of AJASS. Images have power, and this is an important example of a creative collective formed in order to radically shift the dominant narrative at midcentury. For further information call the Museum at 803/799-2810 or visit (www.columbiamuseum.org).

Blowing Rock Art & History Museum in Blowing Rock, NC, is presenting the exhibit, Branching Out: Works in Wood from North Carolina, on view in the Museum's Fort Gallery, through Oct. 24, 2020. The exhibition features a diverse selection of work, ranging from wooden furniture to sculpture, as well as a variety of types of wood and techniques used to create these contemporary works. "This exhibition highlights some extraordinary talent from across the state," says BRAHM's Curator, Dianna Cameron. Exhibiting artists come from across the state of North Carolina and include Roger Atkins, Derrick Beasley, Paul & Kim Fuelling, Mark Gardner, Aspen Golann, Craig Kassan, Jim Oleson, Brent Skidmore, Bob Trotman, Anthony Ulinski, Joël Urruty, Zak Weinberg, and Erik Wolken. The exhibition was installed in the museum's galleries in early March, and since BRAHM has been closed, works and artists from the exhibition have been featured online with videos and behind-the-scenes looks through BRAHM at Home. For further information call the Museum at 828/295-9099 or visit (BlowingRockMuseum.org).

Gibbes Museum of Art, 135 Meeting Street, Charleston. Gallery 8, Through Aug. 9 - "Central to Their Lives: Southern Women Artists in the Johnson Collection". Spanning the decades between the late 1890s and early 1960s, "Central to Their Lives" brings together for the first time the paintings and sculptures of forty-two diverse women artists who made significant contributions to the art of the South. This exhibition examines the challenges female artists faced during a period in which women's social, cultural, and political roles were being redefined and reinterpreted. Whether working from dedicated studio spaces, in spare rooms at home, or on the world stage, the artists showcased made remarkable impacts by fostering future generations of artists through instruction, incorporating new aesthetics into the fine arts, and challenging the status quo. Organized by the Johnson Collection in Spartanburg, South Carolina, the exhibition includes works by leading figures in the Charleston Renaissance such as Alice Ravenel Huger Smith and Elizabeth O'Neill Verner, as well as Corrie McCallum, Minnie Evans, Anne Goldthwaite, Clementine Hunter, and Augusta Savage. Aug. 21 - Jan. 10, 2021 - "Building a Legacy: The Vibrant Vision Collection of Jonathan Green and Richard Weedman". Over the past forty years, acclaimed artist Jonathan Green and his partner and studio director, Richard Weedman, have amassed an astonishing collection of nearly 1,300 paintings, sculpture, and works on paper. The exhibition presents a selection of forty-nine works of art from this significant private collection, offering a rare glimpse at the couple's aesthetic interests and the artistic inspiration behind Green's own artwork. Gallery 9, Through Jan. 10, 2021 - "A Return to the Grand Tour: Micromosaic Jewels from the Collection of Elizabeth Locke". Micromosaics arrived at their height of pictorial perfection from the late 18th to the mid 19th centuries. These exquisitely crafted plaques, which contain up to 1,400 delicately shaded tiles of glass per square inch, were sold to travelers on their Grand Tour through Italy. Made into jewelry, boxes, and paper weights and sold as easily carried mementoes, micromosaics passed out of fashion toward the end of the 19th century and are now a lost art. This exhibition features 92 brilliant examples from the private collection of Elizabeth Locke. Galleries 2 and 3, Extended Through Oct. 4 - "Charleston Collects: British Sporting Art from the Penkhus Collection". The Charleston Collects series at the Gibbes aims to highlight significant fine art collections formed by Lowcountry residents. This exhibition features exceptional British sporting art paintings from the private collection of Charleston's Dr. Stephen and Mrs. Martha Penkhus. The Penkhus's collecting journey began in 1986 when they purchased a portrait of the famed nineteenth-century English racing horse Cotherstone, by John Frederick Herring, Sr. (British, 1795-1865). Their passion for British sporting art and culture blossomed taking them on many unexpected adventures that have led them to build a first-rate collection of animal and sporting paintings. Galleries 1, 4, and 5, Permanent Exhibition - "18th and 19th Century American Paintings and Sculpture". American paintings, from colonial portraits to Civil War-era landscapes, occupy the Gibbes Main Gallery. Portraits of leading political, social, and military figures include works by Jeremiah Theus, Henry Benbridge, Benjamin West, Gilbert Stuart, Thomas Sully and Samuel F.B. Morse. The gallery also features landscape and genre scenes by Angelica Kaufmann, Louis Mignot, Eastman Johnson, Conrad Wise Chapman, and William Aiken Walker. The paintings collection is complemented by examples of neoclassical sculpture on view in the Campbell Rotunda, and decorative art objects on loan from the Rivers Collection. Gallery 5, Permanent Exhibition - "Miniature Portraits". The first American miniature portraits were painted in Charleston, and today the Gibbes is home to one of the most prestigious portrait miniature collections in the United States. Containing more than six hundred objects, the collection spans nearly two hundred years and represents the work of over a hundred artists. Small enough to fit in the palm of the hand, these tiny portraits were treasured remembrances of loved ones in the age before photography. Presented in state-of-the-art display cases, and in viewable storage drawers featured miniatures include works by Mary Roberts, Jeremiah Theus, Henry Benbridge, Charles Wilson Peale, Pierre Henri, Edward Greene Malbone, George Engleheart, and Charles Fraser. Gallery 6, Permanent Exhibition - "20th Century American Regionalism and the Charleston Renaissance". At the turn of the twentieth century, American artists looked to their European counterparts and beyond as they developed identifiably American artistic movements. Two particularly strong influences during this time period were French Impressionism and Japanese woodblock prints. Another prevailing theme during this period was the growing interest in American subject matter. American regionalism and social realism played important roles in the development of art in Charleston, which flourished as a destination for artists, particularly during the years of 1915 to 1945 a period now known as the Charleston Renaissance.

Gallery 7, Permanent Exhibition - "Modern and Contemporary". Modern and contemporary art in America encompasses a wide range of styles, subject matter, and media. As a whole, the diversity of modern and contemporary art reflects the rich and varied heritage of our nation and the lowcountry region. Works in this gallery were created over the past forty years by artists who are native to the area, who have worked here, or who have created objects that reflect the complex story of the region. The works are grouped to reflect several themes including the southern landscape, the human figure, abstraction, and the legacy of slavery in America. Museum Shop - Now offering the inventory of the Tradd Street Press, reproductions of works by Elizabeth O'Neill Verner among other exhibit related art objects. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 10am-5pm & Sun., 1-5pm. Admission: Yes. Contact: 843/722-2706 or at (www.gibbesmuseum.org).

Redux Contemporary Art Center, featuring Redux Studios, 1056 King Street, Charleston. Ongoing - In May, 2017, Redux relocated to 1056 King Street with 38 studios, three galleries, a larger print shop, classroom, dark room, and photo studio. Hours: Mon., 11am-4pm, Wed., 11am-4pm & Fri., 11am-3pm. Contact: 843/722-0697 or at (www.reduxstudios.org).

The Charleston Museum, 360 Meeting Street, Charleston. Founded in 1773, is America's first museum. Lowcountry Image Gallery, Through Nov. 29 - "From Etchings to Pastels: A New Artistic Interpretation of the Charleston Renaissance". The Charleston Renaissance Movement was a cultural renewal that brought a diverse group of people together to improve and preserve the city through artistic expression. Artists, musicians, architects, writers and photographers participated in organizations such as the Charleston Etchers' Club, the Jenkins Orphanage Band and the Poetry Society of South Carolina, to communicate Charleston's past through art. Ongoing - "Becoming Americans: Charleston in the Revolutionary War". Charleston played a critical role in the Revolutionary War. South Carolina was the wealthiest of the thirteen rebellious colonies and Charleston was its key port to maintain its trade with the outside world. The British would make three attempts against the city during the Revolutionary War. Their defeat at the Battle of Sullivan's Island on June 28, 1776 was a crucial patriot victory, which convinced many that independence could be achieved. The Siege of Charleston, meanwhile, was the longest siege of the Revolutionary War and the largest battle in South Carolina. These events and others are chronicled in the new exhibit, which will also feature artifacts and period images that have not been exhibited at the Museum before. Ongoing - Featuring the most extensive collection of South Carolina cultural and scientific collections in the nation, it also owns two National Historic Landmark houses, the Heyward-Washington House (1772) and the Joseph Manigault House (1803), as well as the Dill Sanctuary, a 580-acre wildlife preserve. Admission: Yes. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 9am-5pm & through the Summer months, Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 843/722-2996 or at (www.charleston-museum.org).

Columbia Area

Columbia Museum of Art, Main & Hampton Streets, Columbia. Now - While its doors remain closed in accordance with anti-coronavirus measures, the Columbia Museum of Art has ramped up its virtual offerings. Museum from Home at (<https://www.columbiamuseum.org/museum-home>) is an initiative that brings the museum to the people, encouraging them to connect with art and each other from the comfort of their homes. Through Aug. 24 - "Kitchen Originals: 1950s Dish Towel Designs by John and Earline Brice". This collection comes from California-based writer Sarah Horowitz, who saw in a single kitchen towel something worthy of study. She purchased a vintage Martex "Dry-Me-Dry" towel online and was amazed at how well it functioned: Soft and absorbent yet quick-drying and lint-free, it became her go-to kitchen tool. It was, in other words, a good design. Through Sept. 13 - "Design by Time." Cutting-edge international designers explore how objects can embody the element of time in this poetic exhibition. Garments that grow, trees that sing, and objects that become their own miniature worlds encapsulate nature's growth and decay. Through Sept. 6 - "Black Is Beautiful: The Photography of Kwame Brathwaite". In the late 1950s and throughout the 1960s, Kwame Brathwaite used photography to popularize the political slogan "Black Is Beautiful." This exhibition—the first ever dedicated to Brathwaite's remarkable career—tells the story of a key figure of the second Harlem Renaissance. Through Jan. 1, 2025 - "The Collection". Come see the newly organized collection. We've gathered ancient and modern works of art, together in one space, that explore our shared archetypes, myths, and ideals. Galleries 5 & 6, Ongoing - "Modern & Contemporary Art from the Collection". Celebrating some of the CMA's greatest hits, this exhibition features over 30 paintings, drawings, photographs and sculptures from the Museum's collection that have not been on view recently. It offers the visitor experiences both serious and sensual and is designed to both entertain and enlighten. Notable works included are by Jasper Johns, Howard Thomas, Sally Mann and Edward Ruscha, whose famous image of the Hollywood Hills (on view) has become a staple of the art world. Ray Taylor Fair Gallery, Ongoing - Featuring a new and permanent installation of its ancient art collection. The installation includes approximately 50 objects that introduce the major ancient civilizations from the Mediterranean and Near East. Examples of the earliest form of writing from 12th century B.C. Mesopotamia, are shown next to Egyptian scarabs and Greek painted vessels. The world of the ancient Romans is represented by 2nd century glass and bronze items and portrait sculpture. Many of these works have not been seen since the Museum moved to its location on Main Street in 1998. The collection has grown over the last several years with the donation of 12 fine Roman sculptures in 2002 from Pennsylvania collector Dr. Robert Y. Turner. Admission: Yes, but there is no admission charge on Sun. Hours: Tue.-Sun., from 10am-5pm. Contact: 803/799-2810 or at (www.columbiamuseum.org).

View of "Kent Ambler: Into the Wood"

701 Center for Contemporary Art, 701 Whaley St., Columbia. Main Gallery, Through Aug. 27 - "Kent Ambler: Into the Wood," featuring presenting woodcuts, related sculptures, and architectural installation of woodblocks. Ambler is one of South Carolina's most prolific and successful woodcut artists. His work impresses art professionals and more casual art lovers alike. Ambler's surroundings provide his subjects, whether they are birds, dogs and goats; trees, mountains and neighborhoods; ice cream; or beer and bananas. His approach is intuitive and aesthetic rather than conceptual. The exhibition will be Ambler's largest solo exhibition to date, with his largest-ever three-dimensional component. The show will present three dozen woodcut prints, 20 woodcut-collage house sculptures, and an installation of a shed-sized house structure built from old, carved wood blocks. Hours: Wed.-Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 803/238-2351 or at (www.701cca.org).

SC State Museum, 301 Gervais St., Columbia. Ongoing - "A Voice of Her Own: South Carolina Women in Politics". This exhibit celebrates the 100th Anniversary of the 19th Amendment, which guaranteed women the right to vote. This exhibit features objects, images and stories showing the ways South Carolina women engaged with the political history of our state. From tribal women leaders, to the first female Governor of the state, this exhibit shows how women worked to gain a voice of their own. The exhibit is free with museum general admission. The Crescent Café, second floor mezzanine of the Museum. The house menu offers a variety of baked goods, juices, coffee, hot chocolate and tea. Lunchtime offerings include deli sandwiches and alternating daily soups, as well as grilled chicken salads and sandwiches. And let's not forget the house specialty: spectacular fudge, handmade on-site. Museum Hours: Mon.-Sat., 10am-5pm; Sun., 1-5pm. Admission: Yes. Work by Matt Cook

University Place Gallery, Francis Marion University, 142 North Dargan Street, Florence. Extended through Aug. 28 - "Adrian Rhodes: Blood and Honey." Rhodes is a Hartsville, SC, native with an MFA in painting and printmaking from Winthrop University. Rhodes' work was recently featured at the Mint Museum of Art in Charlotte, NC. Her large scale printmaking and painting works are routinely incorporated into sculptural and site-specific installation presentations which transform the gallery spaces they inhabit. The symbolic and visceral works included in "Blood and Honey" rely on the repetitive images of bees, pomegranates, and constellations. Through Aug. 28 - "Small Works 2020," a juried exhibition sponsored by the Florence Regional Arts Alliance. "Small Works 2020" is a juried event and is open to all emerging and professional regional artists in South and North Carolina. Greenville County Museum of Art, 420 College Street, Greenville. Closed for renovations. Ongoing - "The Real Thing". Selected from the GCMA permanent collection, The Real Thing reflects the authenticity of experience that informed the creation of powerful works by African-American artists. The exhibition title is derived from the 1968 song Ain't Nothing Like the Real Thing, written by Nickolas Ashford and Valerie Simpson and originally performed by Marvin Gaye and Tammi Terrell. Ongoing - "Andrew Wyeth: Eight Decades". Andrew Wyeth (1917 - 2009), regarded as one of the most important American artists of the 20th century, launched his career in 1937 with a sold-out exhibition of his watercolors in New York. On the occasion of the young artist's remarkable debut, his father and mentor, noted illustrator N.C. Wyeth wrote him a congratulatory letter prophesying, "You are headed in the direction that should finally reach the pinnacle in American art." Ongoing - "Impressionism and the South 2019". On April 15, 1874, in an act of defiance against the official French government-sanctioned Salon exhibitions, thirty self-proclaimed Independent artists opened an exhibition at photographer Nadar's vacated Paris studio. Shortly after, a satirical review that mocked Claude Monet's Impression, Sunrise gave the movement its name. Impressionism was the first bombshell launched against academic tradition. The movement defined light as color, becoming the first modern language of paint. Ongoing - "Art and Artists of South Carolina: David Drake, Jasper Johns, William H. Johnson, and Grainger McKoy". The contributions of South Carolina artists to our culture are as varied and rich as the stories of the artists themselves. The GCMA is proud to dedicate an entire gallery to the accomplishments of four of the nation's greatest artists, each of whom has called South Carolina home. Ongoing - "How? Who? Why?". According to Rod Stewart, every picture tells a story. Whether its subject is a familiar Old Testament morality tale or an apocalyptic warning of impending nuclear doom, the physical process of making a picture (or a print, painting, or sculpture) sometimes assumes an equal role in the story's telling. If nothing else, the manipulation of a medium can be the message. Admission: Free. Hours: Wed.-Sat., 10am-6pm and Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 864/271-7570 or at (www.gcma.org).

Work by Yvette L. Cummings

Franklin G. Burroughs • Simeon B. Chapin Art Museum, 3100 South Ocean Blvd., beside Springmaid Beach, Myrtle Beach. Through Aug. 30 - "The Power of She I A Permanent Collection Exhibition". It's the year 2020, and the Art Museum is celebrating women and all of their accomplishments, particularly in the arts. The Power of She is an exhibition of nearly 40 works of art from the Museum's permanent collection featuring work created by, thematically representative of and/or commemorating women, femininity and girl power. Objects on display will include a drawing by the late locally renowned artist and humanitarian, Genevieve Willcox Chandler (1890 - 1980), as well as paintings and sculpture by contemporary artists Sigmund Abeles, Alice Ballard, Dixie Dugan, Cassandra Gillens, Jonathan Green, Betsy Havens, Elizabeth Keller, Jennifer Falck Linssen, Kate Hooray Osmond, Betty Anglin Smith and more. Both visually stunning and technically impressive, this body of work is a wonderful way to experience the beauty and power of the collective "SHE." Through Sept. 13 - "Yvette L. Cummings I Everything Will Be Ok". Cummings, a figurative artist in Conway, SC, explores the implied power of the gaze. Gazes can often reflect emotion without speech and offer information about relationships between those doing the gazing, whether that be the viewer of a painting or the subjects pictured in the painting itself. Cummings' colorful, pattern-filled paintings and installations delight the eye while simultaneously revealing serious undertones in their imagery - messages of conflict expressed from the viewpoint of a sexual abuse survivor. Through Sept. 13 - "Voice Lessons I Eli Corbin, Fran Gardner, Lisa Stroud and Beau Wild". Focusing on issues women have dealt with for centuries, Voice Lessons is a multi-media visual-arts narrative of women's lives - the strength, tenacity and courage demonstrated by our mothers, sisters, daughters and friends. Shifting the dialogue toward empowerment, the art of four female artists, Eli Corbin (Asheville, NC), Fran Gardner (Heath Springs, SC), Lisa Stroud (Cary, NC) and Beau Wild (Port Orange, FL), illustrates the multi-dimensional reality of womanhood - as intelligent and sexual and as powerful and feminine, with emotional range. Voice Lessons encourages tolerance, empathy and compassion among women and men, as it draws together the struggle, strength, vulnerability, individuality and community of the female experience. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-4pm & Sun., 1-4pm. Contact: 843/238-2510 or at (www.myrtlebeachartmuseum.org).

Orangeburg

Cecil Williams Civil Rights Museum, 1865 Lake Drive, Orangeburg. Ongoing - Established in 2019, the exquisite ultra-modern facility displays 1000 images of the Civil Rights Movement, but from the perspective of The Epochal South Carolina Events That Changed America. The massive archives comprise the largest collection of images of this type among all museums in the United States; including the Atlanta based High Museum which archives 300 images. The images were created by the founder, Cecil Williams, who began photography at age 9 and covered almost all historically significant events in South Carolina; from 1950 Briggs v. Elliot in Summerton, thru the 1969 Charleston Hospital Workers' Strike...and Beyond. From 1955 through 1969, Williams was a freelance journalist for "JET" magazine. His images have appeared in thousands of magazines, newspapers, historical publications, and motion picture productions. The museum design itself is part of the founders' DNA because; upon graduating from high school, Williams wanted to attend Clemson University to study architecture but denied because of his race. He then purchased a drafting board and through the years, designed three residences; including one featured in "EBONY", and the museum's design which has evolved into a living history facility. Hours: call ahead for hours. Contact: call 803-531-1662 or at (www.cecilwilliams.com).

Spartanburg

Throughout downtown Spartanburg's Cultural District, Ongoing - The Creative Crosswalk Project is a public art initiative in which local artists and designers design and paint a series of crosswalk murals, transforming the crosswalks into works of art, on Main Street in Spartanburg, SC. The downtown cultural district area is often bustling with events and pedestrians, and the pedestrians rely heavily on a multitude of crosswalks to safely traverse the downtown Spartanburg area. The problem is that crosswalks are incredibly easy to overlook, they are rarely visually appealing, and they can even be quite dangerous. In an effort to remedy these issues, Chapman Cultural Center, the City of Spartanburg, and the Spartanburg Area Chamber of Commerce came together to organize the Creative Crosswalk Project. For more info visit (<https://www.chapmanculturalcenter.org/pages/blog/detail/article/c0/a1555/>).

Artists Collective I Spartanburg (formerly West Main Artists Cooperative), 578 West Main St., Spartanburg. Now - In reaction to COVID-19, the Collective is temporarily closed to the public; however, due to the demand for online art exhibitions and sales, it has launched a new website at: (shops.artistscollectivespartanburg.org/) that features the work of member artists. The new website is set up so that each artist has his or her own "shop." When visiting one of these shops, the patron can see photos of art by the artist. There is information on pricing, materials, availability, shipping, and the artist. Currently, the website features jewelry, glass fusion, miniatures, mixed media, paintings, and photographs. Payment can be made by credit or debit card. All members have the option to have a free shop on the website, and so far several have established their presence with more expected to go virtual as the site gains popularity. Ongoing - The Collective features a twenty thousand square foot facility offering affordable studio space, retail space, three galleries, a full ceramics studio, printery, and works by 50 local artists. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-4pm; with extended hours on the 3rd Thur. of each month until 9pm for Spartanburg's Art Walk. Contact: 864/804-6501 or at (artistscollectivespartanburg.org).

Work by Richard Oversmith

Ella Walton Richardson Fine Art, 58 Broad St., Charleston. Through Aug. 10 - "Tranquility", featuring works by Richard Oversmith. Oversmith's purpose in painting is to engage the viewer to interact with his pieces. His paintings are his voice, and stroke by stroke, he composes a whole that relates his vision. He primarily works in oil which is a medium compatible with the passion he puts into his creation. Oversmith received formal training in Fine Art and Illustration at Kendall College of Art and Design in Grand Rapids, MI. While at Kendall he was invited to study at the Royal College of Art in London, England. There he gained essential experience in plein air painting which changed his direction as an oil painter. Ongoing - Founded in 2001, this internationally acclaimed fine art gallery is located in the historic French Quarter district in Charleston. Richardson represents American, Dutch, and Russian-born artists of the contemporary Impressionist, Realist, and Abstract styles. Sculpture by the award-winning Marianne Houtkamp and photography by Richardson also fill the elegant and inviting space. In addition, the gallery is available as a scenic event venue. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 10am- 5pm. Contact: 843/722-3660 or e-mail to (info@ellarichardson.com).

Work by Patton Blackwell

City Art, 1224 Lincoln Street, Columbia. Through Sept. 30 - "Four Decades of Patton Blackwell," featuring an exhibit of paintings by Patton Blackwell. Blackwell's work is deeply rooted in her experience of her surroundings, and her desire to translate this experience to the canvas. Blackwell captures the essence of atmosphere and landscape in her use of color, action, and brush stroke. Infused with beauty and passion, Blackwell's paintings embody both the tangible and the intangible. From the lush green rolling fields and dense foliage of Camden, South Carolina, where her home and studio are located, to the streets of Rio de Janeiro during Carnival, to time spent on the Aegean Sea, Blackwell creates mosaics of swirling paint that radiate light and power, reflecting moments and spaces in time that are both active and meditative, universal and timeless. Referencing the works of such artists as Willem de Kooning, and Wassily Kandinsky, Blackwell's paintings recall the physicality and emotion of de Kooning's animated brushwork while evoking the spiritual resonance of Kandinsky's later work. Ongoing - Featuring works by Jane Aldridge, Jim Arendt, Randolph New Armstrong, Penny Baskin, Jo Dean Bauknight, Robbie Bell, Kimberly Betchman, Tarleton Blackwell, Angela Bradburn, Betty Bramlett, Joe Byrne, Carolita Cantrell, Kathy Casey, Anne Cunningham, Bob Doster, Gerard Erley, Claire Farrell, Amy Fichter, Tim Floyd, Michael Fowler, Teri Goddard, Harriet Goode, Vanessa Grubbs, Randy Hanna, Shelley Hehenberger, Mana Hewitt, David Kessler, Jan Kransberger, Robert Lyon, Rena MacQueen, Doug McAbee, Fred McElveen, Esther Melton, Max Miller, Lee A. Charlotte Area

Bechtler Museum of Modern Art, Levine Center for the Arts, 420 South Tryon St., Charlotte. Second-Floor Gallery, Through Aug. 17 - "Filled With Light: The Designs of the Bechtler Museum of Modern Art". In commemoration of its tenth anniversary, this exhibition shares the lesser-known programmatic and design evolution of the Bechtler Museum of Modern Art. In 2000, Andreas Bechtler and his family began to explore a variety of approaches to fulfill the family wish of sharing their impeccable art collection highlighting the creative zeal of the best of 20th-century Modernism. Fourth-Floor Gallery, Now - "TEN". Since the Bechtler Museum of Modern Art opened our doors in 2010, we have hosted more than thirty modern art exhibitions. TEN features a selection of works from sixteen past fourth-floor exhibitions, all brought together to showcase the excellence and share the joy of the Bechtler collection as we look back at the past decade in celebration of our ten-year anniversary. Ongoing - The Bechtler Museum of Modern Art is named after the family of Andreas Bechtler, a Charlotte resident and native of Switzerland who assembled and inherited a collection of more than 1,400 artworks created by major figures of 20th-century modernism and donated it to the public trust. The Bechtler collection comprises artworks by seminal figures such as Alberto Giacometti, Joan Miro, Jean Tinguely, Max Ernst, Andy Warhol, Alexander Calder, Le Corbusier, Sol LeWitt, Edgar Degas, Nicolas de Stael, Barbara Hepworth and Picasso. Only a handful of the artworks in the Bechtler collection have been on public view in the United States. Admission: Yes. Hours: Mon., Wed.-Sat., 10am-5pm; Sun. noon-5pm; and open until 9pm the 1st and 3rd Fri. of each month. Contact: 704/353-9200 or at (www.bechtler.org).

Mint Museum Randolph, 2730 Randolph Road, Charlotte. Visit the Mint Museum at Home at (<https://mintmuseum.org/museum-from-home/>). Bridges and Levine Galleries, Ongoing - "Contemporary British Studio Ceramics: The Grainer Collection". Focused on the collection of Diane and Marc Grainer, this installation is a survey of contemporary British studio ceramics. Comprising functional and sculptural objects made between the 1980s and today, the show features work by artists either born or residing in Great Britain, including established "contemporary classics" like Gordon Baldwin and Rupert Spira, and cutting-edge ceramicists such as Julian Stair and Kate Malone. Several recently-gifted works from the Grainers are included. Alexander, Spangler, and Harris Galleries, Ongoing - "Portals to the Past: British Ceramics 1675 - 1825". The Mint Museum's collection of eighteenth-century British pottery and porcelain is widely respected for its scope and quality. The collection numbers over 2,000 objects and includes important examples of both salt-glazed and dry-bodied stoneware from Staffordshire; tin-glazed earthenware from Bristol, Liverpool, and London; and cream-colored earthenware from Derbyshire, Staffordshire, and Yorkshire. Notable eighteenth-century porcelain factories represented include Chelsea, Bow, and Vauxhall in London, Longton Hall in Staffordshire, Worcester, Bristol, and others. Individual works in the collection are exceptional because of their rarity, craftsmanship, provenance, or as representative examples of particular types or methods of production or decoration. Ongoing - "American Glass". The nineteenth and early twentieth centuries represented a time of extraordinary growth for the American glass industry. Such companies as Boston & Sandwich Glass Company in Sandwich, MA; Steuben Glass Works in Corning, NY; and Libbey Glass Company in Toledo, OH, began operation and soon developed notable reputations for producing fashionable wares that were coveted by many middle- and upper-class consumers. "American Glass" showcases objects by these and other American glass companies, illustrating the variety of forms and styles that prevailed during this period. Glass-manufacturing techniques will be another focus of the exhibition, with representative examples of pressed, cut, blown, and molded glass. Nearly all of the works on view are from The Mint Museum's permanent collection of glass, which is second in size only to the ceramics collection in the museum's Decorative Arts holdings. Ongoing - "Arts of Africa". The African continent is remarkable in its geographic, social, political, and cultural diversity. This impressive diversity is reflected in the visual arts through a variety of media and forms including ceramics, masks, textiles, sculptures, prestige staffs, and shrines. With exceptional loans from private collectors and The Mint Museum's own collection of African Art, the museum is pleased to announce the expansion of its presentation of Arts of Africa, thereby providing visitors a more in-depth, meaningful, and exciting overview of African art. Heritage Gallery, Ongoing - Feature works of art, archival documents, and photographs documenting the growth and evolution of the museum, from its beginnings as the original branch of the US Mint to its founding as an art museum to the present and beyond. Ongoing - "Art for the Millions: WPA Prints" and "Carolina Clay," featuring a display of colorful wares made between 1920 and 1950 as potters from NC adapted their works to a market economy. "Art of the United States," featuring contemporary works from the Mint's permanent collection, including works by Romare Bearden, Maud Gatewood, John Biggers, Juan Logan, Tarlton Blackwell, Radcliffe Bailey, Kojo Griffin, and others. "Art in the Americas," featuring paintings, precious metalwork, sculpture, furniture and decorative arts from the 17th through the 19th centuries illustrate the unique culture that emerged from the Spanish colonization of the Americas. Crosland Gallery - Featuring a presentation of portraits with many fascinating images presented. Rankin Gallery - Featuring a presentation of the Romare Bearden Collection, including two "new" Beardens. Delhom Gallery, Ongoing - The European Collection of ceramic works. Admission: Yes. Hours: Wed., 11am-9pm (free admission 5-9pm); Thur.-Sat., 11am-6pm; & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 704/337-2000 or at (www.mintmuseum.org).

Mint Museum Uptown, Levine Center for the Arts, 500 South Tryon St., Charlotte. Visit the Mint Museum at Home at (<https://mintmuseum.org/museum-from-home/>). Ongoing - "El Tajín: Photographs and Drawings by Michael Kampen". El Tajín is a UNESCO World Heritage archeological site located in northern Veracruz, Mexico, one of the largest and most important cities of classical era Mesoamerica. It is home to hundreds of carved sculptures which have deteriorated over time due to acid rain and wind erosion. Drawings created by Dr. Michael Kampen, now a retired professor emeritus of art history, are the best representations in existence of the site sculptures at El Tajín. Ongoing - The Mint Museum Uptown houses the world renowned collections of the Mint Museum of Craft + Design, as well as the American Art and Contemporary Art collections and selected works from the European Art collection. The building also includes a café, a Family Gallery, painting and ceramics studios, classrooms, a 240-seat auditorium, a Special Events Pavilion with outdoor terrace, and an expanded Museum Shop specializing in crafts of the Carolinas. Admission: Yes. Hours: Wed., 11am-9pm (free admission 5-9pm); Thur.-Sat., 11am-6pm; & Sun., 1-5pm. Now Fri. till 9pm. Contact: 704/337-2000 or at (www.mintmuseum.org).

Overcash Art Gallery, Central Piedmont Community College, Central Campus, Overcash Performing Arts Center, Elizabeth Avenue and Kings Dr., Charlotte. Aug. 10 - Oct. 2 - "The Faculty Art Show". This group show features Central Piedmont's talented art staff and is curated by Amelia Zytka. The exhibition incorporates artwork from multiple disciplines, including drawing, painting, photography and ceramics. While the college's art instructors excel at helping students succeed in their budding art careers, many of them are accomplished artists as well. This exhibition not only gives Central Piedmont's Overcash Art Gallery an opportunity to display faculty work, but also affords students the chance to see their instructors' artwork in a gallery setting. This show is a must-see for anyone on campus and provides an enjoyable diversion. Central Piedmont's Overcash Art Gallery is enthusiastic about the opportunity to kick start the college's fall semester with this exciting, new exhibition. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 10am-2pm. Work by Maggie Fickett

The Center for Visual Artists Greensboro, second floor of the Cultural Arts Center, 200 North Davie St., Greensboro. Now - "Maggie Fickett: Living in Plein Air!" a virtual exhibit. Best known for creating airy watercolors and deft ink sketches, Fickett, a native New Englander, spent more than 35 years preserving Greensboro sights: iconic businesses, churches, college campuses, and other landmarks. She drew and painted wherever she went — the North Carolina coast, the Piedmont, the mountains — as well as Bermuda, a favorite vacation spot; the rocky coast of Maine, her native state; and the architecture-rich streets of Boston, where she first worked as an advertising illustrator. Fickett returned to Maine in 2014, and hundreds of her works were stored in Greensboro for safekeeping. She died at age 89 on March 26, 2020. The Center for Visual Artists will use proceeds from the exhibit to establish a plein air painting class in Fickett's memory. You can view this virtual exhibition at (<https://www.greensboroart.org/maggie-fickett-collection>). Now - View the online gallery at this link (<https://www.greensboroart.org/online-gallery-new>). Ongoing - Featuring works by member artists from throughout the greater Greensboro area. Weatherspoon Art Museum, University of North Carolina - Greensboro, Cone Building, Tate and Spring Garden Streets, Greensboro. Now - Visit the Museum's website to see these virtual exhibits. The Gregory D. Ivy and the Weatherspoon Guild Galleries, Through Aug. 30 - "The Cone Family Legacy". Beginning with the sisters Claribel and Etta Cone's 1950 donation of art, the Cone family has provided crucial support over many years to the Weatherspoon Art Museum. The Leah Louise B. Tannenbaum Gallery, Through Summer 2020 - "Finding Meaning: The Power and Possibility of Abstraction Selections from the Gift of Charles Weintraub and Emily Kass". In one fell swoop the Weatherspoon acquired 45 significant artworks by both regionally and nationally recognized artists this past summer. Gifted by Chapel Hill art patrons and collectors Charles Weintraub and Emily Kass, the largess includes many artists whose works previously were not represented in the museum's collection, such as Native American visual artist and curator Jaune Quick-to-See Smith, recent Art on Paper participant Tanja Softić, and Neoexpressionist artist Susan Rothenberg. The prints, drawings, paintings, and photographs showcased in Finding Meaning exemplify the visual strength and limitless possibilities of abstraction. While the images are not necessarily devoid of narrative content, comprehending themes or subject matter is not central to the works. Some images abstract nature, such as Larry Schwarm's otherworldly photograph of an intense prairie fire, while others rely solely on the seven building blocks of art (line, shape, space, value, form, texture, and color) to construct powerful compositions. The Herbert S. Falk, Sr. Gallery, Through Summer 2020 - "Time, Space, Place, Trace". Humankind has a rich history of trying to understand natural environments through frameworks like time, topography, geology, and documentation. This exhibition brings together artworks from the museum's permanent collection that explore ideas about erosion, entropy, encroachment, and impermanence as well as nature's beauty and magnitude. Emil Lukas's sculpture Time Line under Pear Tree, 1994-96, serves as the exhibition's focal point among documentary, abstract, conceptual, and surrealist artworks. Atrium and Lobbies - Featuring works of art complementing current gallery exhibitions which are rotated in the atrium and public areas throughout both floors of the gallery. Tom Otterness' site-specific work, "The Frieze" is permanently installed in the atrium. Sculpture Courtyard - Featuring selections of American sculpture from 1900 to the present from the Weatherspoon Collection and on loan works from contemporary artists. Admission: Free. Hours: Tue., Wed. & Fri., 10am-5pm, Thur., 10am to 9pm and Sat. & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 336/334-5770 or at (<http://weatherspoon.uncg.edu>).

The Museum of the Southeast American Indian, Old Main (first floor) at the University of North Carolina Pembroke, 1 University Drive, Pembroke. Ongoing - As part of the Southeast American Indian Studies Program at UNC Pembroke, The Museum of the Southeast American Indian maximizes the capacity of the University to address the complex historical, cultural and contemporary issues facing American Indian communities in North Carolina and the American Southeast. The Museum's cross-disciplinary collaborations greatly enhance the University's programs of research, service, outreach and instruction. The Museum is a multi-faceted museum and resource for scholarly research and community outreach. While the Museum contains exhibits of authentic Indian artifacts, arts and crafts from Indian communities all over the Americas, our primary focus is on tribes from the American Southeast. Many items come from North Carolina Native communities, with special emphasis on Robeson County Indian people. Specific focus is placed on the largest North Carolina tribe, the Lumbee, but our outreach activities have extended into Virginia and South Carolina with plans for further outreach throughout the Southeast. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 9am-5pm. We typically close for lunch from noon-1pm. Contact: call 910/521-6282 or e-mail to (nativemuseum@uncp.edu).

Gregg Museum of Art & Design, The Historic Chancellor's Residence, NC State University, located at 1903 Hillsborough Street, Raleigh. The Museum is Closed, Now - Here's a link to virtual tours of exhibits at the Gregg (<https://gregg.arts.ncsu.edu/exhibitions/virtual-tours-at-the-gregg/>). Thomas E. Cabaniss Gallery in the Historic Residence, Through Sept. 6 - "All is Possible: Mary Ann Scherr's Legacy in Metal". With galleries temporarily closed to the public, the Gregg Museum has created a virtual tour of Mary Ann Scherr's All is Possible at (<https://gregg.arts.ncsu.edu/exhibitions/all-is-possible/virtual-tour/>). Descriptions of each display are available by clicking the blue bubbles. Links to online photo galleries are available in the orange bubbles. Once you click on the tour, you'll see an icon on the lower left that links to a highlight reel, and it will guide you through the gallery as it was designed. Enjoy! The exhibition is a tribute to a larger-than-life designer who influenced the metal and design communities for over 6 decades. The exhibition title communicates her zest for life, as well as the many creative possibilities she saw in metal design, leading to a decades-long career in the field. When Scherr (Akron, OH 1921 - Raleigh, NC 2016) moved from New York City to Raleigh in 1989, she was already an internationally renowned designer who had chaired the first Crafts Department at Parsons School of Design in Manhattan, innovated metal-etching techniques, and pioneered jewelry and accessories that also functioned as body monitors. And yet, for the next 30 years, she strived to enrich the arts and life of her new community in North Carolina, where she taught for decades at Penland School of Crafts, Duke University, Meredith College and finally, NC State University Crafts Center. Ongoing - Following its grand reopening on Aug. 26, 2017, one of NC State University's most historic buildings is now the permanent home of the Gregg Museum of Art & Design. The Historic Chancellor's Residence, located at 1903 Hillsborough Street, along with a 15,000 sq. ft. addition, increases the museum's visibility while significantly adding to its exhibition and programming space. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 9am-5pm. Contact: Zoe Starling, Curator of Education at 919/513-7244 or at (<https://gregg.arts.ncsu.edu/>).

Works by Thomas Sayre

North Carolina Museum of Art, 2110 Blue Ridge Road, Raleigh. Now - Check the Museum's website for its virtual offerings. Through Sept. 27 - "Bacchus Conservation Project: The Story of a Sculpture". The Statue of Bacchus, which has undergone extensive research since the 1960s when the North Carolina Museum of Art realized it was a patchwork of marble fragments, returns on view in special exhibition. The exhibition explores the history of the sculpture, the scientific investigation, the conservation process, and the making of its new arm. The exhibition also includes a series of related events, including a free Family Day, a scholarly panel, and a wine-tasting event. NCMA Park - The North Carolina Museum of Art (NCMA) announces new works of art to be installed in the 164-acre NCMA Park. The works include a bronze tree by Italian artist Giuseppe Penone, a playful pair of benches designed by Hank Willis Thomas, and a 10-day installation of 23-foot-tall illuminated rabbits by Australian artist Amanda Parer. The sculptures will be featured at the NCMA's Park Celebration on Nov. 6, when the public is invited to experience the newly expanded Park with a variety of outdoor activities. Ongoing - Featuring 10 additional sculptures by the celebrated French artist Rodin on loan from Iris Cantor's private collection. Ongoing - "John James Audubon's The Birds of America". The state has owned this treasured volume since 1848, but it has never been exhibited. Ongoing - The North Carolina Museum of Art has an outstanding permanent collection of more than 5,000 objects spanning antiquity to the present day. On the occasion of the expansion, the Museum has acquired more than 100 new works of art. Representing commissions, gifts, and purchases, the new works encompass important and diverse examples of historic and contemporary art from around the world, and will be installed in the Museum's new building and the surrounding landscape. Highlights include a gift of 28 sculptures by Auguste Rodin, and work by such internationally acclaimed artists as Roxy Paine, Ursula von Rydingsvard, El Anatsui, Jaume Plensa, Jackie Ferrara, Ellsworth Kelly, and David Park, among others. Work by Jane Allen Nodine

Upstairs Artspace, (Celebrating 40 Years) 49 South Trade Street, Tryon. Through Aug. 7 - "Jane Allen Nodine: Reflections in the Age of Pandemic" and "Still Life: Contemporary Interpretations". Jane Nodine started making art last

March in response to the pandemic when states ordered people to stay home and businesses to close. "It was a way to cope, to express fear of the virus, and eventually, to celebrate the hopes of life and a future," she explains. The achievement of her concentrated effort is amazing -- nearly 30 works. Some paintings depict a layer of shriveled texture that is overtaken by rich colors seeping up and around to drown out the negative. Nodine's message: "We will prevail!" "Still Life" offers expanded interpretations of an art genre that dates back to the Middle Ages, even earlier. Many of the show's artists enjoy turning heads by creating outside the box! They are: Michael Brodeur and Nancy Jaramillo, painting; Jo Carol Mitchell-Rogers, photography; Steven Chapp, monoprint, etching -- all from Greenville; David Yaghjian, painting, Columbia; Ursula Gullow, painting, Asheville; Arden Cone, painting, Tryon. Aug. 15 - Sept. 25 - "Three From Hampton III," featuring works by Glen Miller, Enid Williams, and Paul Yanko; "Business Ties," featuring works by Ryan Roth; and "Barrett Dykes: Pen-and-Ink Drawings". An open house will take place Aug. 15, from 4-7pm. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 1-5pm. Contact: 828-859-2828 or at (www.upstairsartspace.org).

Learns: Modernist Prints from the Louis Belden Collection," is now online. San Francisco art collector Louis Belden gave his art collection, the gift of his lifetime, to the CAM community. Share in his passions for art, for collecting, for learning, and for giving back in part one of this exhibition to go online. These works offer a range of expression, experimentation, and expansion of the terrain of postwar modernism and post-modernism. You can visit the exhibition here at (https://cameronartmuseum.org/index.php?c=the_eye_learns). As Louis fervently believed and practiced, "Art is not stagnant. It grows and grows. To learn, you work at it with your eyes and your mind. And your heart." Join Executive Director Anne Brennan in our next episode of #ConnectwithCAM as she discusses Mel Chin's beautiful work "The Structure of Things Given and Held" on CAM's grounds. Tiffany Glass from the Neustadt Collection

Reynolda House Museum of American Art, Reynolda Road, Winston-Salem. Mary and Charlie Babcock Wing Gallery & View Gallery, Aug. 15 - Nov. 29 - "Tiffany Glass: Painting with Color and Light". The exhibit was organized by the Neustadt Collection of Tiffany Glass in Queens, NY. The first exhibition of its kind at Reynolda, it includes five windows, twenty lamps, and several displays showing how Tiffany glass was manufactured, how his lamps were assembled, and how collectors today can distinguish between authentic lamps and forgeries. As a painter, Louis C. Tiffany was captivated by the interplay of light and color, and this fascination found its most spectacular expression in his glass "paintings." Using new and innovative techniques and materials, Tiffany Studios created leaded-glass windows and lampshades in vibrant colors and richly varied patterns, textures, and opacities. Ongoing - Collection of 18th through 20th century art, sculpture, American art, and pottery. Pink Dog Creative Gallery, 348 Depot Street, in the River Arts District, Asheville. Through 2020 - "In Solidarity," an online exhibition by Pink Dog Creative artists and associated friends, seeks to speak to the violence, fear and grief caused by centuries of injustice to Black people and to celebrate the many contributions made by people of African descent to the culture of this country and the world. At Pink Dog we stand for justice and equity for everyone. We are outraged and saddened by the recent deaths of George Floyd, Ahmaud Arbery and Breonna Taylor and the unnecessary violence against Johnnie Rush in our own city. These names are only the more recent victims in a long history of racism in this country. We believe that artists speak to our times and that art can uplift, enlighten and encourage dialogue. Art can be a vehicle for social change. Up to 100% from the sale of art from this exhibition will go to the following charities whose mission is justice and equity, Black Lives Matter, BeLoved Asheville, and the Equal Justice Initiative. We encourage you to join us in donating to organizations that are working to progress racial equality. Pink Dog Creative will match all donations from sales from this exhibition. Participating artists include: Patti Anastasi, Casimir Bationo, Ralph Burns, Christie Calaycay, Deanna Chilian, Cleaster Cotton, Heather Davis, Holly de Saillon, Andrea Kulish, James Love, Joseph Pearson, Patricia Phillips, Jenny Pickens, Anita Shwartz, Viola Spells, Stephen St. Claire, and Noel Yovovich. The exhibition link is (<http://www.pinkdog-creative.com/in-solidarity>). Hours: Fri. & Sat., 11am-5pm or by chance. Contact: (www.pinkdog-creative.com).

Work by Hoyt Saunders

Valdese

Play It Again Records Building, 150 West Main Street, Valdese. Window Gallery, Through Aug 3 - Featuring works by Byron Jones. Some of his pieces are abstract, and some are "portraits" of well-known musicians, done in pencil, pen-and-ink, or acrylics. His latest interest is in pointillism, a process of making a picture using thousands of tiny dots of ink. Aug. 7 - 31 - Featuring Hoyt Saunders; metal sculpture and Scott Dergins; pen and ink drawings. Celebrating 5 years as a Sidewalk Gallery. Dergins is a professional freelance furniture designer in Morganton. Graduated from Ferris State University in Architectural design and Kendall College of Art & Design, Grand Rapids MI. "My artwork has been shown in galleries and shows as well as on various internet sites I love to draw abstract art, especially abstracts taken from architectural studies of different materials along with natural form and texture borrowed from our earth. Expression of shape and form creates a blend of solid line, sometimes crossing a rigid point and intersecting with circles. Expressive colors are sometimes added to the design." Hoyt Saunders, a native of North Carolina, attended The School of Visual Arts in NYC. His career spans 40 years in all aspects of advertising, corporate identity, public relations and marketing. Since retirement, Saunders has remained active in the creative arts-painting, videography, graphic design and sculpture. he believes the function of art is to maintain the soul of mankind and thus remain unrecognizable to the maw of the machine. Each sculpture varies in height and width, made of welded steel with other elements such as brass rod. They are cleaned and finished with matt black lacquer or natural lacquer surfaces. All are signed and complete with steel bases. Hours: 24/7. Contact: David Mench by e-mail at (Wagglestone@yahoo.com).
